

CLEAR SAILING — Eight teen-aged boys from the San Mateo County Probation Department's Boys' Day Program in Daly City "rescued" a sailboat that had been cast adrift by vandals at Princeton Harbor earlier this month while the regular crew was ashore. The boat had grounded and was threatened with breaking up when the boys came along. After some strenuous work they managed to refloat the 2,000-pound craft. As reward, the boys were invited to go on a sailing trip to Santa Cruz by the grateful skipper.

Rowe 'Frustrated'

Firehouse, Plunge Matters Cause Council Unhappiness

Construction of two facilities that operate mainly with water took up most of the City Council's time in Daly City Monday.

Both matters were not happily received by the four councilmen attending the public study session.

The first had to do with the "turn key" firehouse being built in the Serramonte area.

City Manager David Rowe said he was not happy over the building that was supposed to be ready for use last month. The cost of the structure is some $210,000 and is being constructed by James Marsh Co. of San Carlos, according to Rowe.

Rowe acknowledged that he was "frustrated" over the slowness in which the company is correcting what he called "certain deficiencies" in the fire station.

He called the workmanship "poor quality" and said the city had already notified the bonding company that unless corrective steps are taken soon they would insist the bonding company resolve the matters.

Asked what sort of "poor workmanship" was involved in the dispute, Rowe cited two examples: push-button type call

A Scaled-Down D.C. Redevelopment Plan

If the Daly City Redevelopment Agency's action in approving a proposed budget for 1973-74 Monday can be used as a directional guide, then the city will undertake a redevelopment program in the coming fiscal year.

The city's five member planning commission is now considering the redevelopment matter and if they reject it city manager David Rowe has stated the proposal will die.

But observers think a scaled-down redevelopment area adjacent to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) on Knowles Avenue will be approved, perhaps in early July, by planning commissioners at the request of planning chief John Walker.

Rowe, acting as executive director of the Redevelopment Agency Monday, included in his budget the position of assistant planner — a full time job — at an annual salary of $18,000.

There were breakdowns of other agency costs, such as travel and meetings ($2,000) and planning services ($25,000).

Total budget approved was for $112,755. Of this figure only $33,000 was for "new" city money, with the balance having been accrued over the past two years.

In 1971-72 the city "loaned" the Agency $70,000.

The Agency spent only $27,244.

Daly City, in 1972-73, loaned the Agency $105,010, but only $66,745 was needed to operate.

Rowe estimated his unexpended balance at the end of this month would be $81,021.

Federal Funds Accepted For Police Study in SSF

Federal grants for studies of consolidation of police services and for an administrative study of its department were accepted officially by the South San Francisco City Council last night.

The consolidation study would look into the possibilities of "reducing police costs" in the cities of South San Francisco, Daly City, San Bruno and Pacifica. Police Chief Sal Rosano told the council.

The first year grant would be $66,000, with South San Francisco to put up $1300 as its share of ten per cent "good faith money," Rosano added.

JESD Campaign Violations Issue Remains Unresolved

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Charges of misuse of school property in the recent Jefferson Elementary School Board elections held last April are reverberating throughout Daly City.

Cause of many of the charges leveled against as yet unknowns within the city is District Attorney Keith Sorenson's conclusion that someone used a typewriter located in the district offices for typing "profiles" and "friend letters" for three candidates in the election. James Cranna, Albert Collett and Mrs. Carole (Jeanne) Kennaugh.

Sorenson told The Post that his investigation determined that a typewriter in the office of Marie Brizzuela, secretary to the Personnel Commission, had been used to type three letters sent to Daly City voters by the Friends of Daly City-Colma Schools. Background material on each of the three elementary school district candidates in addition to County School Board candidate Elio Fontana and Jefferson Union High School District candidates Jane Powell, John H. Sloane and Edward Solomon also had been typed on this machine, he said.

Biggest support, however, was thrown by the "Friends" toward Kennaugh, Collett and Cranna.

Only Cranna was re-elected in the JESD race.

Who used the equipment or if school district material was used, as has been suggested by successful candidates Dorothy Adams and David Parker, is still not known, Sorenson said. He said his office is continuing its investigation into the matter, inasmuch as use of school equipment in election campaigns is a violation of the State Education Code.

The typewritten material, printer-ready, was taken by an election worker to Printers West Litho, 6656 Mission St., Daly City, where 5,000 "profiles" and 2,000 each of the letters were run off.

Cost of the 11,000 copies was $134.10, according to the print shop owner.

The letters were mailed to homes in the Daly City area on three occasions, and postage was estimated by "Friends" treasurer Frank Loretta at $400.

In a letter dated April 2, 1973 to Mrs. Adams to DA Sorenson, about two weeks before the election, it was pointed out to the county's top prosecutor that a formal investigation of misuse of school equipment was being sought.

She charged that the campaign letters were written "on the same typewriter used by

Marie Brizzuela, secretary to the Personnel Commission and Mr. David Pia. The typewritten legal size text was then reduced to fit 8½ x 11 paper."

"It is not known if the district's machine was used for the reduction. However, there is such a machine in the district office," she said.

Sorenson's investigation bore out this fact, he said.

But when, or by whom, the typewriter was used remains a mystery.

Redwood Chief Is Sheriff

By BOB HEMINGWAY

John R. McDonald Jr., Redwood City police chief for the past four years, Tuesday was named San Mateo County sheriff by the Board of Supervisors.

McDonald, 42, said he "definitely" will run for election to a four-year term in the June 1974 primary.

County Board Chairman Robert St. Clair announced McDonald's appointment to succeed Earl B. Whitmore at a press conference yesterday in Redwood City.

Whitmore has announced his retirement as of July 1 to become general manager of Kon-Tiki Harbor Inn at Clear Lake.

St. Clair said it has not been determined when McDonald will be able to assume the $28,896-a-year post, since he has some commitments remaining with the Redwood City Police Department.

The remainder of Whitmore's term extends until January 1, 1975.

St. Clair said that McDonald was selected from among six finalists who applied for the position and that it was a "very difficult decision."

"We had some very qualified individuals," the chairman said, "and we feel we made a wise choice."

St. Clair stated that McDonald's qualifications, the way he presented himself in an oral interview, and the "outstanding he has done in Redwood City" influenced the board's decision.

As construction costs rose sharply, Chapman said he was forced to add to this original figure. The proposed costs jumped to some $700,000.

However, when the pool went to bid last month it was found the lowest bid was more than the highest bid.

Miss Ducin called for new administrative leadership in the JESD. She said Greenwood's resignation is a "vital necessity."

She said the JESD is an "educational disaster area" and that Greenwood's entire tenure has "paralyzed the district."

The JESD has been under teacher association sanction since 1971. It is one of about seven areas sanctioned in the state.

A sanction is called against our school system back to where it ought to be."

It was the new JESD president's first public statement dealing with conditions within the school district. It laid the groundwork for what promised to be a tougher stand on the part of district teachers toward the administration.

Miss Ducin expressed hope that the new makeup of the school board to be seated July 1 ready to assist in any way it can to insure that we get the best."

Miss Ducin said, adding, "New administrative leadership will go a long way toward bringing programs for the children."

Ouster Demanded

JCTA Rips Greenwood

The incoming president of the 250-member Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association in Daly City today asked for the ouster of Supt. Frank Greenwood of the Jefferson Elementary School District on the grounds of alleged "atrocities against district teachers."

Lynn Ducin, who replaced Jim Cannon as head of the organization, demanded Greenwood's immediate resignation, asserting he is responsible for "the evident lack of innovative leadership," which has resulted in the "lowest level ever of teacher morale."

The newly elected president said there has been a mass exodus of capable and experienced teachers from the district, which serves Daly City and Colma, in the past six years.

This has led to what Miss Ducin called "educational mediocrity" within the district.

She said the JESD is an "educational disaster area" and that Greenwood's entire tenure has "paralyzed the district."

The JESD has been under teacher association sanction since 1971. It is one of about seven areas sanctioned in the state.

South San Francisco City Council when the teachers' association believes that the district's teaching atmosphere has become intolerable.

Miss Ducin called for new administrative leadership in the JESD. She said Greenwood's resignation is a "vital necessity."

Daly City deserves the best and the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association stands ready to assist in any way it can to insure that we get the best."

Miss Ducin said, adding, "New administrative leadership will go a long way toward bringing programs for the children."

Fingers were crossed at the campaign worker in the past, told the council he had talked to Gregorio in Sacramento on the city hall public phone during the break and had been told it would be "extremely difficult if not impossible" to get the bill to the Senate floor without unanimous council endorsement.

He had told his Senate colleagues earlier he had full support at home and at the time he thought he did. Polzoni said Gregorio told him.

That did it. Mammini had claimed earlier that pushing for bigger shares of the costs might tempt them to withdraw completely and leave South San Francisco.

The final vote was 4-1, with Councilman William A. Borba voting no and standing firm under a verbal blistering by Councilman Frank Mammini and City Manager Gale Dreisbach.

Argument went on for nearly two hours last night over a resolution of support for Gregorio's Senate Bill 500, which would allow the Colma Creek Flood Control District to increase its tax rate to help pay the $5.4 million cost of Colma Creek improvements which would end the yearly winter floods that plague South San Francisco.

Turning and pointing to Borba, he said, "If this bill doesn't go and we lose Colma Creek, I certainly hope it isn't because of your attitude tonight ... I'd hate to be in your shoes."

Borba snapped back that he had talked to Gregorio on the (Please See Page 2, Column 8)

Audit Report Today

The long-awaited State Finance Department audit report of the Jefferson Elementary School District will be bared for the first time tonight at a public meeting inside the council chambers, City Hall, 90th and Sullivan Ave., Daly City, starting at 8 p.m.

In an addendum to the published agenda, JESD chairman Albert Collett notified the Board of Trustees of the appearance of a representative from the Department of Finance who will present the audit.

There had been no public hearings on this and the present formula, which has South San Francisco paying 66.2 per cent of the total and Daly City, Colma, Pacifica and San Bruno the rest within the district, is wrong, Borba insisted.

He also criticized the rate increases, which he said he had found could be from six to 48 cents per $100 assessed valuation, depending upon which zone one resided in.

After the vote, a recess and long discussion of a following agenda item, the 10-year-old controversy suddenly continued.

Robert Polzoni, a Gregorio cam-

$200,000 over anticipated costs. Haines, Tatarian design, council and school district officials were flabbergasted to learn construction costs were almost double (some $1.2 million) estimates. Chapman, in his outline to the council, pointed out his over-budget figures "are at least $400,000 lower than the first time around."

Hopefully, Chapman said, the pool can be built within the revised budget "this time around."

Items penciled out of the new plans include: fewer underwater lights (from 22 to eight), deletion of staff locker rooms, one janitors' closet, certain tile finishes, special acoustic materials, modification of a surge tank, deletion of skylights, reduction in the number of public and student lockers, omission of planter boxes outside, an overhead concrete ramp, and redesign of exterior paneling.

"I can't picture what is coming out here," Lycett said after hearing Chapman's outline of the revisions.

Many of the items in the original plans were superfluous, according to Chapman.

Three councilmen — Bernard Lycett, Victor Kyriakis and McRobert Stewart — balked at the idea of cutting out the hydrotherapy pool.

The consensus among the three officials was that senior citizens would make good use of the special pool.

The added cost of some $15,000 for the pool was "well worth it," Kyriakis said.

Stewart said he would not favor the pool unless the hydrotherapy baths were included in the structure.

Original architect on the Westmoor pool was the firm of Haines, Tatarian and Co.

phone Saturday and said that wasn't the same impression he got. "I still feel the same," he said.

Borba said in a letter to Gregorio last week he prefers a cost formula which would assess more to areas contributing to rain runoffs into Colma Creek, including 45 per cent from San Mateo County and Daly City, 35 per cent from South San Francisco, 11.8 per cent from San Bruno and 5 per cent from Colma.

Presently the ratio is 33-2-1 with South San Francisco paying the lion's share.

If the senator loses this one with 4-1 support, he has problems," Councilman Patrick E. Ahern interjected while trying to get the debate over with.

Borba's adamancy was demonstrated later, however, in the last two of a nine-point list of items he wanted studied by the latter two acted on last night.

One would have been an emergency ordinance "which precludes growth and development on land situated within or affecting the area of special flood hazard..."

The other would be to file suit in Superior Court "to enjoin the growth and development of lands located in adjacent cities, where said lands would augment the general flood problem in the Colma Basin and . . . South San Francisco."

The list was presented just last night and the council put it over to a study meeting for further discussion over Borba's objections that the suit should begin immediately or "you're going to wind up paying through the nose for this project."

"We will anyway," Ahern retorted.

The other seven items on Borba's list:

Re-establish "council's authority over department heads" and sanction "all leaves outside the immediate area";

Restore division heads to department head status (the city has several lumped under a new Department of Ecological Development, for instance);

Remove all billets (jobs) created in the past year if four or five, which don't serve a useful purpose, he stated;

Establish a seven-member public safety commission;

Appoint the city attorney or city clerk as city manager problem, (to act when the city manager is away); and

Caulley's Creative Litho Service, 5955 Mission St., Daly City; and Printers West Litho.

The owners of Caulley's said they printed 8,200 postcards for the "Friends" at a cost of $100. At the time, they had not sent out the bill, the owners said.

The COGS organization, biggest bill paid by the Friends, specializes in outdoor advertising for candidates. They mounted a saturation campaign through the district for Kenneth Cranna and Collett.

It was understood that they did not assist Fontana, Sloane, Solomon or Mrs. Powell in this outdoor advertising phase of the campaign.

Three of the candidates contacted — Powell, Fontana and Solomon — said the Friends limited their help to them during the April election drive to moral and letter support, not to actual cash outlay or placement of signs.

Treasurer Loretta, who said he never saw or spoke to the chairman of the Friends group, George Thompson, listed total income in a lump sum without publicizing how much each donor gave.

There were likewise no "anonymous" contributions, according to Loretta's statement filed with the County Clerk.

"I didn't know half of the people on the committee," Loretta said. "They asked me to keep the books. I had helped Jim (Cranna) last year and when he asked I couldn't refuse."

There were a "lot of funds that did not get into my hands," Loretta said.

This was excused because "some (helpers) put stamps (on envelopes) themselves," she said.

Sometimes Loretta found anonymous donations in his mail box, he said. However, according to the campaign statement, no such contributions were received.

And the Friends treasurer said in many instances the loose-knit organization did not bring him receipts for monies expended.

Loretta said he did a lot of "estimating."

For an example, the difference between what the group paid Litho West and Caulley's and the remaining expenditures is estimated.

On one occasion, Loretta said, David Pia, director of classified personnel for the JESD, asked for funds to pay 16 local high school students for working two days (shortly before the election) to distribute multi-colored brochures of Cranna, Kennaugh and Collett throughout Daly City.

The youth, all from Westmoor, had asked that their names not be published. However, those who The Post did talk to said they had worked two days at $10 a day.

The students said they were driven to various locations in the city, four to a car, by the candidates and their workers. Each household was given three brochures — one for each candidate in the JESD race.

Later, the canvassers were treated to lunch and paid "by a man in a white Volkswagen," Loretta said. Pia visited him on one occasion and asked for money to pay the students — $260.

"I gave him $30 and said that was all that was left. He answered, 'Well, the money will have to come from somewhere, and he left,'" Loretta recalled.

Another question remains unanswered, the printing of the thousands of copies of the multi-colored (red and blue) brochures.

Loretta has no idea who printed them.

Likewise committee member Joseph Lewkowitz, Caulley's Printing and Litho West.

Pia has refused on two occasions to discuss the matter with newsmen, noting on Friday, June 8 at 1:25 p.m. that his attorney had "advised me not to speak to you on any matters."

David Parker and Dorothy Adams filed the same forms as did the Friends organization.

According to their form, the two-some, which managed to grab off a majority of the votes, spent $2,000, some of it their own money.

In the Parker-Adams race there were actually four forms filed with the County: A Mrs. Maxine Abe filed on behalf of Parker; Mrs. Beverly Forrester filed on behalf of Adams; and Adams and Parker each filed.

Candidates filing so-called "short forms," having spent less than $200 for their campaigns under existing law, were Mrs. Powell (JUHSD), Kennaugh, Cranna, Collett, Fontana.

Solomon filed a long form listing expenditures of $305, while Sloane filed a similar form noting he spent $286.85 to get re-elected.

be matched in the next two years also and would pay for a study into research methodology.

A research methodologist would be contracted with for the study. One goal could be to relieve sworn police officers of some of the paperwork load and give it to "civilians," Rosano said.

The council also told City Manager Gale Dreisbach to report in 45 days on cost savings if a new central fire station were to be built now, combined with the police consolidation.

Dreisbach had asked for a study for a new station, saying the Fire Department wants to sell its old main station and Buri Buri station.

Mt. Bruno and the Brisbane Recall Bid

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The "official" reason for Ronald R. Colonna's current campaign to oust Brisbane City Councilmen Jess Salmon, William Lawrence and Julius Stern has nothing to do with that planned huge development on San Bruno Mountain by the Foremost McKesson-AMPAC venture team.

At least on the surface of the issue the mountain development has not come into play.

But Colonna, who feels the targets of his recall petition have sold the people of the ing Daly City, would more than welcome. This park, along with planned development of the Southern Pacific Railroad area, and what is known as "Brisbane Industrial Park," can be a tremendous source of tax revenues.

In their petition, the recall group slapped the three councilmen for everything from the appointment of James "Red" Williams to fill an unexpired term on the council, to accepting campaign contributions from the Pacific Cement & Aggregates Co., which quarries rock just outside the city.

The city and PCA exchanged barbs a few years ago when Brisbane declared its streets off-limits to PCA's gravel trucks as a danger to the citizens, not to mention the heavy vehicles were allegedly tearing up the streets.

Lawrence, Stern and Salmon were on the council that voted to accept a new agreement with PCA that, for the first time, saw PCA put some $130,000 a year into the city coffers to be used in the general fund for fixing up streets.

Apparently PCA felt it would be easier to enter into this financial arrangement than to deface their trucks through the city.

Lawrence answered the citizen's petition on Jan. 17, 1973 against the trio. LAFCO had not as yet determined to which city the mountain would go.

Lawrence, in his answer to the petition, called it a political ploy designed to "greatly harm the city by influencing LAFCO to vote against us."

"I am opposed to those efforts to give the mountain to another city which will raise taxes and endanger our environment."

Wednesday, June 20, 1973 THE POST -3

"Do you think they would have appointed me if I were the runner-up and they (Colonna's group) were in power?" Salmon asks. "Not on your life!"

Why doesn't Colonna want the mountain included in the community?

"We like the small town atmosphere as it now exists in Brisbane. This is why many of us have moved here. We want to preserve this town, this nice quiet town, in the midst of urban pollution," he said.

Colonna predicted his group will win in their recall bid. "Perhaps not against all three of them, but we think there is a good chance we will have some results."

Tarshes Urges No North County Jail

County Manager M. D. Tarshes has informed the Board of Supervisors that he cannot recommend construction of a North County jail because it would not be economically feasible.

In a two-page report summarizing his findings and recommendation, Tarshes states that a 25-bed jail would be required and that it would result in a net additional cost of $233,000 a year, including amortized construction costs.

The cost to the county of operating a second jail is relatively high because of the duplication of many centralized services, such as laundry, food, transportation, recreation, security, staffing and medical care, the manager reported.

Officials of the six North County cities had proposed a central jail facility as a means of cutting costs of transporting prisoners to the main jail in Redwood City.

An analysis prepared by the North County Council of Cities shows that it costs North County cities some $57,000 a year in prisoner transportation costs.

Tarshes says not all of this cost would be saved if the county provided a North County jail, estimating that transportation costs would still approximate $28,000 a year.

The county manager states he agrees with the North County cities that jail system costs should be examined to determine whether there are potential savings. He suggests that the cities might be able to realize "substantial savings" by consolidating city jail operations at one of the existing facilities and integrating the booking and court the sheriff's system.

Tarshes notes that the jurisdictions of Brisbane, Colma, Pacifica, San Bruno and South San Francisco account for about 25 per cent of all arrests in the county, but only about 9 per cent of all direct bookings into the main jail.

This, Tarshes says, reflects the practice of Daly City, South San Francisco and, occasionally, Pacifica to hold prisoners overnight for arraignment in the Northern District Municipal Court on the next court day.

The manager said a survey of 14 other urban counties in California, excluding Los Angeles, show only four operating booking and holding facilities outside of the main jail complex. Distances from the main jail range from 13 miles in Santa Clara County to 190 miles in San Bernardino County.

News Analysis

small bayside community down the river to large outside interests, claims the mountain development is "another example of not having the people's interest at heart."

Councilman Lawrence, a post office employee in his city, disagrees.

He says every decision he has ever made has been for the good of the city—and that includes pushing to annex the vast 3,600-acre Crocker Lands atop the mountain.

Earlier this year, after months of public hearings on the matter, the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) placed the mountain in Brisbane's "sphere of influence." The mountain would, however, stay unincorporated for planning purposes and at a predetermined time would be turned over to Brisbane, it was agreed.

Colonna regards this as poor judgment on the part of the council.

"They could have moved just for annexation of the industrial park and not the whole mountain," Colonna said.

The Crocker Industrial Park lying adjacent to Brisbane on the eastern slopes of the mountain is a plum any city, includ-

Pacifica Bids to End 5 Assessment Districts

In the face of protests from two opposing groups, Pacifica city councilmen voted to abandon proceedings on formation of an assessment district to improve five different stretches of street.

The district was part of a program to cut down on Pacifica's 14 miles of unpaved streets.

Councilmen acted upon the recommendation of City Manager David Thompson because the low bid on the project, from Fisk, Firenze & McLean came to $101,993 — a full $28,193 above the engineer's estimate.

The only other bid was from Fontana and Sons of $156,000.

Streets involved were sections of Paloma, Montecito, Verona and Stanley avenues, and Moana Way.

Councilmen signified their intention to revive the proceedings this August when Thompson felt contractors would be "a little hungrier."

Speaking in protest was Mary Stewart, 385 Verona Ave., who claimed her Vallejo street was gerrymandered into the district, without the homeowners being notified. In spite of the fact that three out of the five owners on the street did not want their street paved, they were unable to get out because they were out-voted by those on other streets.

Mary Aubrey Lumley assured her that they did not want to shave paved streets down anyone's throat and that next time around, her street would be left out if it were shown that most of the owners were opposed.

Thompson asserted that everyone on the street was notified.

Also objecting the county's action was Emory Lebonville, president of the Sharp Park Improvement Club, who urged the council to throw the bids out and rebid the job. A delay in the district, he feared, would result in being caught up by steadily rising prices of construction.

He also expressed fear that Sharp Park homeowners, having gone around three or four times getting petitions and holding meetings to improve their streets would get discouraged.

He urged leaving Verona Avenue out if the owners did not want in, since there were two more streets in Sharp Park "ready to go."

Councilman Stan Farber noted that Verona owners had come to the city in the past for aid in flooding. The street paving would take care of drainage.

"We spent thousands of dollars scraping up that street," he said. "If you don't want the street fixed, we don't want to do it, but don't come to us for drainage problems either."

A Pacifica man suffered second and third degree burns of the face and hands on Friday morning when a pressurized fuel tank on his boat caught fire and exploded inside a garage at 1152 Linda Mar Blvd.

Injured in the explosion was Wayne Gillimore, a resident of the Linda Mar home.

Gillimore was attempting to refuel his boat before leaving on vacation, fire officials said, and spilled gasoline was touched off by a nearby water heater.

Gillimore was able to tear off his flaming shirt and put out the fire before firemen arrived, according to reports.

He was taken to Mary's Help Hospital for treatment.

There was no damage to the boat or structure.

Tossed Brick At Wrong Apt.

When police arrived at 10 p.m. June 13, the 29-year-old San Bruno man was standing in the kitchen of the Crestmoor Drive apartment. A blood-soaked washcloth was wrapped around his right middle finger.

He denied tossing a brick through a sliding glass door to gain entrance. He insisted he had entered with the use of a key. He told police he had cut his finger picking up broken glass.

"I live here on Crestmoor Drive," the man told the police and gave them the name of his roommate.

According to the police, the television set was on, food had been taken from the refrigerator — but nothing was missing from the apartment.

Police arrested him and charged him with burglary, until they had a chance to check out the story. He also received treatment for cuts at Peninsula Hospital.

Subsequent investigation revealed that the man does live on Crestmoor Drive, with the roommate he identified, although not at the apartment he was found in.

It appeared, said the police, who said there was "an odor of an alcoholic beverage about his breath and person," that the man "made himself at home."

Police Warning on Mail

Daly City Police Capt. Richard Sims issued a warning today concerning solicitations by mail for funds from a Florida-based organization calling itself the National Police Officers Association.

They are asking for $3, $5, $10, $25, $50, $100, and $500 contributions during their drive.

According to Sims, the group is under investigation by Florida authorities.

Colma Creek Anti-Flood Plan OK'd

There will be no significant adverse environmental impact in the improvement of Colma Creek to prevent flooding of the stream during high water periods in the Colma area.

The San Mateo County Planning Commission accepted the environmental impact report containing that information Wednesday.

A report from the office of County Engineer S. H. Cantwell Jr. states that the proposed flood control work on some 1500 feet along the creek within the Garden Valley area of Daly City is designed to alleviate flooding in the area and to prevent flooding of El Camino Real in the vicinity.

According to Cantwell's report, the project is an integral part of a flood control system for Colma Creek.

A proposed program for the entire length of the creek is being prepared by Cantwell's office, with permission to impose an area-wide assessment tax presently being sought before the State Legislature.

D.C. Man Takes Life

A Daly City man, apparently despondent over marital problems, was found hanging from a pipe in a garage at 214 Crocker Ave. by his father Thursday about 2:30 p.m.

Edward J. Lawless, Jr. was dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital.

He had looped an electrical extension cord over a bathroom pipe in the garage, stood on a chair and kicked the chair away, a coroner's office spokesman said.

Lawless had been despondent over problems affecting his marriage, according to report. Police are trying to locate his wife, Millie (sometimes called Myrtle), of San Francisco.

Millbrae Approves $4,595,275 Budget

The Millbrae School District Board of Education, at its June 11 meeting, gave tentative approval to a proposed budget of $4,595,275. Final figures have not yet been received from the county, and modifications may become necessary.

Certified employees had requested a 6.35% per cent salary

4.5 per cent bonus for those holding a Master's Degree; increased fringe benefits, for a total 8.66 per cent, in addition to three cost of living adjustments, totalling 3.24 per cent. This, added to the current increment increases of 3.16 per cent, makes the total cost of their proposal 15.06 per cent.

They were again represented by teacher Wade Pierce. He told the board that the Certified Employee Council did not feel that their offer of a 2 per cent salary raise, and an additional $5 per month in fringe benefits case education for the seventh and eighth graders at Taylor Intermediate School was given approval. Content and materials for the course will be made available to parents for review, and they will be requested to grant signed permission for their children to attend this class, as they do for sex education.

A restructured primary education program is now in effect in several schools, similar to that suggested by the State Board of Education for grades kindergarten through third. $25 million in state funds have been set aside for it this year, a figure which is slated to rise to $40 million in two years. The board agreed with Supt. Edward J. Muehlhausen's suggestion that the district outline its present work with students to county and education officials, requesting comments on the work currently being done with these children.

Muzzi was seeking to redivide the property into four lots. However, the planning staff contended, and was upheld on an appeal to the commission, that the proposed rezoning does not comply with the county open space and subdivision plans.

Coast Land Division Plan Denial Upheld

The San Mateo County Planning Commission has upheld a staff decision in denying the County Property Director Robert Fridav's finding that acquisition of a 16-acre site the county hopes to acquire for a beachfront park.

Acquisition of the property, on the ocean just south of Pigeon Point near the Santa Cruz County line, has been given top priority by the County Parks and Recreation Commission.

However, restrictions of Senate Bill 90, which currently is pending, imposition of up to 10 cents in a special park and open space tax approved by county voters last year, places a question mark on just how soon the property can be acquired.

Muzzi was seeking to redivide the property into four lots. However, the planning staff contended, and was upheld on an appeal to the commission, that the proposed rezoning does not comply with the county open space and subdivision plans.

In a related action, the commission accepted a report from application of Domenic Muzzi for resubdivision of a 16-acre site the county hopes to acquire for a beachfront park.

Help Needed to Save SSF, Bruno Summer Program

An appeal was issued this week to business and industrial firms in San Bruno and South San Francisco to aid a floundering program of providing summer jobs for low-income youths residing in the two cities.

The Summer Youth Employment Program is being carried on by the South San Francisco-San Bruno Information and Referral Center, with some help from the City of South San Francisco and the South San Francisco Unified School District.

"We believe that constructive summer employment of our youth in the 14 to 18-year age bracket represents a substantial savings to the community," says Luis Ortiz, chairman of the Information and Referral Center Board of Directors. "Youngsters who are actively involved in the community stay out of trouble."

At least $7,500 more is needed immediately to place 30 more students who have applied for summer placement, according to Gary Witschi, work experience education coordinator for the school district.

The seven-week summer youth employment program runs June 25 to Aug. 10, at a cost of less than $250 per student.

Last year, the summer job program also helped local public agencies as youths worked as teacher, library, pre-school recreation, and gardening aides.

Harvey Howe Dies in D.C.

The father of Daly City Personnel Commissioner James Howe, Harvey Howe Sr., died at his home Thursday night.

He was found dead at the home of his son at 102 Dennis Drive when James came home about 9:15 p.m.

The deceased was a retired printer with the San Francisco Examiner and reportedly was in his 80s.

Death was from natural causes, a coroner's office spokesman said.

James Howe is an official with Pacific Telephone Co. in Daly City. Funeral arrangements are pending.

San Bruno Postmaster Backs Staff

By BOB PETERSON

Latest in the myriad of actions associated with the San Bruno referendum issue concerning recent approval of two 13-story office buildings in the Bayhill development is a letter written by Postmaster Don Risso.

Risso said the intent of the letter was "to absolve my people. I don't want my integrity or their integrity questioned," he said. "We did not do anything wrong."

The gist of the letter was that Risso felt that remarks made at the June 11 City Council meeting, and in a June 13 newspaper story, relative to an anti-referendum petition mailer reflected "not only upon the integrity of postal employee Dick Griffith but upon the integrity of my surveillance of mail matter entrusted to my custody."

At that council meeting, the city officials voted to file an official complaint with postal authorities, asking that an investigation be made of the circumstances surrounding use of the city clerk's office as a return address for the mailer.

Such use was said by a U.S. Postal Service attorney to be a violation of postal regulations.

During the meeting, which was at times emotionally explosive, Councilman George Corey pointed out that he had been told (as it later turned out, by Councilman Tony Governale) that Griffith had read one of the mailers before it was sent. He suggested that if there were any postal irregularities it might be through Griffith's early access to the mail.

Griffith responded by saying that any postal employee may pick up mail addressed to him, with the permission of his supervisor.

This response was confirmed as valid by Risso, whose letter quoted postal regulations pertaining to an employee's right to his mail. "Postal employees, including myself, regularly accept their mail in advance of delivery," said the letter.

Also during the council meeting, Governale, who also was mentioned in Risso's letter, told of a conversation with Risso about "the rumor" that Griffith had early access to the mailer, and took it to the press.

He explained, and Risso confirmed, that he had asked the postmaster whether Griffith had received the postmaster's permission to obtain his mail early.

At that time, according to Risso, Governale was told "no" because Griffith had not asked Risso's permission, and at that time Risso didn't know that Griffith had obtained permission from his supervisor. Once he found this to be so, he contacted Governale and told the councilman, which Governale confirms.

And somewhere in the rhetoric of the council meeting, the exact process of what happened was lost.

Governale says that the only point he was really trying to make was that "if Griffith was so concerned about ethics and illegalities" he should have taken the mailer to his superior's rather than contacting the press.

"He in fact used his privilege of being a postal employee for political purposes," charged Governale.

A third individual mentioned in Risso's letter was Larry Mobley, who, acting as secretary of the anti-petition group, purchased the return postal permit for the mailer.

Millbrae Police Sgt. Ronald Caine identified the victim as Ray Mitchell Williams, 19, son of Richard Williams, 35, San Felipe Ave., South San Francisco.

Williams was southbound on El Camino Real at about 3:30 a.m. when his car went off the roadway and hit a steel reinforced support pole near the Safeway store.

Risso's response in the letter to these remarks attributed to Mobley: "Although Mr. Mobley and I are associated in Chamber of Commerce activity, I have at no time encouraged him in his reckless statements to the press directed against San Bruno postal employees."

Informed of the letter and its contents, Mobley said basically the same thing as Governale.

"If Mr. Griffith was acting in a responsible manner, he should have reported any irregularities to his supervisor, rather than

"There was no evidence at the accident but moments later a passing police officer noticed the car and thought it was parked in an odd position."

There was no evidence at the scene that the driver tried in any way to avoid a collision," said Sgt. Caine. "It is the opinion of the investigating officer that Williams fell asleep." He was pronounced dead at Peninsula Hospital.

Trustee John Dillon questioned the need for opening Skyline rather than transporting students to another school, but Associate Superintendent Joseph Smith said it would cost only about $250 less for the summer to bus students to Monte Verde School than to use Skyline.

Unable to reach a decision about administrators' salaries for the 1973-74 fiscal year, the board put it over to June 19 to try again.

$25 Appeal Charge

A motion to charge $25 to anyone who wants to appeal a ruling from the Pacifica Planning Commission was tabled at last week's City Council meeting.

Nevertheless, the motion resulted in a severe criticism from a citizen who has made numerous such appeals herself.

As a result of the motion, the city must now recover

every cost possible for all its services. He added that reason-

ous requests.

He was backed by Lester H.

Clark, director of Community Development, who said that such appeals cost from $100 to $150 every time, and by Fred

Howard, president of the Fair-

most Subdivisions Improvement

Assn.

The motion was made upon recommendation of City Manager David Thompson, who noted that with the enactment of SB

90, the city must now recover

every cost possible for all its

services. He added that reason-

ous requests.

However, Councilman Harlan

Minschew expressed fear that there may be citizens who oppose a council action and may not have the funds to pay for an appeal.

Don Halverson suggested a process in which hardship cases

Tabled on Coast

could taken an oath that they the market the citizen's right to cannot pay, and be permitted to challenge an action of the council," Minschew declared.

As applause broke out, Farber moved to table the motion, which was done unanimously.

However, Virginia Jaeger of Mina Lane, a former planning commissioner herself, termed the whole thing an attempt at discriminatory legislation. As Mayor Aubrey Lumley protested that it was a dead issue, Mrs. Jaeger declared that "I don't know what the city manager

About the author . . .

John Karras has been riding bicycles and tinkering with them longer than he cares to remember. Each spring he takes his bike completely apart to grease, oil and polish it. The significant point is that he always gets his bike back together.

Last year John wrote the popular series, "Flat Tires Don't Sing," that appeared in over 65 newspapers nationwide.

CANHC Chapter Now Is Official

Children with learning disabilities now have an organization to help them in the North County area. The San Mateo County North Chapter of the California Association for Neurologically Handicapped Children (CANHC) was accepted officially into the statewide organization at its recent convention in Southern California. CANHC (rhymes with panic) advocates social help for these children, including classes for the educationally handicapped, a greater public knowledge and understanding of the problem, and medical study of the causes and symptoms.

The educationally handicapped, according to charter President Arthur Lembeke of South San Francisco, presently are limited to two per cent of school enrollments, a very inadequate number which forces many children onto long waiting lists.

The role of diet in overcoming certain problems, such as those of the hyperkinetic child, is being explored by some well-known medical groups, Lembeke said.

Demos Meet in DC June 21

The regular meeting of the North County Democratic Association will be at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 21 at the Daly City War Memorial Community Center, 6655 Mission Street, Daly City. All interested Democrats have been invited to attend. More information may be had by calling Mrs. George Corey in San Bruno.

TN Writers Win Awards

Terra Nova Journalism Awards banquet was held recently in Burlingame honoring three T.N. journalists. Ron Ruis, Dennis Riewerts and Mary Van Zant, photographer Mike Bourne and creative writing award winners Vicki Camgros, Jeff Simons and Ruth Champneys.

Ruis, Tiger Tales sports editor, won trophies for both best sports story, a satire on the changing attitudes towards athletes, and best editorial, a two-part piece dealing with the TN driver training program.

Miss Riewerts, fall feature editor, was awarded for her story on the possible amphitheater being discussed for Frontierland Park, winning in the best news story category.

Editor in Chief Miss Van Zant won the best feature story award with her story about four black students at TN and how they face racial prejudice.

Bourne was given the special above and beyond award for his extra hours spent in the dark room.

In creative writing, Miss Camgros was honored as most consistently good creative writer as well as tying with Ruth Champneys for the best short story. Jeff Simons won for best poem.

Louanne Heath

As eager as we all are to get away when we first begin to sense that spring has arrived, summer months aren't always the nicest for traveling. Resorts can be seriously overcrowded, the heat can be oppressive — especially for "Bay-Areaphiles" who have learned to cherish the fog as the world's most effective form of air conditioning — and transportation can be a headache when the highways are continuous lines of overheating cars and airport waiting rooms are filled with people waiting for delayed flights or fighting for space when charters are cancelled.

Many people have come to the conclusion that fall is far more pleasant for traveling than spring and summer and, with that in mind, the members of the Fifty Plus club have decided to schedule a proposed trip to the Hawaiian Islands for October.

Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg is taking reservations for a ten-day tour beginning October 11 that will cost members and their guests as little as $499, twin occupancy.

Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president of the club, has been organizing the trip and current plans call for the price to include round trip air fare, flights between the major islands, a day long narrated tour from Hilo to Kona on Hawaii, a tour to the top of Haleakala, Iao Valley and Lahaina on the island of Maui. There will be a tour of Waimea Canyon and the Wailua River to see the fern grotto, a three-hour tour of Honolulu and a circle island tour of Oahu. The group will tour the Polynesian Cultural Center and have dinner and see the entertainment at the center that evening. The trip will conclude with a luau at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel October 21.

Mrs. Calhan asks that anyone interested in making reservations or in obtaining more information about the club and/or the trip should call her at 564-5198 or contact Mrs. Funderburg at 355-2184.

The sound of firecrackers is beginning to become a common part of the scene now that school is out and the Fourth of July is drawing nearer but it still takes a little doing to find a spot to purchase them. All that is about the change! Several booths are beginning to take shape and it won't be long until all sorts of noise makers and pyrotechnics will be available.

Dave Macabee, chairman of the Daly City Rotary Club fireworks booth, has announced that the club will begin that group's annual sale Thursday, June 28 at 10 a.m. The sales booth will be on Alemany Boulevard across from the Westlake Shopping Center. Sales will continue daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. through July 4.

Also on the Rotary's busy June calendar is the installation of new officers. The big night will be June 27 at Nick's Rockaway. Retiring president Les Ritchie will turn over the gavel to incoming president Stan Breier following the dinner party.

Students attending the vacation church school program at Lakeside Presbyterian Church are at work on an open house to be Thursday, June 28.

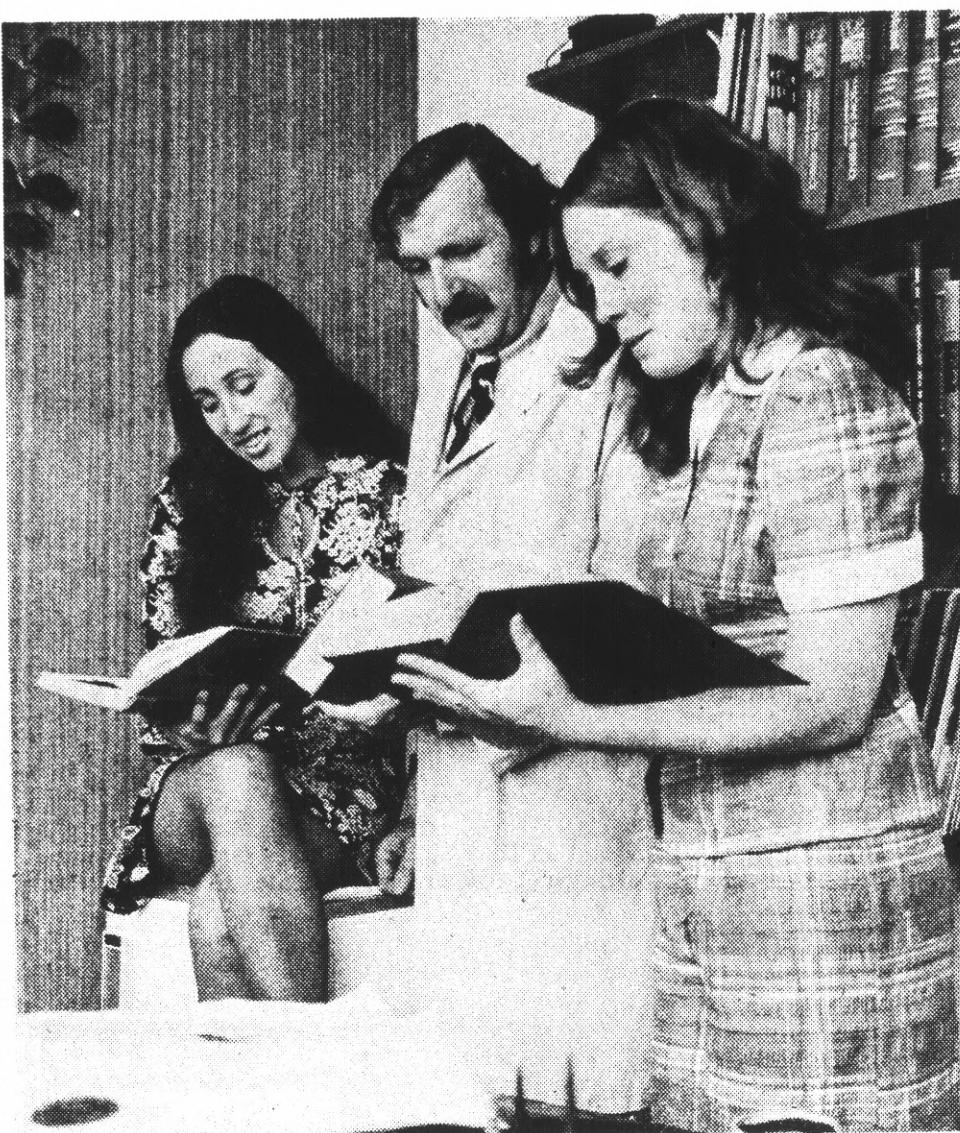

The event will begin at 7 p.m. according to Mrs. Linda Guerrero, the school's director and a long time Daly City resident. A formal presentation by the students will be followed by a social gathering in the church hall.

Members of the Florence Crittenton Home's North Peninsula Auxiliary are awaiting the July meeting to be hosted by Mrs. Arthur Colman.

Plans call for sandwiches and swim July 18 at the Colman's mid-Peninsula home. The outing is the last event on the summer schedule for the auxiliary which will begin the fall program of gatherings on September 19 at the Orange Memorial Library in South San Francisco.

Twenty-three teen volunteers at Mary's Help Hospital were awarded service pins honoring them for extended service to the volunteer program during a recent awards ceremony at the hospital.

According to Mrs. Mary McCoy, director of volunteers at the hospital, each of the girls had worked more than 100 hours and some had contributed as much as 700 hours of volunteer service.

Girl Scouts

OUR CHALET in Switzerland is the ultimate destination of the decorated patches donated by Daly City Senior Scout troops 24 and 13, which will be featured in a five-foot quilt being designed this Saturday by Bay Area Senior Scouts.

Troop 13, also known as Mariner Ship Flying Cloud, and skippered by Mrs. Margaret Damon and Misses Denise Lapachet and Jacqueline Ketchem with Mrs. David Bacon as troop committee chairwoman donated GAM pitches to the project.

Lura Daniels, who will represent the West Coast at Our Chalet, an international Girl Scout establishment in Switzerland, will leave the decorative quilt with the leaders of the wider opportunities event.

Troop 24, a Panorama troop led by Mesdames Isabel Hidick and Jane Anderson with Pauline Scaduto as troop committee chairwoman, has donated memorabilia of special events such as the Happening at Serromonte Shopping Center.

JOINING the many Brownies "flying-up" to full Junior membership this month, the girls of Holy Angels Brownie Troop 769, led by Mesdames Lynda Stoepelworth, Wilma Van Aken, and Carol Garibaldi, recently held their candlelighting ceremonies.

Ramona Bernardo, Marie Fasequelle, Andrea Luppens, Elisse Moran, Gina Olivier, Terry Rhoades, Rose Marie Steinbach, Eileen Stevens and Donna Van Aken will join their junior sisters in the fall.

Stephanie Borzoni, Karen and Sandy Cesena, Suzanne Danielle, Lorna Pernise, Theresa Dentoni, Lisa DeSalvatore, and Gina and Gloria Garibaldi received first-year membership pins.

Dianne Giacalone, Michelle Hyland, Theresa Kelly, Elizabeth Lapachet, Sheila Quill, Tammy Rhodes, Kristi Russell, Mary Scott, Tami Stoepelworth, Lesa Thurber and Tina Welch also received their stars of membership.

A PLAQUE honoring the sponsorship by the Knights of Columbus, Marian Council, received by Tom Curr, was recently awarded by Daly City Cadette Troop 8 at its Court Awards.

Carmen Carillo, Debbie Crawford, Rhonda Curtis, Lori Golden, Ruth Mordokowicz, Vicki Morino, Gail Sykes, Laura Tschingl and Marie Yuzon received badges and completion pins for several challenges.

Elizabeth and Catherine Caserza, Paulette Young and Debbie Thurman received their First Class Girl Scout pins during the family potluck dinner.

Good morning, good cooks.

MEAT LOAF IN THE ROUND

2 pounds ground beef
1½ cups (6 oz.) shredded Sharp Natural Cheddar Cheese
2 cups fresh bread crumbs
1 egg
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onion
1 Tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Combine the two pounds of beef, one cup of cheese (reserve a half-cup for topping), two cups bread crumbs, egg, half cup each celery and onion, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoon salt, fourth teaspoon pepper; mix lightly. Shape into nine-inch round loaf in baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour; pour off drippings. Pour the can of tomato sauce over meat, sprinkle with remaining half cup shredded cheese. Return to oven; continue baking 15 minutes. Yield is eight servings.

With our little darlings home from school the drain on the cookie jar is terrific. These delicious tasting jumbo cartwheels are easy to make and have everyone's favorite, semi-sweet chocolate bits, sprinkled generously through them.

JUMBO CARTWHEELS

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon baking soda
2 cups firmly-packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1 Tablespoon water
1½ teaspoons grated orange rind
1½ cups granola (oatmeal type cereal)
½ cup chopped nuts
1 6-oz. package Semi-Sweet Morsels

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In bowl combine the two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt and three-fourths teaspoon baking soda; set aside. In large mixing bowl, combine one cup butter and two cups brown sugar; beat until creamy. Add the two eggs and beat well. Blend in the one and one-half teaspoons grated orange rind and one tablespoon water. Add the flour mixture and mix well. Stir in the one and one-half cups granola, one-half cup nuts and package chocolate morsels.

Drop by rounded tablespoonsfuls 3 inches apart, one lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees about 12 minutes. Makes three dozen large cookies.

I received a call from a friend and loyal reader to ask about a recipe for magic fruit cake that appeared June 6. She wondered whether the yellow cake mix called for in the recipe was used dry or prepared as directed on the box. The answer is dry. The cake mix absorbs the juices from the fruits.

Swimming, Gung-Fu Top Pacifica Rec List

The Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department will be sponsoring swim lessons in the Terra Nova High School pool. Session I will be from June 18 to June 29, with children's lessons at 9:30 a.m., 10:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Tiny Tot lessons will be at 11:30 a.m., 12:30 p.m., 6:15 and 6:50 p.m. Children must be at least 48 inches tall. Tiny Tots must be at least three years of age and under 48 inches tall. Tiny Tots must be accompanied by a parent while in the water, or a certified swimmer aide can be obtained from the pool manager.

Senior and junior life saving classes will be Monday nights from 7:30 to 9:30. Registration will be taken at the Recreation Department. Lots of exercise, physical fitness and swimming are included in a slim and swim class. Participants must wear loose clothes and soft soled shoes and provide their own swim suit. Registration will be taken at city hall.

Summer baseball is open to boys from seven to 12 years. The program is a learning-oriented baseball program with an emphasis on skills and developing good playing techniques. Boys will attend a two week clinic and then teams will be formed for league play. Team T-shirts will be provided. Boys must provide their own glove.

Another new summer program is the physical art of White Crane Gung-Fu. Classes will be for ten weeks and will involve both physical work and discussion on the philosophy of the rediscovered ancient art. Classes will be Mon-macrame and stitchery. Classes will involve instruction in both arts and work on projects. Participants must provide their own supplies. Macrame will be Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. at Vallemar school and is open to anyone over 13. Stitchery will be Wednesdays at Vallemar school from 7 to 9 p.m. This class is also open to teens and adults.

An eight-week program designed to teach the basic skills of gymnastics, including work and skill development on the parallel bars, balance beam, vaulting horse and floor exercise is scheduled. Classes will be at Terra Nova for youngsters over eight through high school age.

nia state 10-year-old champion.

Ben Palacio Jr. is the nine-year-old state heavy champ.

David Parodi is the nine-year-old California light champ;

Mitchell Palacio, 18-year-old and the assistant instructor, is a seven-time national champion.

16-year-old light competition and

old, fights in the 16-year-old competition and Seichi Matsuo,

16 years, is the California Open

Division Champion.

DC Rec Baseballers Pound Down Stretch

The first section of the Daly City Recreation Department's good pitchers for OLM to hit against and that is about the story of the game. Whenever OLM looked like they might get hot, pitchers Brian Barron, Mike Venton or Steve Harper would put out the fire for the Cards.

SIXTH GRADE EASTERN
OLPH 2, LBYA Lions 0

—OLPH got a great effort from all of their pitchers who threw a no-hitter at the LBYA Lions. In the five-inning game the OLPH pitchers struck out ten and walked only two. James Granter, Albert Grigsby, and Jose Berrios pitched. They got great help from the defense of Sam Haen, Dave Harrison, Wilfred Garcia, Roger dela Cruz, Waylan Williams, Martin Hickiford and Paul Yoes and the hitting of Roger Phillips, Garcia and Ray Thrush.

LBYA A's 3, OLPH 1; and LBYA A's 5, OLM 1 —A's coach Mike Soto sent big Don Campbell to the mound for the first time and he responded to throw two perfect innings for the undefeated league champions. Other outstanding performers for the champs were Tony Ricci, Clark Bloom, Jim Cala and Ed Tauleclo.

SEVENTH GRADE
INTERMEDIATE

Carriage House 3-S.A.L. Wildcats 1 —Carriage House rode the pitching of Rod Savory and Jim Cunningham to victory. Both pitchers threw hard and accurately to lead their team. George and Paul Papageorge and Kevin Huff were the hitters who led the Carriage Men to victory.

O.L.P.H. Tigers 4 - P.A.L. Colts 3 —The competition was fierce but the clean play by both teams made this game tremendous. With the score tied in the bottom of the sixth OLPH's Ben Parodi got his 3rd hit in the game. Ben immediately stole second and scored on Dana Znostroza's smash single to win the game.

P.A.L. Eagles 14 - O.L.M. 7 —The Eagles started quick and held on to beat OLM 14-7. Shon Spence was instrumental for the Eagles as he got key hits which kept the scoring lanes open for his team. Jeff Francis and Bill Hardwick pitched a steady game for the Eagles. The Eagles were glad that they scored early because Murphy from OLM was superb for the last 3 innings on the mound.

Other scores were Holy Angels 7, St. Thomas More 0; and P.A.L. Liners 28, LBYA 2.

Look for the Tag on Waterbeds

By LORENE BEASLEY

The young couple never thought of checking with the landlady before buying a waterbed. When the bed was delivered the landlady refused to allow it to be installed. The store refused to give the couple their money back as it was a "final sale." The landlady was within her rights. A waterbed could cause serious damage to her building. A "final sale" is just what it says — no return.

The Bureau of Home Furnishings, Department of Consumer Affairs, recently ordered 23 waterbeds in local retail stores removed from sale.

The waterbeds, imported Taiwan, were withheld from sale for failure to attach a consumer caution label. This is in violation of the bureau's new waterbed regulations. The waterbeds currently are being tested by the bureau for compliance with the test standards established in the regulations effective December 1, 1972.

If you are interested in buying a waterbed, Director of the Department of Consumer Affairs John T. Kehoe advises to look for a 5 by 7-inch caution label stating:

1. This waterbed should not be used without a supporting frame and liner to capture and contain the entire liquid contents of the bed should a rupture occur.

2. Fungal growth may occur when the bed is filled with water. Appropriate treatment of water should be taken to prevent this occurrence.

3. When the waterbed is filled with water the weight is to be expressed in pounds per square foot (minus the weight of the frame).

4. Only approved heating systems are to be used in this bed.

5. A certificate statement by the manufacturer that the article meets the requirements of law.

It is also mandatory the label be securely attached, stating the manufacturer and the manufacturer's state registry number issued by the bureau.

Funds OK'd For 550 Youth Jobs

The long hot summer ahead for unemployed young people looks better last week when the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors was notified that federal funds had been released for another 550 youth jobs.

That brings the total number of summer youth jobs up to 720, according to Charles Moody, county emergency employment coordinator, who is working with local agencies throughout the county in job distribution.

Funding includes the last-minute sum of $223,200 from the U.S. Department of Labor and $80,805 previously budgeted by the supervisors through the county's Economic Opportunity Commission.

Distribution of the summer jobs was outlined by Moody as follows:

North County: City of Daly City, 70 jobs; Jefferson High School District, 53 jobs; South San Francisco, 70 jobs; South San Francisco Unified School District, 15 jobs; San Bruno, 20 jobs; Skyline College, 10 jobs.

maximum of nine weeks during the summer months, the county manager's office said.

Application should be made to the nearest local government agency for city and district jobs; application for county jobs should be made to the Civil Service Commission in Redwood City.

Coastside: City of Pacifica, 50 jobs; Jefferson Union High School District, 30 jobs; Half Moon Bay, 25 jobs, for a total of 238.

Central County: City of San Mateo, 51 jobs; San Mateo Union High School District (also serving Burlingame and Millbrae), 50 jobs; Millbrae, five jobs, for a total of 106 jobs.

Countywide — County of San Mateo, 35 jobs for residents of all areas of the county working with county government departments.

Jobs will pay $1.65 or $2 an hour for 26 hours a week for a call police.

Officer Thurmond McGinnis gave mouth-to-mouth resuscitation when he arrived and firemen gave inhalation.

Edmundson, taken to Mills Memorial Hospital, recovered.

George Hinkle, vice principal of Terra Nova High School in Pacifica, has written The Times that he had learned the facts that the "passerby," Orloff, who was walking his dog, "pulled the boy away from the water, checked his pulse, which he found none, and proceeded to whack the boy on the chest to get heart action."

He then gave artificial respiration until he brought the boy around to where he was breathing enough to get help. Hinkle says, and "while the police and Mr. Orloff were waiting for the resuscitation unit, they both worked together on the boy."

William C. Hedberg, M.D., wrote The Times that Orloff pulled Allan from the water, administered first aid, and requested others to go to a nearby shelter and request aid.

"I think Mr. Orloff should be given serious consideration as we recipient of a Hero's Award."

Dr. Hedberg writes. Dr. Hedberg is associated with the Permanent Medical Group, South San Francisco.

San Bruno Police Officers Fail to Pass Examination

None of the three San Bruno Police Department made a big fuss out of the fact the council elected to "go outside" instead of selecting a local officer for the post.

The city manager's office reported that nine of the 26 candidates in the test achieved the 70 per cent or better score.

Oral examinations for these nine persons will be set up in the next few days, according to the city manager's office. Most are Californians. But not all in the Bay Area, it was stated.

The officers in the San Bruno

Police Department made a big fuss out of the fact the council elected to "go outside" instead of selecting a local officer for the post.

Even Police Chief Russell Cunningham stood by his men saying there were many well qualified for the post. According to the job classifications nine officers in the department were eligible to take the exam. Four members of our association, as well as adversely affecting future operations of the police department."

The San Bruno Police Association said that not selecting from within "will have adverse effects on the morale of the members of our association, as well submitted applications to take it, but only three did—unsuccessfully.

The vacancy was created

when former Capt. Bill Cann resigned to become chief in Union

City in the East Bay.

The position has a salary range of $1,258 to $1,530 a month.

Prospects for passage of a bill which will permit a special tax to finance flood control improvements for the Colma Creek area in north San Mateo County are

"encouraging," State Sen. Arlen

Gregorio has reported to county officials.

Colma, Daly City, South San

fica have agreed on a flood control program for the creek, with the entities involved to advance funds on the basis of reimburse-

within the Colma Creek Flood Control Zone.

State legislation is necessary to permit imposition of the tax valuation, depending on the proximity to the creek.

To facilitate the state authorization, County Engineer S. H.

Cantwell Jr. has urged the County Board of Supervisors to conduct a public hearing sometime in July to adopt conceptual plans for the project and to estimate $8.4 million for the project, which would require special tax rate ranging from 4 cents to 36 cents per $100 of assessed value.

We compared prices with major supermarket chains all around the area, again last week. We compared Mayfair's discount prices with "specials," "total discount" and most kinds of prices. Last week Mayfair's overall food prices were lower than six other top chains.

To make these comparisons more fair, we used Uncle Sam's list--the same list of 90 some items that the U.S. Department of Labor uses to measure food prices as part of the cost of living.

As shown the savings at Mayfair on this item list ranged from $1.10 to $7.69.

We don't just say "Food cost less at Mayfair." We mean it--and we prove it.

Ecology Letters Urged

A member of the San Bruno Environmental Committee is urging persons concerned about the ecological effects of the San Francisco International Airport expansion, Bayhill, or any other development to get out their pencils and write.

Dr. Louis Maraviglia, stressing that he's not speaking for the committee, said he's urging the letter-writing campaign because of an Environmental Protection Agency order announced earlier this week.

That order by the EPA instructs the states to consider the long-range air pollution impact of proposed shopping centers, sports stadiums and other traffic-generating facilities.

EPA also told the states to submit within the next few months a list of geographic areas where projected growth and development could result in violation of federal clean air laws during the next decade.

Dr. Maraviglia said that San Brunans concerned about their environment could lodge their concern by writing to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency at 100 California St., San Francisco.

He also suggested, in the case of the airport, that the residents send letters to David Martin, chairman of the County Airport Land Use Committee, at the government center in Redwood City.

Dr. Maraviglia said he was particularly interested in attempting to have the airport impose voluntary nighttime curfews, as he says, is being done in other major metropolitan areas. A recent ruling stated this could not be done through the courts.

Under the EPA proposal, the states have until August 15 to tell the EPA whether they have authority to control construction of shopping centers and other "complex sources" including highways, which generate air pollutants because of the heavy traffic around them.

The EPA will then tell the states whether it believes the states' authority is adequate, and on October 15 will propose its own regulations for states whose authority it views as sufficient. Those regulations would go into effect December 15.

The states will have until March 1974 to designate problem regions where growth patterns are likely to bring about violation of federal clean air law, with which states must comply by 1975.

The states will have two years to submit plans showing what the problems are and what they intend to do about them during the next 10 years.

"If this procedure had been set up 20 years ago, there wouldn't be any Los Angeles as we know it today," said EPA Assistant Administrator Robert Sampson.

Bowler Is Robbed

Ed Lee was leaving the King's Bowl bowling alley in Millbrae last week, when he was robbed of $30.

Lee, 60, a resident of 323 South Ashton Avenue, Millbrae, told police he walked out of King's Bowl at 10:40 p.m. and saw a younger man standing near the exit.

The younger man, wearing a dark blue jacket, blue jeans, and a blue ski cap, followed him toward his car, Lee said.

Suddenly the younger man, about 20, produced a blued-steel pistol and said: "Give me all your money."

Friedenberg Explains

JESD Agreement

Attorney David J. Friedenberg has explained the agreement between Public Labor Relations, Inc., of which he is one of the owners, and the Jefferson Elementary School District, as a result of comments made in Frank LaPierre's column in the May 23 and May 30 editions of The Post, page 18 of each edition, as follows:

"It is a matter of public record that in 1971 our firm was retained on an annual contract of $4,800.00 payable at the rate of $400.00 monthly by the school district. It is also a fact that because of the tremendous amount of time our firm expended that year, the fees for our services would have been many times more than the contract price if we had been paid at an hourly rate.

"In 1972 the Board retained our services at an hourly rate instead of for the flat annual sum. This year the Board was informed that we were willing to provide our services either at the annual rate used in 1971 or the hourly rate used in 1972. Based on their experience the Board determined that it was to the District's advantage to retain our services at the annual rate rather than the hourly rate and this was done for 1973.

"Except for March 7th and 8th when I was out of State on business, the lack of meetings during March and April, 1973 was solely because of the fact that the CEC did not choose to meet. I contacted them several times about setting meeting dates and they stated they were getting their proposals together and as soon as they did, they would advise me so that we could arrange the next meeting. This was not done until May. During the month of May, 1973, I had four 'Meet and Confer' sessions with the CEC, one night meeting with the school board and several meetings with the administration."

The Post regrets that the above or a similar explanation was not made in Mr. LaPierre's column of May 23 or May 30, 1973.

Out Sleuthing

BALMY SPRING DAYS, and everything and everybody seems a little balmy. We didn't write anything last week because of a special assignment we were sent on.

WE WERE SLEUTHING. It's always fun to sleuth. What we turned up was, naturally, in the Jefferson Elementary School District, and it was interesting. Very interesting. Sleuthing, by the by, can be done between January and December each year. There is no bag limit on sleuths, only on bagmen, or should we call them "bagpersons," in this day of enlightenment and women's lib?

AT ANY RATE, sleuthing is fraught with danger, mostly from irate targets of the hunt or their duly appointed (and often costly) representatives. An amateur sleuth can only go so far, then he must rely on a professional. In this case, dealing with public materials and equipment, the sleuthing should be followed up by the San Mateo County district attorney. He is a real pro and has many trail beaters at his disposal.

IF I WERE A PRO, and I quickly add I am not, I would take photos of JESD personnel to a local Daly City print shop and ask the printer which of the persons brought some printer-ready letters to be printed.

These letters, the DA already has stated, came from a typewriter in the office of the director of Classified Personnel at the JESD (actually, the secretary's office). Now, once the printer says "that's the (girl) (man)" the DA merely asks the (man) (girl) where (he) (she) got the letter?

NEXT LOGICAL STEP would be to trace it from there. And before you know it — presto! — you've nailed down who typed those letters on that school typewriter in violation of the Education Code, not to mention that you've found out when and where those letters were made "printer ready."

As a plain old (but young of heart and sound of mind) reporter we can only ask folks to talk with us. Mostly they refuse, because of a habit we have of printing what they say. However, if the DA asks you gotta answer,

IS IT TRUE that a high ranking JESD official has been considering a job offer down in the Fresno-Stockton area? Our source, who has been batting pretty good in recent months, says it's true. There is another official, who we dare not mention unless asked, who winged to San Diego a couple of weeks ago. Can't find out why . . . yet.

MEANWHILE, IN TOMBSTONE Territory — Colma — those petitioners have overcome what seemed like unsurmountable odds to bring 44 signatures before City Clerk Blanche Lagomarsino, much to the outward chagrin of the target — Councilman Raymond Ottoboni. In a letter sent out to the townspeople, Ottoboni blames a couple of malcontents (not to mention a vindictive newsman who, he claims, specializes in smear campaigns) with stirring up this unrest among the folks.

ELSIE CAMPBELL AND MARIAN DANIELUZ, circulators of the petition, said they encountered considerable difficulty in re-obtaining signatures on the recall. The first petition was rejected by Clerk Lagomarsino on a technicality. This time around the petitioners had legal advice from a Daly City attorney.

THERE IS MOUNTING pressure over the arrest of four Ladies of the Evening, Daly City police were waiting at a Mission Street motel and arrested them on soliciting charges two weeks ago.

The word is out that some authorities, at the urging of several "civic-minded citizens," who shall remain nameless for the time being, are asking the girls be let off the hook (so to speak) and the cops be slapped for entrapment.

They point out that the "ladies" were doing their thing in San Francisco and were "invited" out to Daly City. Some readers might say, "If the ladies were on their toes this would have never happened." Others may not.

THERE'S NO DOUBT about it. The wisest move the City Council of Daly City ever did was to turn over the old Daly City Hall to the Guadalupe Health people. They've done great up there. And now, as they prepare for their third year (already?), there are plans for expanding the facility which serves thousands of local residents — mostly the old and poor. It's a blue ribbon for the community, something we need more of.

WHAT WE NEED less of, is those draftees firecrackers going off — in the middle of June. We don't like them and told the local PD so. The office we talked it over with laughed. I didn't think it was particularly funny. The explosives are against the law, just as surely as running a stop sign, shoplifting or letting your dog bark. Now, if the City Attorney thinks it best for the good of the neighborhood to muzzle a dog for barking, I think he should have the little noisemakers arrested and likewise prosecuted.

Riding Conservation Patrol

BY GEORGE GOLDING

Ron Gordon and Dick Apcar met us at San Carlos airport and me at San Carlos airport in Ron's Cessna 182, a middle-weight of the lightplane field. We were to make a routine "mission" with them, for the Oceanic Society's new "Conservation Patrol."

"We are hot and heavy, but I think we can get off," smiled Ron, commenting on his plane's load and the temperature which late Friday morning was pushing toward 100 degrees.

Dick, a Sunnyvale fireman-policeman who acts as the Patrol's operations officer, explained the mission, one of the three Bay patrol courses the Society has set up for its 47 volunteer pilots: looking for oil slicks, sewage, other kinds of pollution. Ron checked his plane, Dick cased his maps, and we were off, climbing into the warm air.

At 1500 feet it was still warm, but no longer stifling. We eased across the Bay circled Oakland, and began our shoreline cruise northward from the Oakland Bay Bridge.

Ron, now 61, a retired former vacuum tube maker for Eitel McCullough and then Varian, kept the plane at 1000 to 1500 feet.

Over Richmond four oil tankers were tied up at a dock.

Two of them were pumping water.

"What you have to look out for is pumping bilges," Dick said. "You can see it bubbling up midship from underneath."

The two ships that were pumping, he said, were disposing of normal water. The streams came out high, at the ends of the ships, and when the pumped water fell into the green of the Bay, there was no discoloration.

Amidships from one of them, a muddy yellow stain spread.

"I think that one is pumping something," said Dick, "let's go down."

Ron circled, standing his plane on one wing, and we photographed the stain.

Dick explained that Oceanic Society observer-photographers in each plane are trained to take photographs so that points of reference show, as well as the pollution and its source. There is a worksheet, also, on which altitude, direction, time of day, location and other details are carefully recorded. Every report of a sighting has to be prepared as if it were going to be used as evidence in court.

"We have learned to be careful," Dick said. "When we make a sighting, we call the Coast Guard. We want them to know that we are serious, that when we call them, there really is a problem."

A few flights back, he said, another pilot and himself had spotted a purple stain in the water near Concord. Intrigued, they called authorities.

Agents of the federal Environmental Protection Agency found that the purple stain was a legal dye used by a sewage disposal plant. There was no dangerous pollution from that source, but while checking the purple stain the agents found a neighboring chemical plant pouring hundreds of gallons of colorless and deadly acid into the Sacramento River. They called for a halt.

"The oil companies used to allow their tankers to pump their bilges into the Bay, hundreds of gallons of oil at a time. Now, they have built oxidation ponds. The ships pump their bilges into those ponds, and the oil is reclaimed. The oil companies are making money from it."

We flew up the Sacramento River, past the Spreckels sugar factory, past a train that was derailed close by the water, and looped back toward Vallejo.

Mare Island, said Dick Apcar, is like most other federal installations, very good about limiting pollution.

"The only time we had trouble with them was when some workers decided, on their own, to throw several hundred gallons of old grey paint into the bay. That made a helluva stain."

"Why are you in it?" I asked. "What's in it for you?"

"I got into this more or less because of a dare," said Dick.

He had been kidding his girl friend about wearing a POW bracelet, and she said it was an action prompted by her beliefs.

"What do you believe in?" she asked.

"Well, I've always been interested in ecology," he answered.

"Then why don't you do something about it?" she challenged.

Ron said he had joined the patrol "because I belong to the Santa Clara county Airman's Association, and someone came down one meeting night and talked to us. I put up my money the next day."

It costs $25 to join the Oceanic Society, and $50 more to join the flying patrol.

In addition, it costs Ron approximately $20 per hour to fly his Cessna, and he puts in perhaps 20 hours each month.

"It's a healthy tax deduction," he admits, "but you don't get it all back. You only get about 20 per cent."

For Dick, his commitment to the Oceanic Society means other cash out of pocket.

"Until I joined this, my phone bill ran about $15 a month," he said, "now it's never under $75. Then there's the film. I spend about $40 a month on film."

In addition to the flying conservation patrol, there is an Oceanic Society boat patrol with 27 crafts which scan the Bay, and ocean from the Golden Gate to the Farallones.

With such a massive survey in mind, the Oceanic Society needs volunteers, lots of volunteers. Anyone with skills in flying, photography, boating, or scuba diving, and an interest in saving the ocean, is welcome.

"We can use pilots without planes," explains Dick, "as observers. Some of them, like Doyle Patrick, a San Mateo PG&E employee who is scheduling officer for the Patrol, rent planes to make the flying patrols.

There are only two paid employees, Clark Cameron, Oceanic Society director in San Francisco, and one secretary.

"Everything else is donated," said Ron.

So far, the Society has stayed away from becoming involved in lawsuits, though some members think they should.

One member, an East Bay teacher, acts as training officer, conducting all-day "ground schools" for pilots and observers.

Other members bring their own specialties into action. Some are developing water sampling equipment for the boat patrol. A pilot named William Burns is hoping to develop infrared scanning equipment so that flying patrols can be expanded.

At present, flights can only be made during clear weather, when "visual flight rules" can be followed without risking plane or pilot. Burns hopes to extend this coverage into night hours and into overcast weather.

The patrol performs another service. On request, they will take aerial pictures for the Army Engineers and other governmental agencies unable to get their own. They work closely with the Coast Guard, the Army Engineers, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Water Quality Control Board.

The flyers abide by all FAA rules very strictly, and in return get some special consideration, too.

Down the shoreline we went, taking another glimpse at the four anchored tankers, peering more closely at the Oakland Estuary.

"It's remarkably clear today" commented Dick. Mike and I pointed out several streaks of discolored water spreading into the Bay, but Dick explained that these were normal discolorations from drainage.

"We learn to ignore those," he says. "We have to become knowledgeable. If we call the Coast Guard for everything like that, pretty soon they won't believe us. We want them to believe us."

Except for the possible discharge from one ship tied up at Richmond, we hadn't spotted anything improper in the Bay.

Hard to Assess Watergate Impact

Politics is certainly not "usual" at the moment. But what about the politics that usually goes on?

This year California has seen an extraordinary number of special elections, and more are to come. What impact has Watergate had on these contests?

Answers are difficult to come by, for the sample is not large or representative, but some tentative conclusions can be made.

1) Voter turnout is down.

Special elections always have relatively low voter participation, but this year's ratios are more depressed (and depressing) than usual. We all remember Sam Yorty's parting wail that he was defeated by stay-at-homes. What hasn't been noticed is that special election ratios have also been well under usually reliable county clerk predictions.

For example, a recent election in Los Angeles' 38th District (held the same day as the mayoralty race) found less than 30 percent of eligibles voting.

In the Stockton area (San Joaquin County) a light turnout had been predicted for a June 12 special primary. Even though there were exciting contests among both Republicans and Democrats, the ratio came in at just barely over a dismal 30 percent, and even lower than predicted.

2) Which voters are staying home? The answer to this question is based on logic, not statistics.

In general elections, turnout has been seen to relate to economic status. The disadvantaged of both parties have discouraging voting records.

In special elections, the no vote factor is augmented by the center.

and have been highly motivated to vote and work, whereas the middle of the spectrum has tended to "pass" these crucial but largely unpublicized events.

Now, with Watergate, the centrists have remained home in droves, accentuating even further the importance of left and right.

3) Workers — Watergate hasn't really slowed them down.

With the correct mix of good candidate, prospects of victory, and organizational soundness, both parties have been able to muster workers in California this year.

What hasn't been noticed is that the importance of workers has increased. As special elections do not generate great public interest, people who always vote at general election time must be reminded to vote.

This year, with even lower turnout ratios, the vote catalyzed from homes to polling places by workers is even more crucial.

From these results, it must be concluded that some voters are "turned off" for the moment at least, and express their distaste for matters political by dropping out.

4) Republican fund raising is down, especially small donor drives. Old giving habits have been broken, and it could be some years, if ever, before former levels of giving are reached.

5) Candidates associated with lobbying activities and large fund raising efforts are in trouble. This point was spectacularly illustrated in the race in Los Angeles' 38th district.

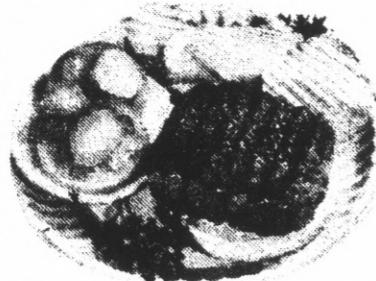

The Democratic loser had been a legislative representative, and, in the course of the primary and run-off special elections, had raised and spent about twice as much money as his Republican opponent.

Pacifica Baseball Is Being Exported to the South

Pacifica baseball is being exported to the South. Last week Bill Downing, former Terra Nova University of San Francisco shortstop, was signed by the Atlanta Braves and shipped to Savannah in the Class AA Southern League. Somewhere along the middle of July Savannah will play Knoxville and way down South, there, Downing will meet in combat with another former Terra Nova-USF infielder named Mike Buskey, a Chicago White Sox chatty.

What do you suppose the odds are on the two kids from a small high school in a small town and alumni of a relatively small university from the Pacific Coast somehow meeting on a minor league playing field in the deep south?

Fortunately for Downing, the odds against his making it to the Big Team aren't nearly so great. Scouts Bill Serena and Bill Wright, reliable sources tell us, think enough of Downing's chances to have proffered him a fine financial deal and as their fourth round free agent draft pick, encouragement that reads something like "Don't worry about your hitting, concentrate on defense, play well, and next year you'll get a shot with our AAA club (Richmond in the International League), and who knows after that . . ."

At age 20, the future for the rangy Downing does indeed seem bright. He can field and run and has shown signs of being able to hit with power. (At USF this past season he hit .310 and led the league in homers.)

Add the fact that the Brave organization is short of quality fielders and Downing's name may be appearing in a big league box score a lot sooner than one might think is possible.

A quick check into specifics reveals the following: At the moment, Savannah's shortstop is a second baseman by trade, so it appears that Downing will step right into that spot. A guy named Foster plays shortstop for Richmond and while he is a good player, he tends to regularly dislocate his shoulder when swinging a bat, an action which generally removes him from the lineup for six weeks. His backup is weak-hitting Gil Garrido, and ex-Giant (who isn't?) who is 32 and has had his shots in the Bigs.

The incumbent Brave shortstop is Marty Perez, who isn't an outstanding fielder and carries a lifetime batting average of around .225 — with no power. His backup is Sonny Jackson, a swift who can hit .260 (with no power) and steal a lot of bases for you, but who is such a smooth shortstop that he usually plays the outfield.

In the meanwhile, Savannah currently is fighting it out for the league lead with Columbus (Astros) and Orlando (Twins) in the Eastern Division of the Southern League and if there is anything that makes a rookie look good to the guys upstairs, it is how he responds to pressure. Downing has never been an athlete who buckles under such pressure and that should be all the better for him. Add to all of this the fact that his father, Bill Sr., is a graduate of Mission High School, at one time the prep baseball juggernaut of the Bay Area, and we don't see how the kid can miss.

We just hope that when he makes the big club he autographs our scorecard.

Another Terra Nova grad who inked a pro contract was southpaw hurler Bob McClure, the third round draft choice of Kansas City who starred at College of San Mateo for the past two years.

McClure, 21, was 21-1 with a 1.67 ERA and a school strikeout record of 14 (106 innings) for the Bulldogs this past season and threw in a .368 batting average. He was the Golden Gate Conference's MVP and was an All-State player.

McClure will play for Billings in the Class A Pioneer League.

Both Downing and McClure played at Terra Nova under the tutelage of Al Figone, now the head baseball coach at San Francisco State.

OTHER LOCAL HEROES:

Dave Fernandez has been named San Francisco State's Athlete of the Year, which is even more of an honor than it might seem on the surface, because not only did Fernandez have to qualify in athletic ability, but he also had to qualify in scholarship and citizenship, criteria set down by the donor of the first annual award, Fidelity Union Life Insurance Company.

Fernandez, only a junior, was chosen by the S.F. State Men's Physical Education Department from a group of ten student-athletes. A starting halfback, Fernandez averaged 5.2 yards per carry last football season and during track season established a new Gator long jump record of 23 ft. 11 inches. His 49 feet 4 inch triple jump placed him among the top ten triple jumpers in the nation for the second straight year.

Other nominees for the award were Ben Robinson (baseball), Vance DeVost (basketball), Wayne Wallace (soccer), Don Christy (swimming), Frank Johnson (water polo), Lloyd Teasely (wrestling), John Fong (gymnastics), Dan Best (cross country) and teacher David Bardoff.

Another San Francisco State soon may be making international headlines. Mack McCrady will be competing in the World Championship Judo Competition being held in Lucerne, Switzerland, on June 24-26. McCrady wrestles in the unlimited class, where he finished second in AAU competition this year in Atlanta.

MISCELLANY:

We're starting to get tired of trade criticisms made not when the trade is consummated, but after all the players in the trades have been established for a while on their respective new teams. If one of the traded players blossoms into a star with his new team, the critics immediately begin heaping derogatory remarks on the executives of the former team responsible for the trade.

Aside from the fact that such actions are second-guessing, anyway, what we particularly dislike about such tactics is that such assassins of professional competence never seem to take into account the possibility that if the suddenly blossomed star on Team B had continued on with Team A, he possibly would still not — or ever — be a star.

It is a fact that certain types of players do better under certain types of managements, or with certain types of teams, or in certain types of parks, or in certain types of cities, or weather, ad infinitum.

That is what makes sports so fascinating, why strategy and final standings never will be able to be determined by computers. Because cold statistics, no matter how delicately and expertly handled, never can take into account the human condition.

Would Willie Mays have been able to survive his major league indoctrination had he had any other manager as a rookie than Leo Durocher? How many home runs would Joe DiMaggio have hit in Boston, or Ted Williams in Yankee Stadium — or Mays in Atlanta? How many games would Grover Cleveland Alexander have won had he not had to pitch in cracker-box Baker Bowl in Philadelphia or Wrigley Field, a notorious hitter's park? How many bases could Mickey Mantle have stolen in his uninjured prime had he not played for a power-hitting team which did not believe in stolen bases? Would Maury Wills have stolen half the bases he did had he played for the Yankees, or the Giants when those teams were setting homerun records — or even for the Dodgers when they, too, were power-conscious in Ebbets Field?

And speaking of possible records, has there ever been as many major league managers of Italian extraction as there is now? There's Frank Quilici at Minnesota, Billy Martin in Detroit, Yogi Berra with the Mets, and Ken Aspromonte at Cleveland. Now, if only Herman Franks would make a comeback, we could start an Italian basketball team of baseball managers.

A couple of weeks ago we referred to the Yankees as a Giant farm team. The suspicion soon was substantiated further when the Giants sold Sam McDowell to the Yanks, making McDowell the sixth recent former Giant on the New York roster. Three more of 'em and the Yankees can send them out as a road company.

Loud Bats Spell Playoffs For DC Nines

Getting down to the final games in the Daly City Recreation Department's Men's Slow Pitch Softball Leagues, many leagues will be forced into playoffs because of close finishes. The men are showing a lot of hustle and because of this there is the subsequent battle for titles. Here are scores and a few highlights of last week's action.

"B" LEAGUE WEST — The Nestle Crunchers pulled out a four way tie for first by defeating the front running Turf Club in a thriller. The Thunder team displayed some real thunder as they came out a winner for the first time by exploding past the Softballs 13-3. In other games the Country Clubbers squeaked by the Emanons 8-7.

"B" LEAGUE NORTH — The Odd Squad clinched at least a tie for first as they demolished the Sluggin' Fools 17-3. The Odd Squad played good softball and made few errors. While the Odd Squad played was clinching a tie the Pomona Casuals finished their season with at least a second place finish but now must hope that Broadway Plumbing can upset the Odd Squad in a makeup game.

"B" LEAGUE SOUTH — With the ball dancing merrily the B of A Vets overcame Cordero Chevrolet 17-11. The Vets had numerous stars but the booming hits of Al Gilmore, Ross Holmgren and Darry Murphy made the difference. Til Rodriguez was the winning pitcher to run his record to 3-0. The French A team used Al Raynals relief pitching and Bob Toussaints three hits to lead them to a hardfought 7-6 victory over the B of A Rookies. In other games J & J Plumbing beat Melody Toyota 10-7 and World of Carpets bombed the IRS 21-7.

S.M. Health Board Will Continue Its County Operations

The San Mateo County Board of Health and Welfare director of the Social Service Division of the County Health and Welfare Department, said it will live on — trying to find out for the next year or so how the County Health and Welfare Department functions, then, hopefully, trying to participate in some functional capacity.

"Well, it's a step in the right direction," Dr. Johnson admitted. "If we make our role more functional instead of sitting and listening."

Kent said he is hopeful that problems will be brought before the Board of Health and Welfare before they are solved. "Instead of being presented the conclusions."

Although it is estimated that it will take more than a year of various departmental presentations before the board is qualified to become "functional," it agreed with Pickett that there be a "time-out" session early in the going to evaluate progress and to determine "why we are meeting and is it working."

Although the seven-member board is authorized in the County Charter, it was organized 40 years ago when there were only a few departmental employees and was advisory to the Board of Supervisors.

Today, as Health and Welfare Director Dr. George Pickett related two months ago, the board's functions have been usurped by a more direct contact with county officials, and, in its present form, is a nuisance to be put up with.

Although LaDou and board members Dr. Nile Porter and J. Russell Kent, who, as county superintendent of schools, is ex officio, favored the new role, some doubt was expressed by board member Dr. Deborah Johnson.

"This (referring to LaDou's proposal) is a nice way of educating ourselves," Dr. Johnson said, "but I still feel we're sitting here being spoon fed."

"I still have to read medical journals, too," the busy doctor reminded her fellow board members.

"I've read reams of stuff (background information on health and welfare matters), but nothing we can take action on," Dr. Johnson stated. "What we decide at this board is not going to affect them (the County Board of Supervisors), except, perhaps, to be more specific."

However, Robert D. Rippetto,

Dr. Rabbino Heads Heart Association

At the San Mateo County Heart Association's Annual Banquet, held at the Borel Restaurant on Friday, the 1973-74 Officers for the Association were named. Michael D. Rabbino, M.D., San Mateo County cardiologist, was elected president; L. Carson Hussey, vice president, Bank of America, is the incoming chairman of the board of directors.

Dr. Jerry Goldman, Dr. George H. Cohen and Dr. George B. Prozan will assume the vice presidencies; Elaine Thompson, R.N., will be the new secretary and Mrs. Ronald Root, the treasurer.

New members of the board of directors include Richard Baldwinson, Mrs. Stephen Bianco, Gaston Periat and William J. Plunkett. Fred C. Boler, and Frank Linsdrom were re-elected to another term in office.

Over 100 attending heard keynote speaker, George H. Cohen, M.D., San Mateo cardiologist, speak on the historical developments of coronary care.

Belmonter Wins Mills Fellowship

Bob Bettinger, a graduate student in anthropology at the University of California, Riverside, has been awarded an Ogden Mills Fellowship enabling him to complete his doctoral dissertation and pursue further research at the New York Museum of Natural History.

Usually given yearly to only one or two researchers already holding doctoral degrees, the Mills Fellowship is awarded in cases of exceptional research merit.

Bettinger, for the last three years a member of UCR's 28-member Archaeological Research Unit, during that time has specialized in research into the culture of prehistoric man in the so-called Great Basin — an area that includes all of Nevada, Eastern California, Western Utah, Southern Oregon and Southern Idaho.

His three years of graduate work have been funded by a traineeship grant from the National Science Foundation.

Before leaving for New York in the fall, Bettinger will conduct field research at Great Basin sites in conjunction with scientists from UC Davis, UC Berkeley, the University of Utah and the University of Nevada at Reno.

Or past summer field projects he has recovered and analyzed

Four CSM Students Attend National Bahai Assembly

Karen Jones, Carol Newman, Karen Petty and Behrooz Amini are scheduled to attend the Third National Bahai Youth Conference in Oklahoma City. All are students of College of San Mateo and are members of the Bahai Community in San Mateo.

Several thousand youths are expected to attend the conference from June 20 - 24, which will be highlighted by a concert featuring recording artists Sears and Crofts, England Dan and John Ford Coley, Lawrence and Rosell, and Don Reed, Master of Ceremonies for the public meeting and concert Saturday will be Edward F. Carpenter, headmaster of the Harlem Prep School in New York City.

Lee Lopez, chairman of the various Indian artifacts, including stone cutting and grinding tools and pottery.

A unique aspect of his research in New York will be the use of a computer to generate a computer model of the migration patterns and lifestyles of the Basin's inhabitants from about 10,000 years ago to the present.

"We will use the computer to predict, for example, what these people ate, and what types of artifacts they would be expected to leave behind. Then we will compare the pattern of artifacts from our hypothetical model to the pattern we have actually found," Bettinger explains.

Pacifica Approves Spending Program Plus 'If' Budget

Pacifica city councilmen last week approved a $5.7 million city budget, added seven items to it that they felt to be essential, adopted an 11-item supplemental budget, and voted to raise the tax rate — already highest in the county — by 2½ cents to $2.315 per $100 valuation.

The supplemental budget is composed of items the council regard as necessary, if they are able to get more revenues. It includes some of the items cut out of this year's budget.

They were able to raise the tax rate, in the face of the SB 90 tax-freeze, according to City Manager Dave Thompson, because City Attorney John Sherman ruled that $31,502 to subsidize the city bus service is a contractual obligation.

Other additions:

— $8,000 to assist the Youth Service Bureau for 1973-74.

— $3,000 to clean the Anza and Linda Mar drainage stations.

— $2,500 to rebuild Pump No. 1 at the Linda Mar drainage station.

— $1,600 for a nine-week pilot recreation program at Crespi School.

— $7,000 for the city manager's budget.

— $2,000 for a secretary for the planning commission, inadvertently cut out in the proposed budget.

Items the city will carry out in case it obtains more income include:

— Salary increases for city employees.

— $9,000 for police department dispatcher-clerk.

— $84,778 for one additional company of firemen.

— $27,000 for two additional planners.

— $1,500 to share in the cost of the annual clean-up days for 1973-74, by the Coastsider Scavenger Co.

— $1,000 more for police reserves, for a total of $2,000.

— $400 to permit Parks, Beaches and Recreation Commission members to attend a national conference.

— $4,700 for central cashiering.

— $6,190 to continue emergency employment program for accountant from January 1.

— $3,400 for microfilming police records.

Meanwhile, councilmen voted to authorize the city manager to borrow up to $600,000 in order to maintain cash reserves and cash flow from July through December — until income from various taxes start coming in — by issuing tax anticipation notes.

No one except the San Mateo County Planning Commission seems pleased with the proposed interim policy for determining maximum residential density in the county's Coastsider agriculture and forestry zones west of Skyline Boulevard and south of Pacifica.

For more than two hours Wednesday, the commission listened to pros and cons, mostly concerning the proposed Resource Conservation Zone (RCZ) density matrix, which would be utilized in controlling development pending completion of the Coastsider Plan and revision of the County Zoning Ordinance.

Taking no action, the commission continued the matter to its July 11 meeting.

Wednesday's session was the eighth time the open space residential density matrix matter was before the commission. It provides that any proposed subdivision of land into five or more parcels within the RCZ be submitted as a planned-unit development (PUD). Clustering of units per five acres to one unit per 40 acres, depending on terrain, proximity to flood plains, accessibility to roads and highways and earthquake hazards.

Marion Softky, speaking for the Environmental Quality Coordinating Council, expressed opposition to the bonus plan and also urged that, until a permanent plan is developed, open space lands be placed in the 40-acre minimum lot size only.

A similar statement was delivered by Pat Barrantine on behalf of the Committee for Green Foothills and the Sierra Club.

S.S.F. Center Deadlocked

A petition to rezone a 1.28-acre parcel on the northeast corner of Westborough and Calian boulevards for a medical center floundered on a 3-3 tie vote of the South San Francisco Planning Commission last week.

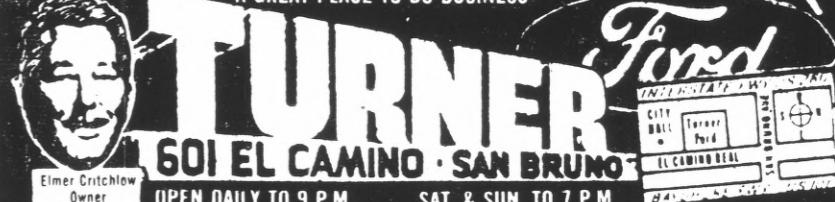

Joseph Haggarty had requested the rezoning from its current Planned Community Duplex Family District to Planned Community Commercial District.

Upon recommendation of City Planner Daniel Pass, the commission agreed to hold over the petition to the June 25 meeting, in order to work out something mutually agreeable with Haggarty.

Haggarty pleaded that the community of Westborough at present lacks any kind of medical facilities. Facing him, however, was a 102-name petition opposing the rezoning.

Two men who announced that they have plans for developing medical centers in Westborough also spoke in opposition. Dr. Charles Sayers who represents a group of doctors, and Les Cohn, representing a shopping center in Westborough.

The Licata Tradition—Best in the West

San Francisco has Fisherman's Wharf, and San Mateo has Vince's Seafood-Italian Restaurant at 1528 El Camino Real. Owned and operated by Vince Licata, the eatery has earned the reputation for being "the Fisherman's Wharf of the Peninsula," with the entire family pitching in to make it an outstanding success story.

Vince's wife, Nina, his sons Tony and Louis and his daughters Angela and Rosalind have all worked hard to make the restaurant a success. It is the intention of these young people, we might add, to carry on the traditions founded by their father.

"SUCCESS IN THIS BUSI-NESS," says Vince, "is predicated on hard work and careful attention to detail. As long as you can hold those things in check, you should come out all right in the end."

Although Vince's will be closed June 17 through July 9, we heartily urge you to try their Italian and sea food specialties (if you haven't already) when they return.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

ABBEY ROAD 1316 Broadway Burlingame

A lively night spot, decidedly where the action is if you're looking for new dimensions in excitement and good times. The dance music is provided by one of the wildest groups in the business. Big Mitch and Universe, and you won't be disappointed when you hit the dance floor to gyrate to their sounds. Another nice feature at Abbey Road is the fact that there is no cover charge. Owners Maurice and Burt also showcase topnotch bands on Sunday and Monday nights; currently marqued on these two evenings is Visions.

Shipwreck Kelly's Restaurant, thanks to the careful planning of general manager Thomas T. Sturgis and to the superb cooking of master chef Arthur W. Davis, a man who has won numerous awards for his seafood cuisine. Davis worked for more than 20 years at Exposition Fish Grotto at Fisherman's Wharf and was hailed worldwide for his crab mornay, among others. The hotel also sports ample banquet facilities and an outstanding coffee shop. Other Airport Marine Hotels are located in Fresno, Los Angeles, Albuquerque and Grand Rapids.

BALKAN VILLAGE 4898 El Camino Real Los Altos 968-7251

Don't be surprised if owner Louie Gundunas steps up to your table and picks it up with his teeth and dances away with it. This time-honored Greek form of entertainment is a standard happening here. Long before "Never on Sunday" and "Zorba the Greek" popularized the Greek way of life to many Americans, "The Happy Greek" opened this restaurant-taverna to bring us "the food, customs, dances and spirit" of Greece. Since then the Balkan Village has been an authentic slice of Greece and the unquestioned mecca for lovers of Authentic Greek and Middle Eastern food and dance in California. Lamb, of course, is a specialty, offered as Lamb Kapama, marinated, braised and sauteed in spice sauce, or as the popular Shish Kebab, with Rice Pilaf Armenian-style. For something more daring, try Moussaka, a delicious stuffed eggplant. To be really "with it" drink Ouzo, the anise-flavored liquor. They serve many Grecian resinated wines, like Retsina. Afterwards relax with Turkish or Athenian coffee and Metaxa, the Greek brandy and watch Louie "do his thing." He sings and dances just as he did in "Zorba" on Broadway. New York, during its long run. A bouzouki orchestra entertains for modern and folk dancing. On Tuesday nights, beginner's and advanced instruction in Greek dancing is given. A three-hour session is only $1.50. Never a cover charge. Private banquet facilities for lunch and dinner, and maybe a show by the colorful and dynamic Louie. Open from 5 p.m. daily except Monday.

THE BAND STAND 3033 El Camino Real Redwood City-Atherton

Although this night spot is only open on Friday and Saturday nights now, it makes up for its short term by packing several nights of action into one. This is due to the showcasing of well-known groups which create a swingin' atmosphere that has to be seen to be believed. The band currently "in residence" is Our Father's Sons. True "nightowls" will also be pleased to find that this club also presents after-hours entertainment on Fridays and Saturdays. Minors are always welcome at the Band Stand.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN HOTEL

44 East Third Avenue
San Mateo
344-2511

Erwin Best has always been known for his reasonable prices and is now offering in his Greenwillow dining room a special prime rib dinner (full course) on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays for less than $4. No wonder they call this hotel the "Park Avenue of the Peninsula." In addition to the special dinner, Best also offers a low-priced breakfast, lunch and dinner menu. Hours in the Greenwillow Room are 6 a.m. to 8:45 p.m. Another specialty offered by the Ben Franklin Hotel are cocktails for 60 cents. Should you want the jumbo size, it'll cost you all of 80 cents. Executive chef is Tom Delano, a man who is famous for his desserts: Cherry Cobbler, Dutch Apple Pie and Bavarian Cream Pie. Our hats are off to Erwin Best for making this one of the favored spots in San Mateo.

BEN JONSON

The Cannery
2801 Leavenworth
San Francisco
770-4433

The theme of merry old England has been kept alive by this outstanding Elizabethan-style restaurant in the heart of one of San Francisco's great tourist attractions, The Cannery. The decor is entirely authentic and the menu has been limited so the chefs can concentrate on providing only the very best. Both businessmen and tourists drop in for lunches and dinners, and sip their wine from flagons of old. The Long Gallery, with its beautifully-carved fireplace and paneled walls, is a unique spot to enjoy leisurely cocktails. This is the restaurant unique among restaurants because of its Ben Jonson atmosphere and such offbeat dishes as roasted duck (served with apples) and Fore dishes.

BELLA VISTA RESTAURANT

13451 Skyline Boulevard
Woodside
851-9994

Jeannette Hagon is the imaginative gal running this scenic dining spot located in the redwoods, on state route Highway 35. The superb atmosphere of the room blends gently with the view of the Bay and surrounding areas through the huge windows. The cuisine has remained outstanding over the years and the service has always been above reproach. A great place

BERTOLUCCI'S

421 Cypress Avenue
South San Francisco
588-1625

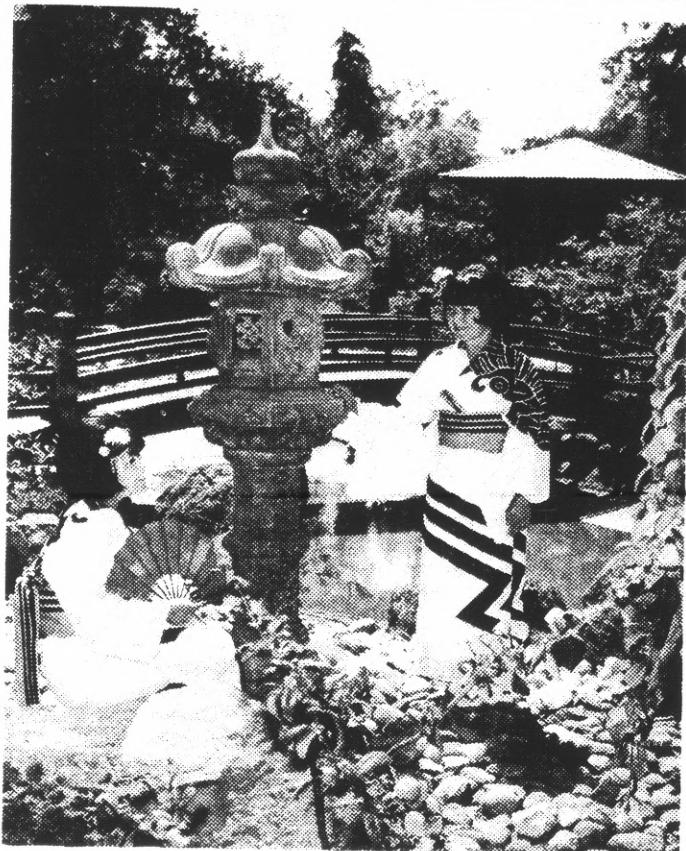

After all these years, Bertolucci's is still a thriving family enterprise, owned and operated by Mamma Bertolucci, her son Larry and daughter Lola. Mamma, who is famed throughout the Bay Area for her cannelloni, has always kept a watchful eye on the kitchen to be certain her original recipes are followed to the letter. In fact, she goes so far as to make personal trips to Sonoma for fresh mushrooms and to Half Moon Bay for succulent artichokes. Celebrities are dropping in constantly (many of them from the world of sports). Banquet facilities are available for as many as 250 persons, and so this restaurant is busy day and night. The Mediterranean Room makes for a wonderful cocktail lounge. Sunday is always considered family day at Bertolucci's. Open seven days a week. Hors d'oeuvres served from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

BRENTWOOD LODGE

101 Brentwood Drive
South San Francisco
583-6263

The Brentwood Lodge is a truly elegant, yet reasonably priced, dining establishment owned by John Graziano and Vic Seafani, who also own and operate Woodlake Joe's in San Mateo. The Brentwood recently introduced a new, modified dinner menu which is having great success. Prices for most complete dinners now range from $3.95 to $4.95, with Italian dishes, seafood and steaks all being available. A la carte items are also numerous. The house specialty, as most diners will readily attest to, still remains roast prime rib of beef. Excellent facilities are also available for special parties, wedding receptions and banquets for up to 300 persons. The Lodge's spacious lounge is also a favored "watering spot" for many business executives from around the South San Francisco-San Bruno areas.

THE JAPANESE GARDEN, located in Central Park in downtown San Mateo, is one of the most popular attractions for visitors in the Peninsula area. Representing an investment of more than $1,000,000, the garden was developed and constructed primarily through contributions from the city's Japanese-American residents. It is considered one of the finest and most authentic Oriental gardens to be found anywhere in the country. The pool in the middle of the garden is stocked with Imperial carp imported from Japan.

BLACK FOREST INN

376 First Street
Los Altos
940-5031

German and continental cuisine, served under the management of owner Emmanuel Frenay. Families are always welcome here — in fact the family trade is very important to Frenay, for he feels it is the foundation of America. There is a beer garden located behind the restaurant, so that you might enjoy your favorite drinks in a tranquil, countrylike atmosphere. The beer is both imported and domestic. #### THE BLACK HORSE

269 Primrose Road
Burlingame
343-0200

The interior is plush, which makes it great for relaxed dining or intimate cocktails. Under the ownership of Harry Stollar, this spot has bustled for years with luncheon goers, cocktail sippers. As of two weeks ago, the Black Horse is also serving dinners. Available 7 nights a week, dinners begin at $2.75. A favorite with hearty appetites is the one pound T-bone. All entrees are served complete with soup, tossed green salad, pasta, corn-on-the-cob and toasted garlic cheese bread. Lunches are served daily, Mondays thru Fridays, with cocktail hours prevailing each of the same evenings from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

BROTHERS

95 East Third Avenue
San Mateo
343-2311

A delicatessen-restaurant that is a must if Kosher style is your meat. Who are the Brothers? Glad you asked — they're famed for catering to home and office parties and are the original "meal in a sandwich" creators. The El Camino, for example, is an open-faced sandwich which incorporates succulent key, Swiss cheese, sliced tomatoes and hard-boiled eggs. Then there's a three-decker that even Dagwood Burnstead would become wide-eyed over. The delicatessen portion is connected directly to the restaurant, so you watch them slice and serve.

BUFFY'S

35 Laurie Meadows Drive
San Mateo
574-9818

Owner Bob "Buffy" Elliott specializes in steaks and pizzas at moderate prices, in a family style atmosphere of self-service and salad bar. Nothing pretentious about this place — come in your shirt sleeves. The dinner specials run only $1.39 with Monday offering pizza, Tuesday offering spaghetti and Wednesday offering fried chicken. Children under ten can have the dinner at half price. The cost of the dinner, believe it or not, includes soup or salad. Beer and wine are available.

BRUNO'S

Mission at 20th
824-2258

"The Home of the Friars" in San Francisco and one of the most popular of Joe-style Italian operations. Owned by the Darti Investment Company, which has several Taco Bell sites throughout the Bay Area, Bruno's offers not only excellent Italian specialties of the house (under the kitchen expertise of Don Jones and others) but has superb facilities for business meetings and special parties. #### CASTAWAY

Coyote Point
San Mateo
347-1027

Perched on a picturesque point, with an all-encompassing view of the Bay and San Francisco International Airport, this restaurant nestled in a lovely grove of trees offers Polynesian-style dining in an elegant, lush atmosphere. General Manager Angelo Ferroni has put together an unforgettable dinner menu that is exotic in flavor and rich in variety. Broiled Mahi Mahi and Alaskan Crab Legs are both considered to be house specialties, as well as Steak Teriyaki. The latter is marinated in an exotic recipe from the Islands and then charcoal broiled to order. Saronged cocktail waitresses serve cocktails in the tropical lounge which also offers patrons a superb view. A buffet lunch is available daily from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., with regular Aloha luncheon items served until 4 p.m. Additional treats for luncheon goers at the Castaway are models and fashions from Ron's Hawaiian. A magnificent Sunday Brunch is served from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. every Sunday. It's a fashionable tradition for many Peninsula residents.

CHICKEN UNLIMITED

901 South 'B' Street
San Mateo
347-1297

The name pretty well tells the story. There's never a shortage of chicken thighs, wings or legs at this restaurant which specializes in rapid-service fried chicken. But you'll find other kinds of food here—namely, the mammoth Whamburger, Fish 'n Chips, Fried Shrimp, hot dogs and assorted cold drinks. However, this restaurant's reputation has grown mainly because of the chicken, and the high quality standards of owner Ed Chalkagian. Ed has what he calls "Parties Unlimited," which means he'll provide complete party dinners for each guest at any kind of party or outing. He and his staff can feed groups of ten, fifty, a hundred, or even more. For groups of 100 or more, prices for dinner begin as low as $1.25 per person. The next time you're planning a summer gathering, let Chicken Unlimited do the work.

CHUCK'S STEAK HOUSE

160 Bovet Road
San Mateo
349-1015

This restaurant, conveniently located in San Mateo's Borel Square, was one of the original steakhouse-type operations to open on the Peninsula. As the owners maintain, it's often been imitated, but never duplicated. Chuck's is known for high quality, serving only the very best beef available. From the petite filet to the sirloin to the New York, all the steaks served here rate with the best to be found in many restaurants charging double the price. The combination steak and lobster is a menu mainstay, along with the Teriyaki steak, which is considered the house specialty. Along with the steaks, Chuck's is also known for its serve-yourself saladbar. On weekends, you'll always find top-notch entertainment in the intimate lounge. This is one of the few dining establishments in the area that hasn't raised menu prices recently. The owners keep paying the higher meat prices without passing on this cost to diners.

CONCERTO MUSIC AGENCY

56 West 41st Avenue
San Mateo
341-2954

The Concerto Music Agency is synonymous with the name Al King, for it is Al (a jovial, fast-talking, back-slapping, story-telling reconteur (talent scout) who has made the Concerto Agency what it is today. If there is anyone in the Bay Area who knows how to book an act, it is Al King. The list seems endless when you start to think of all the talent he's discovered down through the years. We won't even try to give you a sample. So if you're looking for a new act (or just want to hear the latest jokes) drop by Al's office.

COSTA BRAVA

2011 Bayshore Boulevard
San Francisco
467-3157

Lots of changes have taken place in recent months at this scenic dining room overlooking the Bayshore Freeway that offers views of downtown San Francisco. The penthouse is now sporting Warren Halpin as new general manager. Warren's wife Normalee is the assistant hostess in charge of banquets and catering. If you dig lady bartenders, take a gander at Dori Severin and Joahna Lee and we guarantee you'll want to order a second drink. In addition to the fine cuisine, the Costa Brava has always been a popular entertainment spot with the Floyd Drake Trio playing Wednesday through Saturday, Jerry Jackson at the piano. The lovely Zarkana, of Moorish-Spanish decent, is the shapely belly dancer who undulates to music Wednesday through Saturday. Zarkana, for those who are curious, began her career in Latin American dance and progressed into gypsy Flamenco before finally deciding to wiggle in an Eastern style.

Steak and seafood dinners are the specialties of the house for this restaurant which is part of the Crosswinds Corporation. General manager is personable Hal Bobrow while John Ebert serves as assistant manager. Lunches are served daily from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and are highlighted by such High Flying Sandwiches as the Albatross, the Sopwith Camel, the Zeppelin, the Golden Flyer and the Fokker. Dinners are served seven nights a week, Monday through Saturday from 5:30 p.m., Sundays from 5 p.m. There is entertainment Wednesday through Saturday, a different group playing every night. The theme is aviation, with the first pilot to cross the English Channel in an airplane the motif of the restaurant.

Bay Meadows Race Track Works Both Day and Night

Bay Meadows, the popular equine emporium ideally situated in the city of San Mateo, nestled between Bayshore Freeway and historic El Camino Real, may not be the busiest race track in the world, but it's darn close to it.

Not only is the former "peanut plant" (built in 1933 by the late Bill Kyne) an unusually busy place, it offers Bay Area racing fans the most diversified programs anywhere in this or the other hemisphere.

And this summer and fall, Bay Meadows is going to be busier and more entertaining than ever before.

Starting July 30, when the San Mateo County Fair opens its 12-day meeting, there will be racing at the Peninsula plant until almost Christmas. It is no longer peanut sized. Expansion and improvements have converted it into an outstanding palace for presentation of the "sport of Kings."

The San Mateo County Fair, the most successful of the race meetings on the burgeoning summer-long fair circuit, will present both quarter horse and thoroughbred racing, with the latter the piece de resistance of the annual two-week exposition.

Presented in conjunction with the floral fiesta at the fairgrounds adjoining Bay Meadows to the north, the San Mateo County Fair meeting is definitely of major league status. A lucrative stakes and purse program always lures many of the West's outstanding thoroughbreds and jockeys.

ROBERT S. GUNDERSON

Night harness racing has proven extremely popular throughout the United States and is especially so at Bay Meadows.

Harness racing is a regular winter feature at Bay Meadows, with four afternoon programs being enhanced by a Friday night presentation.

The fair meeting and the nighttime frolics of the trotters and pacers are just designed to whet the appetites of Bay Area racegoers.

On September 3, the thoroughbreds move in for almost four months of racing. Tanforan has the first five weeks of the lengthy season, with the California Jockey Club, operators of the track, taking over for the final 11 weeks. Things are turned over to Santa Claus following the December 22 closing until the harness horses take over again on December 28.

Other annual highlights are the historic Tanforan Handicap, the top attraction on the Tanforan agenda, the famed Children's Hospital Handicap, which has helped raise more than two and a half million dollars for the building fund at the San Francisco Children's Hospital; and the Bay Meadows Handicap, the Atherton is president and chief executive officer of the California Jockey Club and oversees the entire operation, while Dr. William J. Ward of Hillsborough lends his many talents to the operation of the harness and quarter horse meetings, as well as serving as assistant general for the C. J. C. thoroughbred session.

Gunderson and Dr. Ward are two of the most respected men in racing and they add considerable stature to all of the Meadows' ventures.

Anthony "Tony" Gaggero of Daly City is the director of racing for the San Mateo County Fair. Richard Murphy, who is the general manager at Golden Gate Fields, is the guiding light for Tanforan.

Bay Meadows is in good hands and a progressive board of directors makes certain it will never lag behind other race tracks in improvements and comforts for the multitude of racing fans in Northern California.

When there isn't racing at The Meadows, a nine-hole golf course and driving range are in operation in the infield.

There may be a busier or more exciting race track than Bay Meadows somewhere on this planet. If you find it, let us know.

Highlands Inn Carmel by the Sea

West's oldest continuously run stakes event, which was inaugurated in 1934, the year the track opened for business.

Peninsulans are the guiding lights of the various extravaganzas offered at this lively and colorful race course.

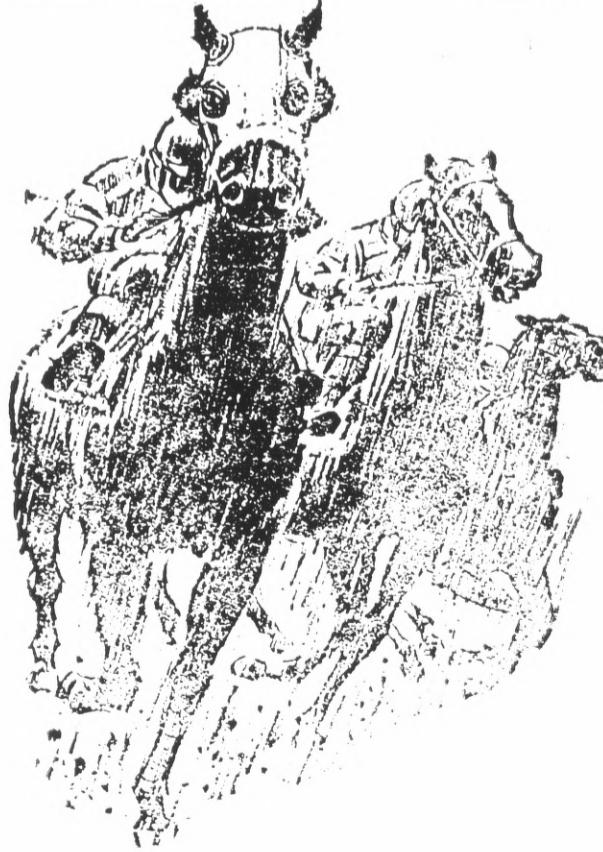

Les Vogel Jr. is chairman of the board. Robert Gunderson of

Near the entrance to the Highlands Inn Gift Shop, for your viewing pleasure, is the magnificent hand-carved credenza, designed and made by Brigham Young — a truly masterful work of art. Little mention is made of the fact that Brigham Young was a carpenter and furniture maker of prominence, long before he became the great Mormon leader, whose brains, force of personality and organizational ability commanded the hard-pressed Latter Day Saints and led them to the terrain of our far West.

This lovely cherrywood credenza represents an extraordinary creation, both in craft, design and beauty. The credenza is one of its kind, and a work of love, especially motivated by a great love. The beautiful hand-carved wooden cameo portrait on the door of the credenza is of Young's fourth plural wife, little Clara Decker, whom he chose in Nauvoo, when he was about 42 years of age. Clara was the sister of Young's first plural wife, Lucy Ann Decker. When Clara became 16 years of age, Brigham married her. Many said that Young believed in keeping things in the family, but in any event, Clara became the mother of five of his children.

Peninsula, is where all the delicious steaks are prepared. Also, the reasonable menu prices here will take you back to the 1890's as well. Open seven days a week, with luncheons served Monday through Friday. On Monday nights, Toni always features a moderately priced special. Another attraction is the restaurant's unique salad bar.

DOWN UNDER
619 Taylor
San Francisco
771-4378

Many a diner has asked for kangaroo stew, but owner-manager Don Somerville has to keep explaining that while his restaurant has an Australian motif, its cuisine is strictly American. Things like rack o' lamb, ground beef steak in mushroom sauce, sirloin steak, sirloin beef kebabs, veal scaloppini, scampi sauteed with mushrooms. Yes, the only "Bush" you'll find at the Down Under are members of the some of the bush league baseball teams. Lunches are served daily. There is a certain degree of intimacy since the Down Under, which was once a basement storage area, is broken up into several tiny nooks and crannies.

DRAGON FOUNTAIN
RESTAURANT
941 Kearny Street
San Francisco
362-8299

Located just on the fringe of Chinatown, only a block from the Oriental bustle of Grant Avenue, the Dragon Fountain is a place that is frequented by those who really know different Chinese cuisine. While much of its clientele is Chinese, there are also countless Americans who drop in here looking for something more than fried rice. You can order food to go. So if you want something offbeat, the Dragon Fountain is the place for you.

DRAGON'S GATE CHINESE
RESTAURANT
855 Laurel at Arroyo
San Carlos

In downtown San Carlos, there is nothing to surpass the Dragon's Gate, which was recently renovated, which means you can now dine in greater luxury. The Cantonese dishes are as authentic as the Great Wall of China, so you can be sure you're getting the real McCoy and not some imitation or pseudo-Chinese dish. Open Monday through Thursday from 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday from 4 to 9:30 p.m.

FINDLEY'S FABULOUS
FUDGE
1035 Geary Street
San Francisco
673-6655

Lorraine Sternberger owns and operates this specialty store offering 12 different flavors of fudge — and each, we can assure you, is very very San Francisco in flavor. "Even snobs love fudge," claims Lorraine. Findley's sends your orders all over the world, which makes them excellent gift items. So don't hesitate or fudge — get right over to Findley's and place your orders today. Or just ask for a piece of fudge and eat it on the spot.

FINOCCHIO'S
506 Broadway
San Francisco

You have to give him credit where it's due — Joe Finocchio has given class and distinction to the art of female impersonation. His North Beach night club has been featuring the very finest of female impersonators for decades, always in a star-studded aura of beauty and finesse. Right now the four revues nightly are featuring such stalwarts as Carroll Wallace, Lavern Cummings, Elton Paris, Jackie Phillips, Russell Reed, Pat

Montclair, Bobby de Castro, Renee and Antonio, Estuardo and Maria and the Eytettes. Tourists by the thousands are attracted to this unusual niter every year and despite the Topless, Bottomless and other sex-oriented movements in the area, the Finocchio bastion remains the most successful. And there's never any problems with the Police Department. "My fellas," says the effervescent Joe, "always conduct themselves in a ladylike manner."

THE FISHERMAN
1492 Old Bayshore Highway
Burlingame

Seafood and Italian specialties in one of the Peninsula's most picturesque and scenic settings — on the Bay in Burlingame.

Chef Salvatore Patane brings "the ocean to your table" with centuries-old Sicilian recipes. His genius with every fish of the sea includes delicately sauteed Calamari ala Bella Maniera, savory Sea Bass ala via Reggio and Seafood Cannelloni. If you prefer meat dishes, try Saltimbocca or Veal Parmigiana. And feast on one of the great pasta specialties of Italy. Your host and manager is handsome Richard Patane. Men waiters, all trained in Europe, can take your order in German, Italian, Yiddish and other languages. You dine on terraces with sweeping views of passing boats and airport landings, all framed by huge picture windows. When darkness settles on the bay, The Fisherman swings with nightly dance music in the lounge. Dynamic Tony Hall is the current singing headliner. Lunch and dinner are served continuously from 11:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. ala Fisherman's Wharf. Banquets up to 200 can be accommodated in the upstairs Santa Maria Room where the view is equally spectacular. Celebrities have discovered this seafood restaurant whose dramatic architecture suggests an inverted boat.

FRANK TORRES' BEACH
HOTEL
Coast Highway One
Montara

If any restaurateur has given the Coastsider a reputation, it is Frank Torres. With his charming wife, Fannie, he has become an institution. Mainly for lasting all these years without losing his popularity, and mainly for serving South American specialties of the house which cannot be ordered anywhere else in the Bay Area. Papas Rellenos are the all-time favorite here, with Aroz con Pollo (chicken prepared South American style) taking a close second. Silver smelt, salmon, abalone and Ceviche (pickled fish) are other popular items. Open Wednesday through Sunday. A picturesque view of the Pacific Ocean is offered from the main dining room. A lighting system provides a nocturnal view of said ocean.

15 No. Kingston
San Mateo
348-9709

Mary Mayi is the industrious lady behind the operation here. Activities range from various contests for the neighborhood youngsters to special meal discounts for senior citizens. Breakfast, lunch and dinners are served, with various items also prepared for take-out. The Freeway's true specialty, which should definitely be mentioned, is homemade pastry. You can't believe the selection of bakery items available.

THE FRANCISCAN
Fisherman's Wharf
San Francisco
362-7733

Owned by George Burger, and managed by the amiable George Skaaf, with his son Richard serving as assistant manager, this seafood house has never lost its impetus as one of the leading Fisherman's Wharf spots. People have been known to come from all over the world to partake in such delicacies as Bouillabaise a la Marseillaise, Broiled Swordfish Steak, Crab Cioppino and Crabmeat Newburg with rice pilaf. A fine view of the Bay and San Francisco skyline is possible via the huge bay windows. A loudspeaker system announces all incoming or outgoing vessels. Open weekdays from 11 a.m. for lunches and dinners. Open Saturday and Sundays as well.

GOLDEN PAVILION
Sacramento and Grant Avenue.
San Francisco
392-2334

Overlooking the bustle and color of Chinatown from a high second floor vantage point, where Grant Avenue meets Sacramento Street, is the Golden Pavilion, a Chinese restaurant of great elegance. Although it is a favorite of San Francisco visitors, it has long been a place for local Chinese because it offers a variety of Chinese regional cuisines, correctly prepared by native chefs and served in traditional manners. Foods of Shanghai, Peking, Szechuan, Yangchow, Honan, Shantung, and Fukien are all represented. Well-travelers, foreign diplomats, Hollywood luminaries like their Eight Treasures Duck, Abalone Filets with Black Mushrooms and Finger Lobster Flambee, sweet and tender baby lobsters from Scandinavia, toss cooked. Honored by Guide Julliard, Mobil Travel Guide, Holiday and Diner's Choice. Banquet facilities up to 200, intimate Fireplace Cocktail Lounge. Their famous Dinner of the Month is an eight course feast with menu of unusual delicacies chosen by president George Chow. Call them about dates and free menu letter.

Home cooking family style, is an art form that has almost been lost in an age of instant-heating ovens and frozen shrimp. However, the Gold Spike has not permitted this old tradition to die. Since 1920, Italian-style dinners have been offered to literally millions of people. Over the years a steady clientele has spread the word to others until it's often difficult to get a table. It is the kind of restaurant of which legends are born. Cocktails can be ordered. Open daily except Wednesday.

GARZA'S MEXICAN RESTAURANT
2310 So. El Camino Real
574-9699

Manuel Garza, owner of this well-established Mexican restaurant, was raised in a neighborhood where mothers often prepared Spanish rice, stew and re-fried beans for their children. Enchiladas, tacos, tostadas, burritos and numerous other Mexican dishes were only prepared on special occasions. And Manuel says that he didn't miss many of these special occasions. Last year, shortly after taking over the operation of Garza's, he re-visited his small hometown in the Southern part of Texas. Besides seeing his mother, he talked with several neighborhood women he remembered from childhood. The result of this visit was a treasure chest full of authentic Mexican recipes, which are used daily at Garza's. Manuel's favorite dish is a plate of enchiladas, prepared with a recipe he discovered while visiting friends when in the Navy. This recipe is also used for preparation of all enchiladas served at Garza's. But Manuel says that the ultimate Mexican dish is yet to be served. Soon, he plans on serving what his father called Barbacoa en Posada. This is a large beef roast, heavily spiced, which takes about 12 hours of preparation.

THE GREAT AMERICAN MUSIC HALL
859 O'Farrell
San Francisco
885-0750

Under the management of Tom Bradshaw, this "music hall" has in recent times become one of the leading showcases for name entertainers in the music-jazz-rock field. Glenn Yarbrough, who has retired so many times the government is thinking about making him permanent pension programmer, is coming out of retirement again with his Limeliters to play the Music Hall June 21-30. Which should shape up to be an outstanding engagement. Minors are always welcome here, and there is no minimum. Advance tickets can be purchased through Macy's and Ticketron.

GRAZIANO'S RESTAURANT
453 Pine Street
San Francisco
981-4800

Located in the heart of the Financial District, this restaurant is busiest at lunchtime. It is also known as an evening eating place, which means business starts to pick up at 8 p.m. or after. There are daily specials

Tuesday through Saturday: veal cutlet parmesana with pasta, chicken cordon bleu with colbert sauce and rex sole saute meuniere. Luncheons served Monday through Friday, dinners Monday through Saturday. The Venturi Banquet Room is available for private occasions. Fresh flowers are set daily at each table, and the lovely chandeliers give the room a warm, cozy feeling. Tom Duffy is your host.

GEORGE (MAGAR) MARDIKIAN, owner of Omar Khayyam's Restaurant in San Francisco, California, was born in Armenia and is a naturalized American citizen. Came to the United States of America in 1922.

Mr. Mardikian, after working in different restaurants, took a job as a steward on a round-the-world cruise in 1928. He opened his first restaurant, Omar Khayyam's in Fresno, California, in 1930, and his San Francisco restaurant in 1938.

Worked with Near East Relief and former President Herbert Hoover's Food Relief Program, 1920-1922 in the Caucasus Region.

Expert Food Consultant to the United States Army from 1942 through 1954, and his work won him the admiration of all servicemen. He is known as "The GI's Chow Champion." He has travelled all over the world and has tried to solve food problems where we have had contingents of men in the Armed Services. His last contribution to the U.S. Army in 1972 won him a new commendation from Lt. General John D. McLaughlin. He was awarded War Department commendations by Secretary of War, General Eisenhower, General Joseph McNarney, General Mathew Ridgway, General James Van Fleet, General Mark Clark as an expert Food Consultant.

Mr. Mardikian received commendations also from former Presidents Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman and President Eisenhower for army food conservation and betterment of army food.

cor and atmosphere and their ability to blend food, cocktails and entertainment into a winning combination. The Royal Hall is the dining pavilion at the Holiday Inn, and at its entrance stand knights in black armor next to a set of iron gates. Nightly lounge entertainment is provided by the MacDonalds, Patty and Mac. But, Mike Quivey, the Inn's youthful Food and Beverage Director, is particularly proud of the Holiday's Sunday Brunch. Served from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. every Sunday, it rates as one of the best brunches served anywhere in the Bay Area. Mike also oversees the Inn's excellent banquet facilities, which always seem to be in demand by various businesses in the area.

HOLIDAY INN
1101 Shoreway Drive
Belmont
591-1471

Now under the able management of personable Joe De Dio, this hotel has seen a bit of remodeling in the past few weeks. Now, a totally new look and image can be found in the Inn's dining room and lounge, which have been named the Gold Coast and Ivory Coast Rooms, respectively. And in keeping with the tropical look, you will find that Joe and his staff have introduced a remarkable new menu. One of the more popular items is the Marine World Platter, an array of fresh seafood. A house specialty here, which Joe particularly recommends, is the Bouillabaisse. In the adjacent Ivory Coast lounge, you'll always find the best in live entertainment. Currently headlining and drawing record crowds is Tashombe, who appears nightly, Tuesdays through Saturdays.

While he taught school by day, Sal Campagna dons a new hat as the sun begins to set. He becomes the host (sometimes the bartender) for this steakhouse. Although small in terms of seating capacity, the House of Troy is big on its steaks and prime rib. The latter is a specialty on weekends and holidays. A ladies cut is offered of this aged choice beef, roasted slowly. Luncheons are offered Monday through Fri-

He has received glowing commendations from President Nixon for his Americanism: Founder and President of the American National Committee to Aid Homeless Armenians (ANCH) since 1947. President of United Broadcasting Company. Recipient of Medal of Freedom (1951). Recipient of the "Americanism Medal" 1958. Recipient of Boy Scouts "Silver Buffalo" award, June, 1959. Recipient of National Recognition Award, 1972 — Freedom's Foundation at Valley Forge.

Was Member of the Hoover Task Force of the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of Government. Recipient of the American Citizen of the Year 1972 award 40-8 American Legion. Recipient of the 1972 Business Leader of the Year award from Religious Heritage of America.

Mr. Mardikian is a member of the National Council and Region XII of Boy Scouts; Executive Board Member of the San Francisco Boy Scouts Council; Director of San Francisco Boys' Club; also a member of the following clubs: Writers' Club; Commonwealth Club of San Francisco; the San Francisco Rotary Club and the Bohemian Club; American Overseas Association, Bay Area Group; The American Humanities Foundation; International Envoy Club.

He is author of "Dinner At Omar Khayyam's," 1944; "Song Of America" (autobiography), 1956; he has also contributed articles to many national magazines.

However, you'll also find Hugo's, a magnificent restaurant that rates as one of the Bay Area's finest dining rooms. Beginning with a selection of tasty hors d'oeuvres, through dessert and coffee, dining here is a pleasurable event. In the adjacent Hugo's Bistro, you'll always find dancing and top-name entertainment. This policy of big "name" entertainers will be continued by John Dixon, the Hyatt's new General Manager. Excellent banquet and meeting facilities, with Food and Beverage Director Tom Lemon being in constant motion as he keeps up with the many groups utilizing the facilities.

Sometimes a menu can be so large and overwhelming that you just can't make up your mind. Bearing this in mind, General Manager Doug Young has conceived a menu which allows his experienced chefs to concentrate their attention on only a select number of items so that they might perfect them. Thus, it is that at the International Inn Restaurant you will find perfection — perfection in the Mustard Steak a la Royce (which is prepared right at your table), perfection in the Filet of English Sole, perfection in the Paillard Marchard, perfection in Tournedos Choron with artichoke bottoms. The Inn is set to handle all your special banquets, wedding receptions, fraternal and businessmen's luncheons and dinners. Private parties are also welcome here. Also on the premises and managed by Young is a bustling coffee shop, which has quite a reputation for turning out fast and efficient breakfasts, lunches and dinners.

Story of Charles Krug Rewarding Gift of Toil and Unusual Crop of Grapes

The story of Charles Krug and his wines is based on historical fact. Like the German folksong poem, "Die Schatzgraber" (The Treasure Seekers) which tells about a dying vinegrower who told his sons about a treasure buried in his vineyard and they must dig for it. They found out that the treasure was not gold, but nature's rewarding gift of toil — an unusual crop of grapes.

Charles Krug, born in Prussia in 1825, came to San Francisco in 1852 and busied himself with several enterprises — but all the time looking over California's fertile soil and its possibilities for an agricultural development.

In 1858, using a small cider press, Krug made the first wine ever made in Napa County from the grapes of a vineyard near Napa City. Krug, thereby, becoming the pioneer wine maker of Napa Valley.

His ambition of having his own vineyard and winery came about in 1861. His renown as a vintner was such that he became President of the Viticultural Association and a State Viticultural Commissioner.

This vineyard has proven even purer and finer, as his successors, C. Mondavi & Sons, and the present day wines produced and bottled by them at Charles Krug Winery will attest.

The Oak Room, once Krug's carriage house and stable, are native stone structures which form the core of the present group of buildings containing the finest equipment known to the art of wine making. The beautiful bottling room and warehouse are recent additions, and house offices and glass lined storage tanks as well as facilities for bottling, labeling and storage.

C. Mondavi & Sons, wine makers of established reputation, realize that the fine wines of the world are the result of care, patience, and an inborn love of wine.

Charles Krug Winery, under the able personal supervision of the Mondavi family, is making wines which stand in the front rank of California's finest.

The reputation of a wine maker is the best guarantee of the quality of a wine. On a wine label, the words "Produced and Bottled by Charles Krug Winery" are hallmarks of fine quality.

A place where you can eat the finest pizzas made at the same time you're listening to music from a gigantic Wurlitzer organ. While the pizzas have anchovies, olives, salami and the standard (but delicious) ingredients, the Wurlitzer has 1500 chortling pipes and devices. Some famous people, such as Korla Pandit, have performed here, and will probably be performing again in the near future, claims owner Ken Pruitt. Another nice feature at Ken's Melody Inn is the rare film classics, featuring W. C. Fields, Charles Chaplin, Laurel and Hardy and Tarzan. Open daily from 4:30 p.m. Closed Mondays.

El Camino and Millbrae Ave.,
Millbrae

888 El Camino, Menlo Park
89 El Camino, Mountain View also Vacaville
and Hilo, Hawaii

Ken Pruitt, owner of this chain which spawned on the Peninsula, named these "pancake houses," but he might just as well have named them after omelets, steaks, seafood, chicken or salads. These are full-menu family restaurants which serve all of these things and more. For instance, they have become justly famous for their superb and unusual omelets. Try "Chef's Choice," a heavenly blend of spinach, sausage and herbs, covered with Bordelaise sauce. Others of the light, fluffy, three-egg international omelets include "Country-Style," "Florentine," "Chili" and "Aux Confiture" with jelly and powdered sugar. Prices are moderate and children are always welcome. All except Menlo Park are open 24 hours for that late evening snack. Cocktail lounges, too, at all locations except Menlo. Menus include steaks, deep-fried prawns, hefty sandwiches and many continental dishes. Every table has its own pot of coffee. Open seven days for breakfast, lunch and dinner. Genial Jim Cunningham is co-owner of the Menlo branch, Charles Nafe oversees Millbrae. Incidentally, curly Kathy Lineham, one of San Mateo County's first women bartenders, mixes your drinks in the Millbrae cocktail lounge, managed by William "Dubbie" Doran. Oh, yes, they serve 16 kinds of golden light pancakes from old-fashioned sourdough yeast recipes. Try Apple Pancakes, with generous portion of fruit slices in egg-rich batter and cinnamon glaze. Or German Pancake. Old Heidelberg-style with fresh lemon and sugar.

L'AUBERGE
2826 El Camino Real
Redwood City

George Bollag, master chef, and Louis Frutschi, debonair maître d', are co-owners of this bastion of French haute cuisine. Bollag is Swiss-born and trained in top Swiss hotel schools. His expertise in the kitchen is unquestioned. In fact, he is consultant to the Food Technology Department at Canada College. Frutschi is a dashing host and a wine connoisseur. Together the formidable pair have forged a restaurant which encompasses all the necessities of dining in the grand manner. House specialties include Medallion of Veal du Patron, Scampi Bordelaise, Noisette of Lamb Chef George. The Steak Diane, flamed at tableside, is a delight, as are the array of desserts. Soufflé Grand Marnier or Chocolate. Cherries Jubilee and Strawberries Romanoff are exquisite. The wine cellar is legendary: Chateau Lafite Rothschild '64, '66, '68, Romanée Conti '67, Chateau d'Yquem, and similar rare vintages. Rhone, Loire, Alsatian, Rhine, Moselle, Italian and the best American wines, too. Open 7 days for dinner, weekdays for lunch.

LA CICOGNE
63 East Third Avenue
San Mateo
347-3839

With La Cigogne, an elegant French restaurant in the downtown area of San Mateo, owners Fernand and Norbert Wagner and Rene Chagniot have brought haute cuisine to the Peninsula. Their restaurant's rapidly-growing and justly-earned reputation is due mainly to the kitchen artistry of Fernand, who appropriately received the majority of his culinary training in Europe. His superb dinner menu can best be described as extensive, listing a wide variety of hors d'oeuvres, soups, salads, entrees and desserts. These meals are also served à la carte or complete, with an excellent selection of wines being available to complement your meal. Dinner service is every evening of the week, except Sunday. Lunches, Monday through Friday. Rene is your gracious maître d', while Norbert can usually be found blending cocktails and words of wisdom in the restaurant's sophisticated lounge.

LE BISTRO ROUGE
109 West 25th Avenue
San Mateo
574-7766

Dimitrios Fanopoulos, a native of Greece, is host at this French-style restaurant which has gained a considerable reputation for culinary artistry. The Continental cooking consists of many dishes, each smothered in a special sauce that is light, subtle, delicate, and which is prepared under Dimitrios' supervision. The emphasis here is on simplicity and personalized service, all in an intimate setting. Dimitrios is especially proud of his Poulet de Grain en Casserole (cornish hen in burgundy wine sauce); Eslalopes de Veau au Citron et Capers (Veal Saute in Capers Sauce); Crevettes Bombay (prawns Saute in creamy chutney); and Ris de Veau au Beurre Sec (Sweetbreads saute in butter with wine sauce). Dimitrios is also rated as quite a wine expert. A superb selection of domestic and imported wines. A banquet room is available for both luncheon and dinner gatherings.

THE LEANING TOWER
713 No. Linden Avenue
South San Francisco
583-5539

The Ercoli Brothers, Joe and Lou, are carrying on the tradition established by their father, Francois Ercoli, who was a culinary artist. Famed as an Italian restaurant, the Tower rates such dishes as Veal Scaloppini Tosca and Veal Cutlet Valdostanan as house specialties. Of course, patrons are always praising Joe's remarkable Cannelloni. In addition to a wide choice of Italian selections, patrons here will also find several items from the restaurant's charcoal broiler, including a Giant New York steak, always a favorite during the baseball season. Lunches are always busy, as it's definitely a favored mid-day retreat for scores of local businessmen. There are also two private banquet rooms. One is ideal for private dinner parties, while the larger room even features a private bar.

A French restaurant, one of the best of its kind in the area, located at the Marina. The food here is strictly authentic and is highlighted by such specialties of the house such as escargots, onion soup, duckling monmorency, baby rack of lamb, provencale, steak au poivre flambe and coq au vin. Open nightly from 6 p.m.

LOVE'S BARBECUE RESTAURANT
240 El Camino Real
San Carlos
591-5337

While this restaurant stressing barbecue specialties has only been in operation for about six months, it has already made a tremendous impact on diners. Owner Mark Mar has placed his emphasis on speedy service and economic prices, not to mention ribs, beef, ham, pork, chicken, shrimp and steaks. (All meats, by the way, are wood cooked.) The Lions Den is fast becoming a popular site for cocktail gatherings. There's plenty of free parking. Open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Friday and Saturday until midnight.

THE LANAI

345-1242

Take the entire portion of Northern California and you won't find another restaurant like this one. Once again, give the credit where it's due—to owner Emerson Murfee, who also owns the Villa Chartier located next door. The Polynesian theme includes exotic orchid plants, a colorful waterfall and continually wafting Hawaiian music—all within a tropi-like setting. All your favorite rum drinks (otherwise known as "exotics") are available here, including the "Moonkist Pineapple," "The Blonde Witch" and "Side Winder's Bang." (Whatever happened to the good old-fashioned mai-tai?) Group parties can be held here with island specialties. The Lanai is Polynesian inside and out, and our leis are off to Mr. Murfee for making this such a popular place.

MABUHAY GARDENS
443 Broadway
956-3315

An outstanding Filipino restaurant, with a menu that presents to the residents of San Francisco for the first time an authentic series of culinary delights. Actually, Filipino cooking is made up of many countries and therefore your taste buds will be in for a real treat. The management believes in presenting entertainment (you've got to compete when you're in the heart of the North Beach topless movement) so the current lineup is an impressive one. Comedian Mel Young offers shows Tuesday through Saturday at 9:30 and 11:30 p.m. Joining the show on Tuesday will be singer and actor Jack Belmonte. Dinner music is provided by the Carlos Aguilar Jr. Trio.

MARTINELLI'S STEAK PIT
1180 El Camino Real
Millbrae

Louella Cook, one of the most capable woman executives on the local restaurant scene, oversees this establishment with expert assistance from General Manager Lido Landi. Martinelli's, of course, is famous for its steaks of the highest quality, but you'll also find several other items on the menu. A particular favorite with many diners is the restaurant's steak and lobster combination. On Sunday nights, there's a "Family Special," a choice steak served at an exceptionally modest price, usually close to the restaurant's cost. The comfortable lounge also swings, and both Louella and Lido are kept busy booking and attending to the various groups utilizing the magnificent banquet rooms.

Philip Moy, even at 65, is a dynamo of a man who believes that "you should always provide a well-balanced meal and never skimp on the ingredients." His family-style Chinese restaurant is an unpretentious setting with ridiculously low prices: a dinner for two is as low as $3.50 and this includes chow mein, sweet and sour pork, egg fu yung, rice, tea and fortune cookies. Favorites: barbecue pork chow mein, tomato green pepper steak, bean cake with oyster sauce.

THE MOONRAKER

Roackaway Beach
359-0303

An appropriate nautical theme enhances this Coastsider restaurant which looks out over the rugged waters of the Pacific Ocean. Oceanside dining it's called, and beautiful it is. Continental cuisine makes this a favorite for those beginning a romance, or those who are continuing a romance. General manager Joseph Mollich oversees things for owner Nick Gust, a controversial man who is constantly expanding and renovating. Master chef if German-born Werner Bertram, a giant of a man (six feet three inches, 240 pounds) who specializes in soups, sauces and gravies. Open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 4 p.m. to midnight, Friday and Saturday from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m. and Sunday from 3 p.m. to midnight. Don Kelly is at the organ Wednesdays through Sundays.

THE MESA

741 San Mateo Avenue
San Bruno
588-9766

Tom Morgan and Walt Raiter are the owners of this popular niter, located near the downtown area of San Bruno. These fellows have a considerable reputation as talent since they've given that big "first break" to countless bands heading for stardom. Presently performing here on Friday and Saturday nights are the River Rats.

NEW SOUTHERN

975 El Camino Real
South San Francisco
583-0441

This restaurant, specializing in Southern-style cooking, has been a Peninsula milestone for the past 40 years. Owned by Nick Sbarra and the Donati Brothers, Reno and Julio, the New Southern is famed for serving the very best in traditional Southern cuisine. Chicken and dumplings, Roast Duckling, Southern Fried Chicken, Baked Virginia Ham . . . mashed potatoes . . . Dixie gravy . . . it's enough to make your tongue melt right in your mouth. But the list of delectable delicacies continues: homemade pies, apple dumplings, cakes, cinnamon rolls. Plus, diners will also find quite a selection of Continental and Italian dinners on the restaurant's extensive menu. Luncheons are served Mondays through Fridays from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.; dinners, Mondays through Sundays from 4 to 11 p.m., closed Tuesday nights

NINO'S

40 W. 42nd Street
341-2904

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Mongiovio are the masterminds behind this Italian Restaurant and Pizzeria, and bring to the establishment numerous years of experience in the restaurant business. There are 17 varieties of homemade pizza to go. Dinners include veal parmesana, veal cacciatore, cannelloni and steaks. Beer and wine available. The spaghetti here is excellent. The prices are moderate, for Tony has always stressed family dining. Open Tuesday through Thursday from 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., Friday and Saturday from 11:30 a.m. to midnight, Sunday from 4:30 to 7 p.m. Closed Monday.

NO. 9 FISHERMAN'S GROTTO
No. 9 Fisherman's Wharf
673-7025

Three beautiful dining rooms offer three different panoramic views of the Fisherman's Wharf area, so no wonder this is traditionally a favorite gathering place for diners. This restaurant also holds the record for returnees — it seems that once you've eaten here, it's irresistible not to go back. The menu is so extensive it's impossible to list here — suffice to say it contains all your favorite seafoods, whether hot or cold. Salads are superb. M. Gerald and Sons are your hosts. Nino L. Gerolo is general manager and partner. A great place to dine. Open 7 days.

OMELETTE HOUSE
514 Peninsula Avenue
San Mateo
348-9883

This is an omelette haven operated by Redwood City attorney Dennis L. Woodman, who first received his restaurant experience while serving as national secretary-treasurer for the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary. The choices here are limitless, with the omelettes falling under such general headings as Spanish, Herb, Cheese, Crab, Asparagus, Italian Sausage, Smoked Salmon, Fresh Chicken Liver, etc., etc. There is also the now-famous U-Do-It, which consists of any kind of combination you would like to select from the menu. Each omelette comes complete with banana nut bread, orange slices, dates and French bread. That's-A-Nice Combination is a special plate of cheese slices, fruit balls and Trenton oyster crackers that is an ideal way to start off your meal. Another enticement here, especially during lunch time and on sunny weekends, is the restaurant's new outdoor patio. You'll also find live entertainment on weekends. All omelettes are prepared for take-out service.

OFF BROADWAY
Broadway and Kearny
San Francisco
986-9500

Remember the days of burlesque? That's when a girl took off her clothes after she walked out on the runway, not before. Well, one of the stars of those grand burlesque days was Tempest Storm (she used to create quite a storm over in Oakland, her old playing grounds) and she knew how to grind better than the coffee manufacturers. and had more bumps than a country road. Seems Tempest recently came out of retirement and is now creating a new kind of storm at this North Beach topless club. They say she still has the finesse and class of burlesque and "tops" all those Topless dancers. But we'll let you see so you can make up your own mind what it's all about when a woman (young or old) starts to take off her clothing.

OMAR KHAYYAM'S
O'Farrell at Powell Street
San Francisco
781-1010

This is the mecca for all gourmets and food connoisseurs the world over. Its owner is the colorful George M. Mardikian, who is not only a restaurateur but an accomplished writer ("Song of America") and cook (he has written one cookbook entitled "Dinner at Omar Khayyam's"). It was Mardikian who added to our vocabulary such words as Lavash (Armenian bread), Rose Petal Preserves, Shish Kebab, Pilaf, Kouzou Kzartma (shank of baby lamb baked with tomatoes), Dolma (rice and chopped vegetables wrapped and cooked in tender grape leaves) and Pahkla. Over the years Mardikian has entertained just about everyone who is anyone. In addition to the traditional lamb dishes, he offers roast fowl, baked Virginia ham, New York and filet mignons. The dining room is considered one of the most beautiful in the world with its Philippine mahogany walls covered with original paintings by great artists depicting scenes from the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam.

PANCHO'S
1918 El Camino Real
Redwood City
368-4004

"One taste is worth a thousand words." This statement best describes the tasty Mexican fare at this unique restaurant in Redwood City. Manager Ambrosio Maldonado is especially proud of his restaurant operation, as well he should be. Tola, Ambrosio's charming wife, is also one of the geniuses behind the authentic Mexican dishes served here. She handles her own tortillas and has a great ability to concentrate on the subtlety of taste. Both she and Ambrosia have received several awards for their culinary talents. Pancho also offers convenient take-out service. Banquet facilities occupy the premises.

PANTRY DONUTS
3799 South El Camino Real
574-9892

Alice and Marvin Carlsom are now celebrating their tenth anniversary at their San Mateo donut site. They have always specialized in country-style varieties and have garnished a reputation throughout the Bay Area by those in the donut know. Drop by any day — Pantry Donuts is open seven days a week.

THE PENGUIN LOUNGE
261 California Drive
Burlingame
343-0553

This plush Burlingame cabaret is owned by Angelo Lena, who is well-known in San Francisco nitery circles. The youthful Angelo is a veteran of the nightclub business, and with his new Penguin is creating a lounge destined to be one of the Peninsula's most popular gathering spots. A small fortune has been spent remodeling the existing structure, with designer Jack Menzies responsible for the unique decor. Fireplaces, a balcony, a front lounge and two dance floors are what you will find when entering the club. The Penguin is also larger than it looks from the outside (it seats approximately 225 customers), and is open for business seven nights a week. Mickey Frizzell, talented singer and guitarist, has been signed by Angelo to headline for an indefinite time.

PHIL LEHR'S STEAKERY
Taylor and Ellis
San Francisco
673-6800

Touched by a charm and grace that is all too rare these days, Phil Lehr remains one of the most flamboyant men in his field, a man who is still hailed for his innovative introduction of the pay-by-the-ounce concept which he introduced to the restaurant world back in the 1950's. The Steakery is graced by a carriage entrance and then a sweeping staircase down which diners descend into a luxury of high ceiling, elegant chandeliers, and shining crystal. Beef Wellington is a must, with Steak Diane taking a second place position. The New York, filet mignon and rib eye steaks are all cut to your specification. Open 5 to midnight daily, Sundays from 4 to 11 p.m. Reservations are recommended.

PIER 23
Embarcadero Pier No. 23
San Francisco
362-5125

If you like your music hot and heavy, this is the place. Pier 23 has been famed for years for presenting Dixieland Jazz (there aren't many places where you can find it anymore, fan) and it has lost none of its reputation these past few years. If anything, the clientele is greater. Friday and Saturday nights are when you want to join in the fun. And Sunday from 4 to 9 p.m. you can enjoy an impromptu jam session.

THE PLATTER
San Mateo

This is a new restaurant owned by John Tallerico, who is quite well known in local restaurant circles. Breakfast, lunch and dinners are served here. All steaks are cut from the heart of a prime steer loin, cooked to your liking, and served with baked potato, toasted French bread, and green salad with choice of dressing. We recommend the Continental Cut New York which comes with a double serving of toasted French bread — obviously designed for those with hearty appetites. The Continental specials on the dinner menu include Filet of Sole, French Fried Jumbo Prawns, Steak and Lobster, Shish kabob, etc. etc.

THE PLAYBOY CLUB
736 Montgomery Street
San Francisco
434-2550

You can talk about pool tables, cool drinks and comedians all you want, but let's face it, we still go to the Playboy Club to ogle the bountiful bunnies who put their all into those skimpy little costumes just slightly bigger than a breadbox. Right? Right! These beauteous babes litter the landscape around the Playboy, serving drinks, shooting pool, etc. etc. So we suggest you devote your time to drinking and shooting pool. Oh, incidentally, they do have entertainment upstairs. Usually a comedian and singer on the same bill.

Frances Anderson's excellent restaurant offers numerous specialties of the house. Rocky Mountain Trout (stuffed with king crab), Chicken Saute Vienna and Roast Leg of Lamb. The theme is that of California pioneer, and it's a fitting theme, for if anyone has been a pioneer in good dining, it's Frances. Frances is also famed for her delicious desserts: Chocolate Rum Pie, Black Forest Cake and Mocha Creme. Lunches are served Wednesday through Saturday from 11:45 a.m. to 2 p.m. and there are fashion shows every Wednesday and Thursday. Closed Mondays.

PRINCE OF WALES
106 East 25th Avenue
San Mateo
574-9723

This authentic British Pub, owned by the amiable Ken Gilley, has established a considerable reputation for excellent English cuisine. Such items as fish 'n' chips, Banger and Mash, Cornish Pastry and Scottish Beef Pie have all drawn praise from patrons. The newest menu item here is the Windsor Burger, which Ken recently introduced. The pub now has a new charbroiler, which he uses to make what is described as "Super Burgers" and steak sandwiches. Also, he's now placing the finishing touches on the new outdoor patio, where lunches will be served daily. But the Prince of Wales is much more than just a dining establishment. It's also a dart-throwing pub, where players from all over the Bay Area gather for league competition several nights a week... drop by to watch the action; it won't be long before you'll be tossing a few.

THE PUTTER
1819 El Camino Real
at Trousdale
Burlingame

This nitery, which draws a friendly neighborhood crowd as well as devoted music fans, is well known for presenting top-flight entertainment on a nightly basis. Within the past few months, several of the Bay Area's top music groups have performed here. It's one of the few clubs on the Peninsula, where dancing and live entertainment can be found every night of the week. Conveniently located, this club attracts a diverse clientele. You'll find business executives from the nearby train station as well as personnel from Peninsula Hospital. A low-priced buffet luncheon is served daily, Monday through Friday.

RODEWAY INN
380 South Airport Boulevard
South San Francisco
873-3200

Erik Pedersen, the new General Manager of this skyscraper unit hotel, has made several changes in the dining room and lounge operations. New menus have been introduced in the Golden Rooster restaurant, which still continues to feature excellent lobster. These live Maine lobsters, which diners actually choose from a tank, have always been a specialty here. Pedersen and his staff have also remodeled the Golden Rooster Lounge, where top quality entertainment is featured every night of the week. Closing this weekend is the Linda Merrill Show; opening Tuesday night will be The Full House. Performing every Sunday and Monday is the Kurt Alan Set.

ROMANO'S
270 Hewitt Avenue
Rockaway Beach, Pacifica

Enrico Romano has changed his image this past year (longer hair, that sort of thing) but he hasn't changed his ideas about presenting good food. His Italian restaurant in picturesque Rockaway Beach still offers the best pizzas on the Coastside, and great family-style dinners. Whether it's his ten-inch baby or his 14-inch extra large king size

NEW OR OLD?—What makes London Great is its immense skill at changing—while not changing—with the times. Although nearly 8,000 hotel rooms have been added in the past four years, much of the building is unobtrusive and fits in with traditional architecture. A case in point is the Britannia Hotel here, which maintains the Eighteenth Century facade of Grosvenor Square.

giant pizza, Romano puts his heart and soul into it. Linguica, olives, mushrooms, salami, anchovies — these are just some of the ever-popular ingredients he adorns his pizzas with. Romano is the kind of restaurant owner who spends several hours each day in the kitchen, making certain everything turns out right. Open daily from 4 p.m. including Sundays. In short, Romano is the emir of his field, the archbishop of anchovies.

ROYAL COACH
1770 S. Bayshore Boulevard (Accessible by Delaware)
San Mateo
573-7661

With its Old English decor and a facade of spirals and other antiquated features of old castles, this San Mateo landmark takes on a fairytale quality to those who pass nearby on the Bayshore Freeway. Dave Purrington, who was originally director of food and beverage two years ago, has returned in the role of General Manager. German-born Jurgen Demisch is now the food and beverage man, and he and Dave are working hand-in-hand to upgrade all the features of the motor hotel. There are 300 rooms with color TV's, king-size beds, the Deacon Brodie lounge (featuring the "Pub Crawl" every night) and the Coach and Horses Dining Room, where prime rib is a genuine specialty. Dave recently introduced a new menu so now is a good opportunity to give the place a try.

RUSSO'S DISTILLERY
271 El Camino Real
San Bruno

Old wine barrels, rustic tables and other imaginative pieces of decor make this restaurant intimate and unique in the same breath. Vince Russo is a man who prides himself on food and service and often goes out of his way to make a customer happy. His specialties include Scampi

Venezuela, Eggplant Parmigiana and a cheese cannelloni that will melt in your mouth. There are several banquet rooms to handle your parties and special occasions, as well as live entertainment Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. The current bill is headlined by Fair Share. Reservations might be in order on the weekends. Keep your eye on Russo because you're going to see some new things from him in the very near future. We'll keep you posted through the pages of the Times.

Larry Gerald gave up his Domino Club in the Financial District of San Francisco, but he has taken up a new business here at the water's edge in Burlingame. The move is toward a more casual, less stiff atmosphere, with the budget geared for the family man although elegant decor and award-winning recipes are maintained. As usual, Larry is serving his famous hors d'oeuvres during the cocktail hour, which begins at 4:30 p.m. The menu specializes in Italian and seafood dishes prepared in the continental style. Favorites are Veal Parmigiana, cannelloni, steak bordelaise with Italian-style rice and Broiled Whopper Prawns. Master chef is Stelvio Storace from Chasen's in Los Angeles.

After 22 years in the business, you've got to be good or you wouldn't have survived. Well, this Bavarian-style restaurant under the aegis of Dave Rasmussen, has more than proved its worth over the years with the finest in German dinners. Gebackener Schinken, Rotwein Sauce, Hasenpfeffer at Spatzle, Garniertes Wiener Schnitzel and Kasseler Rippchen are among the specialties of the house. The spacious Banquet Room provides seating for more than 250 persons and handles many of the civic meetings on the Peninsula. There is also a catering service which can provide for your every need. You can't go wrong with a place that has lasted for 22 years. No way.

THE SHOWBOAT

"An elegant restaurant for elegant people" is the motto of this famous eating spot operated by Mary Lou Fox and her sister Theresa, who is married to Bud Urban. Also on the premises, offering an additional note of friendliness and hospitality, is Helen Trainor, mother of the sisters. The entrees range from Prime Rib to the Gourmet Platter for Two, which is an offbeat of sliced sirloin, barbecued ribs, chicken and scampi, all served Lazy Susan-style. The Broiled

Mahi Mahi smothered in almonds is another popular item. For dessert we always go for the Maerd Eip, Scotty's own special cheese pie. Open seven days a week from 5 p.m.

The 60th year of business for the Shanghai Low marks a new high. Since 1913 this famed Chinese eating house has been offering authentic Chinese food from cooks who know how to prepare it. Complete lunches and dinners at moderate prices. There are banquet room facilties if you have a special occasion coming up. Located at the Gateway to Chinatown, overlooking St. Mary's Square. Closed Tuesday.

2515 El Camino Real
Palo Alto
321-0310

A spacious 300-seat restaurant that is part of the Adrian "Red" Stickney chain, specializing in quality beef steaks and seafood specialties. The main dining room looks out onto a lush tropical garden, and there is a cozy, sunken cocktail lounge with massive rock fireplace. The waitresses are a special attraction here, for they are wearing mini-bouffant skirts, organdy aprons and necklines which plunge daringly. Durby Adkins is the debonair manager of the restaurant, which is open daily for lunches, Monday through Saturday. Dinners and cocktails served seven days a week. Entertainment Tuesdays through Saturdays.

THE STEAK INN
Northwest Corner of Farmers Market
Hillsdale

This is a family steak house specializing in steak platters that come with potato and roll. Three different cuts are priced at a remarkably-low $1.99; Rib eye, top sirloin and New York Strip. The owner is Joe Acosta, who is a veteran of the food industry. He also operates the adjacent Sea 'n' Salad establishment. A steak sandwich at the Steak Inn goes for just $1.39; a giant Super Burger is $1.09. The Inn also serves a regular hamburger sandwich for only 74 cents. A child's dinner steak is a modest 99 cents. Open daily from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Beer and wine are also available.

STUART ANDERSON'S
BLACK ANGUS RESTAURANT
9th Ave. and Claremont
San Mateo 342-6336
Winchester at Payne
San Jose, 374-5530

A few short years ago, rancher Stuart Anderson opened his first restaurant in Seattle and since then (1946), 15 more have spread throughout Washington, Oregon, California and Nevada. His formula for success was amazingly simple: give people a quality steak dinner, with choice of five different cuts, for one price. Filet Mignon, New York Steak, Prime Rib and other cuts of U.S. Choice Grade Meat, together with salad bowl, baked potato and toasted ranch bread are all priced the same. Ditto for their lunches. The basic decor is modern-western, with rustic barnwood walls, imported lights and distinctive seating

For Top of

The Mark

San Francisco's renowned Top of the Mark at the Mark Hopkins, an Inter-Continental Hotel, high atop Nob Hill emerged today in dazzling new finery to reclaim its repute as one of the world's most exciting skyrooms.

Designed by J. Ray Baker, A.I.D., the interior gives maximum emphasis to the spectacular 360-degree view of the city, bay and hills. "It has been designed", Baker stated, "as one total sweep, as one unit, enveloping the guest as he enters in its oneness, expressly thinking of itself as an extension of the view".

Lush brown carpeting, velvety ceilings, mirrored walls and bandings of bronze with lighting formed from a sculptured ceiling through handsome banks of plexiglas create a relaxing mood of elegance throughout.

Live plants in tree form, enclosed in bronze containers, are strategically placed throughout the room for a subtle touch of greenery without intruding upon the overall charm of the decor.

TANFORAN PARK GARDEN RESTAURANT
Tanforan Park Shopping Center
114 Tanforan Park
San Bruno

Nine restaurants in a single complex with a common seating area for more than 500 persons. There's something for everyone in this genial setting, so just take your pick. Amigo Mike's Mexican offers such delicacies as chile relleno and beef tostadas topped with guacamole sauce. Steak Unique features a wide variety of steaks and chicken. Hofbrau specializes in roast beef, turkey or pastrami sandwiches. King Wong's is where you'll find all your favorite Chinese dishes. The Red Carpet will fill the bill with pizzas and hot dogs. The Donut World offers those things that always have the hole in the middle (not to mention that stuff that always comes in a cup, coffee);

Swenson's Ice Cream is the cone-shaped place and the Happy Orange will make you just as happy. Open seven days a week. Monday through Thursday until 8:30 p.m., Friday until 9 p.m., Saturday until 6 p.m., Sunday until 5:30 p.m.

TOMMY'S JOYNT
Van Ness at Geary
San Francisco
775-4216

Are you familiar with the Jack Tar Hotel? Well, just across the street is this world-famous hofbrau restaurant, owned and operated by Tommy Harris, who gave new meaning to the words "the one, the only, the original." Bigger - than average portions of turkey, ham, beef, pastrami and corned beef, at less - than - average prices. Buffalo Stew is the unique item here, for it is not served at any other restaurant west of the Mississippi. Turkey Texas Chili and Bean & Beer Soup are also on the menu, as are 70 different kinds of beer from all over the world. Wow, some joyst.

TIOS RESTAURANT
1622 Palm Avenue
San Mateo
341-9087

The most unusual Mexican restaurant that we've found in years — unusual because owners Armando "Tiny" Burgos and Benny Clewans are offering dishes you won't find anywhere else. Like Nopales con Huevo, which is cactus cooked in Mexican sauces and scrambled eggs. Menudo is none other than tripe soup (real Mexican soup) while Flautas are rolled tacos, stuffed with shredded beef or chicken and topped with guacamole and sour cream. Pretty rich stuff, but if you're looking for the authentic thing, here it is. "Everything is the way it would taste if prepared south of the border," claims "Tiny," and we believe him.

TOLA'S RESTAURANT
660 Laurel Street
San Carlos
592-0597

Ambrosio Maldonando, owner of Pancho's in Redwood City, raised his son proudly. "Some day," he often said, "that boy is going to be following in my footsteps." Well, his son Louis has followed in his dad's footsteps, and now he's in direct competition with this new Mexican restaurant. Sorry, Ambrosio, but that's the way the jumping bean jumps. Tola's features lunches (between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.) and dinners at any hour. The Grande Combination consists of a tamale, enchilada, taco, chile relleno, chile beans, rice and a bowl of pinto bean soup. The Tostaditas Conquesas is made up of two tostadas. Choice of beef or chicken in a crisp corn tortilla with refried beans, cheese, shredded lettuce, tomato, onion, sour cream and guacamole. Closed Sundays. Luncheons served on Saturday.

TIKI GARDEN
1875 S. Norfolk
San Mateo
341-2661

An ever-growing number of Polynesian aficionados are discovering this exotic waterfront restaurant owned by Frank Martinelli. Long a renowned chef and restaurateur, Martinelli has created a spectacular menu which would do great justice to a Royal Hawaiian chieftain. Popular Polynesian standards such as Mahi Mahi Filet, Tempura Prawns and Teriyaki Steak are prepared here with authenticity and imagination. Other island specialties consist of the Saimin dinner soup, the Polynesian Ribs and Frank's magnificent Terisuki Beef. Prices for complete dinners range from $3.25 to $6.45. Each meal is served on a wooden platter and garnished with mounds of fresh cooked vegetables and tropical fruit. Diners enjoy their food surrounded by an authentic Hawaiian atmosphere, rare orchids, waterfalls and the soothing strains of soft Hawaiian music.

TRADER VIC'S
20 Cosmo Place
San Francisco
776-2232

From an inauspicious beginning with a tiny chop house in Oakland, Victor "Trader Vic" Bergeron has built one of the world's foremost restaurant empires. From his original Hinky Dink's on San Pablo Avenue, which accommodated only 50 persons and specialized in a 35-cent businessman's lunch, the amazing Bergeron has managed to build a successful chain of restaurants throughout the United States and overseas. But this immense success and personal satisfaction didn't arrive overnight. Although his Hinky Dink's drew a large and varied clientele, the hard work involved took its toll, and the Trader was advised by his doctor to "slow up." Victor then took his first trip to Tahiti, and upon his return, rested and deeply interested in the South Seas and the Orient, the "original" Trader Vic's was born. And in the past few years, the Trader, his loyal employees and their restaurants have made history. And most people agree, the secret behind this phenomenal success is in Vic Bergeron himself, a rare imagination and inexhaustible energy.

VISTA DEL MAR
13100 Skyline Boulevard
Redwood City

Emerson Murfee, who also owns the Lanai, located just next door) has been going strong since 1939 as one of the Bay Area's leading restaurateurs. This restaurant tells you why. It is famed for its roast prime ribs of beef, its live Maine lobster and many other delicious entrees, such as Broiled Hawaiian Mahi Mahi Steak, Kona Beachstyle, Southern Fried Chicken and Tenderloin Tips of Beef Sauté Stroganoff. There are nine banquet rooms available, including the outstanding Winchester Room, which seats up to 250 persons and has a dance floor and private bar. Open daily from noon for luncheons and dinners.

VILLA HOTEL
San Mateo
341-0966

A superb hotel (located conveniently close to San Francisco International Airport) offering 24-hour limousine service to and fro, with the Hillsdale Shopping Center just next door for added advantage. Two hundred luxurious rooms as well as a 24-hour Villa Coffee House. Now appearing in the Villa Lounge is the Charlie Blackwell Trio Tuesday through Saturday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Facilities are available for elegant banquets, festive parties and gala weddings. It's been said the Villa Hotel is "the finest on the Peninsula."

VINCE'S ITALIAN & SEAFOOD
1528 El Camino Real
San Mateo
341-1480

Sorry, but this restaurant is going to be closed for a short while: from June 17 until July 9. But in the meantime let us tell you about Vince Licata's place of business, one of the most popular on the Peninsula. It's known for not only its Italian family-style dinners but for its seafood specialties as well. Which begins to give you some idea of the wide variety this restaurant has to offer. There are two spacious dining rooms, a comfortable bar and cocktail lounge (hors d'oeuvres are served nightly from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.), and an open air seafood depot for take-out orders. Make a note of these hours so when Vince and his staff get back, you can try the eatery; daily from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Friday and Saturday from 11 a.m. to midnight and Sunday from noon to 11 p.m.

WHISKEY HILL
1425 Burlingame Avenue
Burlingame
343-7170

This nitery, owned by Pete Brallier, who also heads the Round Table Pizza Parlor empire, is considered to be one of the genuine action spots on the Peninsula. Every evening of the week this club is packed with dancers enjoying the sounds of the Bay Area's best musical talent. Manager Dick Volonte handles the entertainment line-up, always making certain that the marquee features a famous band five nights a week, Tuesday thru Saturday. Sunday nights are devoted to special concerts (read the regular Bright Lights column for names and dates of future bookings). Not only will hard rock sounds be showcased, but there are plans for booking many of the greats in Jazz and even Country and Western.

THE WHISTLE STOP
Ralston and El Camino Real
Belmont
591-9870

Owner-manager Leo Martay claims he serves the best hamburgers on the Peninsula. Customers have the opportunity to add all the trimmings from the salad bar. Quality steaks sold at half the price you would pay in other restaurants. The railroad decor is nicely enhanced by passing commuter trains. The take-out service is ideal for summer parties, little league, etc. Adjacent to the Whistle Stop is the Family Recipe Chicken Take Out, home of the honey-dipped fried chicken.

WOODLAKE JOE'S
Peninsula Avenue and Delaware
San Mateo
347-0771

An Italian-style restaurant in the Joe tradition, operated jointly by Vic Scafani and John Graziano, who divide their time between here and the Brentwood Lodge of South San Francisco. Conveniently located in the Woodlake Shopping Center, where there are acres of free parking, the restaurant remains open as late as 11:30

CARRIED AWAY—This gal is getting carried away! It's all part of the regular evening show at the Balkan Village in Los Altos. Louie Gundunas does his famed "Ouzo Table Dance," lifting a table with a young lady on it while using only his teeth. Greek dining, dancing and entertainment is featured nightly except Monday.

Food and Beverages Featured in Hillsdale's Farmers Market

Fine family dining can be enjoyed at the Peninsula's famous Hillsdale Farmers Market, where 10 different international restaurants are located under a single roof.

Diners here literally are offered hundreds of menu items. Also, every Sunday each of the international restaurants features a "Sunday Special" for just $1.15. This special — a big attraction for budget-conscious diners — is available every Sunday from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Obviously international in scope, these 10 dining establishments cover the entire spectrum as far as your palate's desires are concerned, with the major decision simply being what type of food you wish.

At the Bar-B-Q you'll find old-fashioned Western barbecued dinners — including spareribs, chicken and other assorted delights. Also available are hot barbecued sandwiches, ham-

San Remos Italiano is where you can order eight different kinds of pizza, all baked in a brick oven the old-European way. Other typical Italian delights are lasagne, spaghetti, veal cutlet parmigiana and veal scallopini. Sandwich selections include the special "Hero" sandwich, prepared with ham, provolone, salami coppa and mortadella.

Hunt's Quality Donuts is the spot for your early morning or mid-afternoon constitutional of coffee and donuts. Choose from all your favorites: jelly, cream or custard-filled donuts. Or you might try a chocolate or maple bar. Other tempting sweets include cinnamon rolls and twists and the popular French, old-fashioned, raised or cake donuts. A "Super Shoppers Special" for just $1.35 is always available from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily at Ling Wong Chinese. Dinners always include a selection of any four items, with the menu including sweet and sour pork, chicken almond, chow mein, pork noodle soup, fried won ton, egg roll, vegetable beef, chop suey, egg foo yung, etc.

Breakfast any hour of the day is always available at the Coffee Shop and Fountain. Eight different kinds of omelettes are featured, as well as pancakes, waffles and French toast. Breakfast meats consist of sausage, ham, beef patties and bacon. For lunch or quick snacks, sandwiches and hamburgers are available. The Fountain serves milk shakes, floats, sundaes, ice cream, sherbet freezes, sodas and other beverages.

Tasty Mexican dishes are the specialty at Castillo's Mexican Kitchen, located near the center of the market complex. The wide array of "South of the Border" items includes beef and cheese enchiladas, tacos, tostados, chile rellenos, fried beans, Spanish rice, Mexican-style macaroni and chile con carne. Salad selections are guacamole and Mexican tossed green. Six different combination plates are featured.

At the Sea 'N' Salad, a tempting selection of fresh seafood items is always available. Seafood dinners include fried clams, prawns, fish fillets and ocean perch, shrimp and crab louis and a variety of salads, fresh fruits and seasonal vegetables. Eight different types of weiners are available at The Weiner House and Beverage Bar. These encompass Bratwurst, Knockwurst and Polish Sausage on a rye roll. One special weiner plate includes two weiners, a side dish and butter roll for only $1.09. There is also a wide assortment of beverages and soft drinks.

Customers at the Hofbrau choose dinners from among such selections as roast beef, baked Virginia ham, roast turkey and corned beef. Lighter fare consists of many side dishes and a generous offering of hand-carved sandwiches. The Combination Platter consists of your choice from among three types of meat, mashed potatoes, gravy and your selection of two side dishes, along with a roll and butter. All of this for only $2.59.

The Steak Inn is a family-type establishment where quality steak dinners can be enjoyed for as little as $1.99. These selections include rib eye, top sirloin and New York Strip. All steak platters come complete with potato and roll. Steak Teriyaki, tabbed at $1.89, is another great favorite. A child's steak dinner is modestly priced at 99 cents. The Steak Inn is also open for lunch, and features steak sandwiches and giant super-burgers. Beer and wine are available.

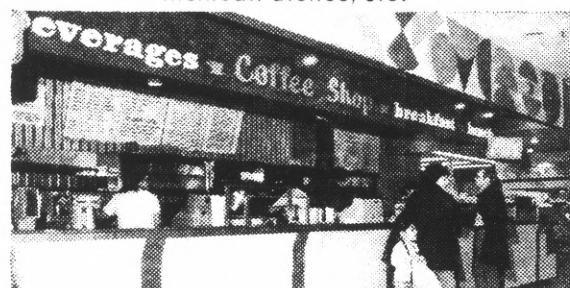

Also located in the immense Farmers Market complex are the Capri Room, a bustling cocktail lounge, and Jack & Jill's Candies, a store patronized by thousands of Peninsula residents known to have a sweet tooth.

Oakland Coliseum

The magnificent Oakland Coliseum Stadium soon will be the scene of some of the finest jazz music in the world.

Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. the Coliseum will serve as the setting for the Second Annual Bay Area Jazz Festival.

Stevie Wonder leads off the show Friday, with the Stapley Singers, Louis Bellson's Big Band, Freddie Hubbard, Esther Phillips and Rahsaan Roland Kirk with the Heritage Hall Band winding up the show.

On Saturday, the stars will include Gladys Knight and the Pips, B. B. King, Dizzy Gillespie, Billy Paul, Charles Mingus and Herbie Mann.

Rain or shine, you can be sure the show is going to take place.

J. Timberlane For Relaxation

Jaye's Timberlane Resort, which is located at 6705 Highway South in Ben Lomond, is owned and operated by Ann Rode and her husband.

The resort features modern cottages, that come equipped with television and modern kitchens.

The rustic setting in the Santa Cruz Mountains is perfect for a hideaway weekend, or a hideaway vacation period.

There is also a heated pool and recreation center, which is now stocked with new equipment.

The Timberlane Resort is open all year round and has a Triple A rating. Summer bookings are particularly heavy, so you'd better call now to set your dates.

PENINSULA MOTEL-STUDIOS—An August 1 date has been set for the opening of 24 new motel units at the Golden Pavilion Motor Inn at 4320 El Camino Real in Los Altos. The new, spacious "motel-studios" will all have fully-equipped kitchens and 476 square feet of bedroom, living room and dining areas, accommodating up to four persons. All rooms will have free color television and extra-large beds, according to George Chow, general partner of Pavilion Properties Ltd., the firm which also operates the adjoining Golden Pavilion restaurant.

Kauai, the Garden Isle.

Site of Many Movie Epics

Kauai, furthest west of the eight islands that make up Hawaii, was the first to be colonized by the Polynesians and the first to be discovered by Captain Cook, who landed here in 1778.

As the cradle of the Hawaiian race, it has probably been seen also by more people than any other spot in the Hawaiian group, including Diamond Head and Waikiki on Oahu.

"Kauai has been popular with Hollywood movie makers since the days of Mary Pickford," reports Continental Airlines' travel department. "It's been the scene for such epics as Sadie Thompson, Blue Hawaii, South Pacific, Lt. Robinson Crusoe, USN, Diamond Head. None But the Brave and dozens of others. Millions have marveled at its scenery even while thinking it is somewhere else."

Only a 27-minute flight from Honolulu's International Airport, Kauai, in its 555 square miles, is filled with canyons, waterfalls, wide beaches and technicolor floral beauty. Its spectacular green valley of Kalalau was made famous in the writings of Jack London, and Mt. Waialeale, on whose peak between 400 and 500 inches of rainfall every year, is said to be the wettest spot on earth.

"The top attraction on the island, however, is Waimea Canyon," according to Continental. "It is Hawaii's own Grand Canyon."

The drive from the airport at Lihue to Waimea's entrance takes about an hour-and-a-half, with the road going along the southwest side of the island, past great fields of sugar cane and pineapple. Everything is lush and green.

Further on and higher up, where the air is pleasantly cool, the main chasm of Waimea Canyon — with feeder canyons coming into it from both sides — offers a really spectacular view from a lookout point. Very often, wild goats which abound in this 4,000-foot deep canyon, can be seen from this lookout.

"Noon is one of the best times to see it," advises Continental. "Then the colors are in bright shades of pinks, greens and browns. Late in the afternoon the pinks become lavender and purple and the greens turn to blues. Actually, though, the colors change continuously as the shadows of passing clouds move among them."

AMTRAK's Week

Of Wheels

AMTRAK will give holidaying twosomes a break in revisions effective now of its popular Florida Week of Wheels program.

AMTRAK's original program provided free use of a rental car for a week in Florida by a party of family or friends who bought three round-trip adult AMTRAK tickets to Miami from the New York or Chicago areas or beyond.

AMTRAK will now extend the program by offering blockbuster discounts to those buying either two or 2½ adult fares.

The revisions will give a couple (or an adult with two children paying half-fare) making the Florida trip a week's unlimited use of a Hornet or similar compact car for $21.

For 2½ adult tickets, a couple with one child under 12 (or an adult with three children under 12) could have a week's unlimited use of the car for only $10.50.

Busch Gardens

A $6 million expansion program has now been completed at Busch Gardens, the tropical-style family entertainment oasis in California's San Fernando Valley near Los Angeles, reports Trans World Airlines. Included in expanded facilities are an ultramodern monorail, a flume ride, a 1,000-seat amphitheater for trained animal shows, and a huge aviary and a boat ride.

LAS VEGAS "MUSICAL ACTION"

There are more musicians playing regularly before live audiences in Las Vegas, Nevada, than in any other city in the world, according to Trans World Airlines. Las Vegas also attracts more tourists annually than any other city anywhere, and nearly 50,000 couples are married there every year.

Louis Gundunas Heads 'Second Ouzo Odyssey To Greece'

Louis Gundunas, the colorful Los Altos Greek entertainer and restaurateur who appeared in "Zorba," the Broadway New York hit musical, will again be tour director for his "Second Ouzo Odyssey to Greece." Olympic Airways, the Greek national airline, is sponsoring the air-sea tour.

The 22-day tour begins September 1 with a jet flight from San Francisco to Athens and a stay at a luxurious seaside resort. Many of the highlights of the first "Ouzo Odyssey" last year will be repeated, according to Gundunas who owns and entertains at his Balkan Village restaurant in Los Altos.

Dr. Dimitri Economou, distinguished professor at the University of Athens, will again lead a six-day tour to Northern Greece. The motor excursion will include visits to famed sites of Greek antiquities and repositories of art, sculpture and architecture. Delphi, Kalambaka, Thessaloniki and Kavala will be among cities visited.

Another high mark to be repeated will be the seven-day cruise to the Greek Isles and Turkey aboard M.S. Aquarius, the newest luxury liner of the Aegean. Island stop-overs include Santorini, Crete, Rhodes, Kosadasi, Patmos, and Mykonos. In Istanbul, travelers will haggle at the fabled Grand Bazaar, one of the world's largest marketplaces.

"We will see the glories of ancient Greece," says Gundunas, "but we won't overlook the fun and recreation of today's Greece as popularized by 'Zorba The Greek.' We'll visit pictureque seaside fishing villages off the tourist track and sing and dance in some of the liveliest tavernas in Greece. I took my tours into the homes of the people to share their music and laughter and food."

El Salvador

Few travelers have discovered the kaleidoscopic natural beauty and medley of cultures that is El Salvador.

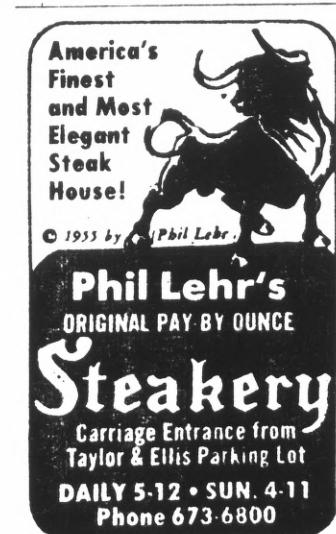

Here, on a Pacific coast pocket of land no larger than Maryland, visual treats include waterfalls curtained in ferns, deep blue lakes ringed by volcanoes, mysterious ancient ruins, and unspoiled rural villages. The people, handsome and enthusiastic, personify daily all that is implied by simpatico.

El Salvador is the smallest of

Highest Ever

Passenger travel between the U.S. and foreign countries during 1973 is reported the highest in history, the Air Transport Association reports. Of total passengers via air and sea, about 97 per cent used air, with the U.S. flag airline share amounting to more than 55 per cent. A total of 2.2 million passports were issued to Americans selecting a foreign trip, up 22 per cent over 1969.

Singer - dancer - chef - restaurateur, Gundunas is the ideal choice to lead a tour to Greece. He is as Greek as feta cheese or a silky bouzouki. "The Happy Greek" was raised on goats' milk, learning to speak Greek before English. He is an old hand at Greek itinerary, and has made a number of trips to the land of his ancestors. Few Americans are more familiar than he with Hellenic customs, traditions and folkways. He has scouted the tavernas of Athens, Piraeus and the Peloponnesus for undiscovered entertainers for his restaurant.

Gundunas, who lives in Los Altos with his family, won his role in "Zorba" when Producer Hal Prince saw his "Ouzo Dance" in which he lifts with his teeth a table with a young woman. Gundunas sang and danced in the runaway New York hit for 10 months. He performed the spectacular Greek dance of strength on various national television shows including "Ed Sullivan," "Merv Griffin" and "What's My Line." Later he appeared in the West Coast version of "Zorba." The muscular and friendly restaurateur has co-authored an advanced Greek cookbook and written a song.

Reservations for the "Second Ouzo Odyssey" can be made through Olympic Airways in San Francisco or at the Balkan Village in Los Altos.

Alaska Airlines Invites Travel

No longer are they trying to sell air-conditioning units or refrigerators to the Eskimos up north. Now salesmen are trying to get them to go modern and fly Alaska Airlines via one of the many jetliners this smooth, efficient airlines service is currently offering.

The interior of these planes features gold and green velvet-tufted seats, deep-pile red carpeting, red velvet curtains with gold tassels and trim, shapely stewardesses dressed in turn-of-the-century costumes. This latter feature is designed to evoke the memory of the Gold Rush days, when men flocked into Dawson and other populace communities in their search for the most elusive fortune of all, gold.

Alaska Airlines now serves most of the tourist attractions and about 95 per cent of the traveling population of the 49th State.

AMTRAK's Sales

AMTRAK'S new Director of Sales, Roger W. Brown, today announced a goal of increasing AMTRAK's sales revenue for 1973 by more than 20 per cent over 1972's $162 million total.

Assigned to his new duties last month by Roger Lewis, AMTRAK President, Mr. Brown had previously served in the key posts of director of personnel and director of labor relations. He now reports to Harold L. Graham, vice president—Marketing.

Mr. Brown, who heads a U.S.-wide sales staff of 137 regional and district sales managers and sales representatives, said AMTRAK will take some new directions:

Jack Calvert Jon Battle The Experts

The hilarious musical comedy team of Jack Calvert and Jon Battle, currently at the Miyako Hotel in Japan Center, their first San Francisco engagement, provide a very special act that audiences love.

Jack and Jon are backed by a versatile musical group called The Upstarts. The Upstarts' special musical talent includes a total of 27 musical instruments.

Jack and Jon have received numerous entertainment awards, including: The Noble Award, presented by the secretary of the state of New Mexico, deputy sheriff and honorary citizens of Albuquerque, N.M.; honorary citizens of Winnipeg, Canada (where they broke all attendance records at the Winnipeg Inn) and honorable mention at Fort Ord, Army Hospital, for playing to a vast audience of Vietnam veterans.

Jack and Jon and The Upstarts can be heard Tuesday through Saturday at 8:30, 10:00 and 11:30 (through June 22) at the Miyako Hotel. No cover, no minimum.

Stardust Camperland Expansion Ready for Summer Travelers

A record influx of recreational vehicle travelers visiting Las Vegas will welcome the news that famed Stardust Camperland will be ready with expanded facilities to take care of huge summer crowds.

Located on the grounds of the Stardust Hotel, in the heart of the glittering Las Vegas Strip, Camperland is adding more than 250 spaces to its present capacity of 150 vehicles.

Cited as the first park ever built in conjunction with a major resort hotel, Camperland is totally integrated with the entire Stardust Hotel operation, giving recreational vehicle guests complete guest privileges.

Camperland features complete utility hookups, a swimming pool, playground, recreational hall, laundry, showers and other facilities desired by the traveling public.

As well, guests are invited to make full use of the hotel's other two swimming pools, tennis courts, restaurants, gaming casino, shopping mall, children's arcade and showrooms.

Since first opening last October, Camperland has been acclaimed by the nation's recreational vehicle industry as a major breakthrough in vacation travel. The overnight park has also met with fantastic acceptance from travelers, who have kept it full every night of its existence.

Allan D. Sachs, president of the Stardust Hotel, said Camperland's policy of no reservations will be continued in the 400-space park. This is done to assure vacationers space once they arrive in Las Vegas.

The flat fee of $4 per vehicle, per night will also be maintained, with no additional charges for utility hookups or extra members of the family.

Camperland stays are limited to three nights, in order to give as many travelers as possible an opportunity to enjoy the unique park which also makes them a hotel guest, even though they bring along their own room.

Millions of Americans Visit Great Southwest

Many have already made their pilgrimage to the fabled region of sand, cactus and canyon and millions more are packing their bags and making final preparations for the journey.

Their destination is an area known the world over as uniquely beautiful and American. The Grand Canyon . . . the Petrified Forest . . . Mesa Verde.

The heart of this Southwestern area is known as the Four Corners . . . the place where the states of Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico come together. Within easy driving distance of that point are six National Parks, 28 National Monuments and three National Recreation Areas. That's enough beautiful geography, history and recreation to keep any tourist going for weeks.

In addition to the national parks and monuments, the area has many Indian reservations. The majority of America's native Indians who live on reservations live in the Four Corners area.

Great vistas of sand and sky, the strong clean scent of the sage brush and creosote bush, the heat and the dryness, and the appeal of the exotic and ancient Indian cultures all draw tourists to the Southwest and leave them with a special fondness for the area.

And although the last clean air in the country disappeared in the Southwest over a year ago, it is probably still the cleanest, clearest, driest air in the country. Yet there is smog in the Grand Canyon.

And there will probably be more, not only in the Grand Canyon but at Mesa Verde, Canyon de Chelly, Lake Meade and at all the other priceless natural and historical spots that dot the Four Corners area. For by 1985 an association of southwestern utilities plans to generate over 36 million kilowatts of electricity in the area.

The first of the power plants now gives off more pollution than that currently existing in New York City and Los Angeles combined. Not only will the smoke from these plants impair visibility at scenic monuments.

Princess Cruises to Hawaii Confirmed

Princess Cruises 1973 Mexico-Hawaii cruises will depart as previously scheduled, following negotiations between the firm and the U.S. Bureau of Customs, Stanley B. McDonald, president of Princess Cruises announced today.

McDonald stated that the announcement comes as a result of conferences with representatives of both Customs and the Treasury Department. Technical details are now being worked out by the company's attorneys and government officials. Advance notice is being given in order to provide the lead time necessary for the traveling public to book passage, and for the company to complete all marketing and operational arrangements for the two cruises.

Both cruises, each of 17 days, will begin with a full day in Ensenada, Mex., and will then continue on to Honolulu, Nawiliwili, Lahaina, Kailua-Kona and Hilo, with disembarkation at the passengers' originating port.

The first cruise will depart San Francisco on Aug. 26 and Los Angeles on Aug. 27. The second cruise will depart Los Angeles Oct. 11 and San Diego Oct. 12.

The Customs Bureau had been questioning whether Princess Cruises' submitted itineraries were in violation of the 1886 Jones Act, which limits the transporting of passengers between two American ports.

According to McDonald, "We are pleased by the progress of our discussions with the Customs Bureau. As we all know, cruises to Mexico-Hawaii have been so popular that the demand has far exceeded the supply."

Fares for the Princess Italia cruise in August range between $845 and $1,935, while fares for the October sailing of the Island Princess range between $1,240 and $2,175.

Princess Cruises expects a great response from the public now that the government has allowed the cruises, McDonald concluded.

Acapulco Golfers Play Marathon

They have started calling it the "achee eight" or simply "the eight". "They" are the guests at the Acapulco Princess and Pierre Marques hotels in Mexico who like to crowd the more than eight miles of combined golfing links into a day's play.

"The word got around," said Mike Smith, director of golf at the Princess, "after the Pierre Marques was acquired by Princess Hotels, that there are eight miles of course here and people wondered if it could be played in a day. It can, but it takes about 12 hours — and enormous energy."

The starting place for this marathon is usually the short nine-hole, par three course next to the Pierre Marques. It is 1,400 yards long and provides a good game sharpener for about an hour and a half.

of Acapulco's forested landscape.

The southern half of the course for example faces the Pacific Ocean and is situated in the middle of an old cocoa palm plantation. "The course really provides a fair test for all golfers," Mike says.

Vacation Minded Americans Move

This year, 110 million Americans are expected to travel a good 300 billion miles on vacation and pleasure trips. That is the equivalent of a million one-way trips between the earth and the moon.

Each year, this total mileage for vacationers increases. Imagine what it's going to be by the year 2000.

Puukohola Heiau

Puukohola Heiau National Historic Site on the Island of Hawaii, recently authorized as a new addition to the National Park System, features a heiau, or temple, reports Trans World Airlines. It was built in the late 1700s, on Kawaihae Bay, and is closely associated with the founding of the Kingdom of Hawaii and King Kamehameha's rise to power.

Kuhn arrives on the Peninsula with an exceptional background in hotel management, as well as numerous credits and achievements in civic involvement.

Bobby Goldsboro Now Appearing

One of the few contemporary recording artists capable of wowing "pop," "easy listening" or "country" audiences with equal success, balladeer Bobby Goldsboro is now appearing in the Fairmont's Venetian Room.

No mere overnight sensation who disappeared the next week, Bobby has built his following steadily and consistently ever since his first national single hit, "See The Funny Clown" in 1964. Such subsequent songs as "Little Things," "Voodoo Woman," "Pledge of Love," "Broomstick Cowboy," "Autumn of My Life," "Honey," "The Straight Life," "Watchin' Scotty Grown," "I'm a Drifter," and "With Pen in Hand" have topped the charts with across-the-board regularity.

With no formal music training other than two weeks of piano lessons during his childhood, Bobby paradoxically has emerged as a respected composer and lyricist whose songs have been top selling records for other artists, too. One example is "With Pen in Hand," a smash hit for Vikki Carr.

In 1968, Bobby recorded what was to be the largest selling single in the world that year, "Honey," outselling the Beatles' "Hey Jude."

Having appeared on virtually every major TV variety and talk show, he holds the record for guest appearances on "The Mike Douglas Show." His own TV variety show, "The Bobby Goldsboro Show," sponsored by General Mills, is now in 116 syndicated television markets throughout the country.

Upcoming for Bobby and his talented group (Jan Kurtis on drums, Tommy Tow on bass and Tim Tappan on piano and conducting) are a string of personal appearance dates at concerts, clubs, and state fairs around the country, as well as recording a new album and single, "Summer" (The First Time).

Bobby will sing nightly (except Monday) at two shows: 9:30 p.m. and midnight. Ernie Heckscher's orchestra will play for dancing between shows.

Reassurance for Camera Fans

If you are carrying camera film on your person when undergoing an anti-hijacking examination prior to boarding your plane, you have nothing to worry about insofar as the safety of the film is concerned. The Air Transport Association says that the anti-hijacking device does not expose or damage in any way the film as it "surveys" the passenger.

BALLADEER—Bobby Goldsboro, singer, composer and lyricist, entertains in the Fairmont's Venetian Room in two shows nightly, except Mondays.

Honeymooners Are In Love With Cities This Year

Newlyweds are shifting their choice of honeymoons back to major cities in the U.S., reversing a decade of preference for the "country" honeymoon.

"There appears to be a cycle. At one time, when our population was less urban, young folks went to the cities for the theater, museums, shopping and general cultural experiences," notes Kenneth Scholl, a veteran hotelier who manages the Sir Francis Drake in San Francisco.

"Last year at the Sir Francis Drake in San Francisco, honeymoon business increased nearly 25 per cent over 1971, and projections show even more of an increase in 1973."

"Young people are interested in people, and the cities with their great melting pots offer the greatest opportunity to meet others," Mr. Scholl notes and, putting in a plug for his city, "Naturally San Francisco is the world's most exciting with a diverse population living in harmony by the sea."

Don't Spend All Your Foreign Currency

Many foreign countries today charge visitors a departure tax. Whereas seasoned travelers formerly tried to retain just enough local currency to get to the dock or airport, they should now, according to the Air Transport Association, save out enough to pay the departure tax and thus avoid having to cash a $10 traveler's check, for instance, to pay a departure tax of $1.

Gala Anniversary Celebration for Disneyland Marquee

There was very little fanfare 50 years ago when Walt Disney and his brother Roy founded their company in a vacant garage near Hollywood.

This year one of Walt's greatest creations, Disneyland, is going all-out to mark Walt Disney Productions' Golden Anniversary in a most spectacular manner.

Centerpiece in Disneyland's year-long salute is "Summer '73" when show spectacles, special events, dancing, dazzling parades and concerts will fill every day of the entertainment calendar.

In fact, so much is going on that the entire summer — from June 16 to early September — is needed to get in everything planned for the celebration.

Summertime visitors will be among the nation's first to view Disneyland's newest attraction, "The Walt Disney Story," a dramatic tribute to the international showman and creative genius.

Rare film footage, photographs from family archives and a fascinating collection of memorabilia and awards have been combined to trace the life and accomplishments of Walt Disney.

Appropriately timed to open during the 50th Anniversary celebration, "The Walt Disney Story" is free to Park guests and located in the Main Street Opera House.

Disneyland's "Electrical Parade," a mind-boggling spectacle featuring nearly a million twinkling, colored lights, returns this summer even bigger and brighter than before.

After making entertainment history in its first year, the electrifying visual spectacular has been bolstered by the addition of several new colorful floats.

And again the nucleus of the parade will be the units featuring famous Disney cartoon characters vividly portrayed by tiny lights, many in constant motion, as the parade moves through a darkened Disneyland.

Virtually every guest will have an ideal vantage point as the procession promenades through the heart of the Park twice each summer evening.

From there, Disneyland visitors can move on to a galaxy of lively night-time entertainment presented on several bandstands and stages.

Music specials tailored for the most mod tastes will be found summer evenings in Tomorrowland where the best of today's young talent will be spotlighted in the "Great American Music Machine."

GREAT SOUND—The Limeliters, a popular folksinging trio of the early 1960's, are back together again and will be performing at the Great American Music Hall, in San Francisco, June 21 through June 30, for two shows nightly.

Palm Springs Attraction Tennis, Anyone?

When the late Humphrey Bogart walked into a drawing room and spoke his famed line—"Tennis, anyone?" little did he realize that in the years to come some 11 million Americans would take him up on the offer.

In those early Bogart years, the famed actor was a resident of this desert resort community. And it is little wonder that Bogart's adopted desert resort playground is now leading the nation among tennis enthusiasts. Tennis has become such an "in" sport, here, that officials in the Palm Springs city planning department say they can't keep up with the heavy number of permits for private courts, which also includes chain link fencing as well as lighting.

The Palm Springs Convention and Visitors Bureau currently lists 14 public courts in the city, which will be doubled within the next year, and all will be night-lighted. In addition there are four tennis clubs, nine hotels with tennis facilities, courts in virtually all of the city's 25 condominium developments, added racquet facilities in a dozen mobile home parks and an estimated 100 courts at private homes, according to local tennis buffs.

In addition to numerous celebrity tennis matches in the Palm Springs area, there are professional tournaments, those limited to medical men as well as games for the general public. One public tourney, sponsored by the Palm Springs City Leisure Services Department, is now in its 33rd year.

Sun-filled Palm Springs has been one of the best places to play tennis in western United States since the 30's when screen idols Charlie Farrell and Ralph Bellamy started to play the game in the desert. One reason they were followed by Hollywood's fun-loving film celebrities and the hoi polloi, has always been the city's virtually perpetual sunshine. It makes the community an outdoor playground year-round.

Greyhound Lines Freedom Of Travel Popular Program

Ameripass will be honored by almost 100 other intercity bus lines in the United States and Canada.

Improvements in the program include a special Ameripass Discount Guide outlining arrangements to provide a series of discounts to Ameripass holders. There are more hotels offering discounts, a Kodak camera kit at a specially reduced price; discounts on a variety of luggage and a specially-priced folding bicycle which can be carried along in the bus luggage compartment.

The new, expanded program offers 30 days of unlimited travel throughout the United States and Canada, including special discounts on hotels, auto rentals, sightseeing and other travel services for $149.00. For an additional $50.00 the same package is available for twice as long.

The Ameripass holder can travel wherever and whenever he wishes, making side trips, crossovers and switchbacks. Besides Greyhound routes, the Greyhound's Ameripass promises Americans an economical and enjoyable way to see this great land of ours, especially appropriate as the nation's bicentennial approaches.

On the Sorrento Side Of San Francisco Bay

Sausalito (Little Willow) is situated on the Mediterranean side of the Golden Gate eight miles north of San Francisco. Its rustic houses cascade down steep slopes to the bay. Its shops and restaurants hug the waterfront. Its winding, wooded streets look down on a thicket of masts and a colony of houseboats.

Tiburon (Shark) lies eight miles east of Sausalito on Raccoon Strait. Its village-like Main Street is a blend of Cape Cod and early California. Its colorful harbor shelters the venerable Corinthian Yacht Club and a cluster of open-deck restaurants.

Angel Island (population 200 deer, 12 caretakers and their families) looms like a pocket-size Corsica seven-eighths of a mile across the strait from Tiburon. The bay's biggest island has a crescent cove leading to a grassy rise with picnic tables and 12 miles of roads and hiking trails.

The proximity of these picturesque ports gives San Franciscans the illusion of living within easy driving distance of the Amalfi Coast. Now, to make things even better, all three are linked to the city by ferryboat.

The newest is the 150-ton, 15-knot M. V. Golden Gate. Ironically, she is operated by the giant that idled her elders. To ease bridge commute congestion, the Golden Gate Bridge Authority revived ferry service between Sausalito and San Francisco.

The blue-and-white cruiser casts off from the north side of the San Francisco Ferry Building at the foot of Market Street. She comes about in the shadow of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, skirts the towering hulls of liners loading along the Embarcadero, then strikes a course northeast of Alcatraz. The crossing takes 30 minutes.

In Marin County she nudges alongside one of her forebears, the 72-year-old ferryboat Berkeley, now a floating import bazaar called Trade Fair. Passengers disembark into the town plaza a few steps from Sausalito's mainstem, Bridgeway. For schedule information call (415) 982-8833.

San Francisco's inland sea resorts are apt to be as crowded as Capri on weekends. The best time to sample the charms of the Willow, the Shark and the Angel is during the week.

Sausalito has numerous view and waterside restaurants.

Port Costa Is Page Out of Yesterday

When the Southern Pacific trains make their run along the shoreline of Contra Costa County, the engineers wave as they pass the little town of Port Costa and the postmaster waves back. It's that kind of town — small, friendly and a delightful page out of yesterday.

Port Costa is located just off Interstate 80 near the Carquinez Bridge, says the California State Automobile Association. Leave 80 at the Crockett exit and continue east on the highway to Martinez. In about three miles you are in Port Costa.

This sleepy little town has an active history. In the 1880s it was one of the largest grain shipping ports in the world. Sailing ships from all over the world came here — not only ships but trains. For half a century all the transcontinental trains serving San Francisco crossed the Carquinez Strait between Port Costa and Benicia on the railroad ferries "Solano" and "Contra Costa." In those years Port Costa had a goodly number of boisterous saloons and plenty of stevedores, railroad men and wanderers to keep them going.

As the grain lands were turned to other uses and a railroad bridge was built in 1930 between Benicia and Martinez, the ships and trains no longer came to Port Costa and the town gradually slipped into abandonment.

But the town has been waking up in recent years due mainly to

KITTY'S LONGBRANCH SALOON — Virginia City's Longbranch Saloon and Hotel was known as the Comstock House in 1868 and was one of the few survivors of the fire of 1875. The original gold leaf backbar still exists. Visitors select from an assortment of souvenirs and enjoy the gaming and dancing. The hotel is open all year round.

Nite Life Dinner Club For Dining Out Treat

How would you like at least 300 free dinners and nights on the town for less than $10?

Sound too good to be true? Look again, because such an offer is now available to you — and it only costs $6.50. You still don't believe it? For that meager amount, here is what the Nite-Life Dinner Club is offering: more than 300 dinners at leading San Francisco, San Mateo, Peninsula, East Bay and Marin restaurants and night clubs. You pay for one dinner and receive the second dinner free. It's that simple.

You will also receive an entertainment book that offers free lodging, theaters, night clubs, out of town dining, sporting events and special events. A new feature this year (which marks the twelfth anniversary of Nite-Life Dinner Club) is the "Nite Life Buyers Club" which enables the member to save hundreds of dollars when he purchases such items as furniture, cameras, clocks, car accessories, tape recorders, radios, automobiles, etc.

Thrown into the deal is a holiday for two at Pine Mountain Lake, and free lodging in Mexico City and Hawaii for two persons.

Le Trianon Now Open the Year Round, Enjoy It

Under the management of Bob Summers, Le Trianon is a picturesque resort located in the beauteous Blue Lakes of Ukiah.

This fabulous, fun-loving resort is located only three hours via car from anywhere in the Bay Area. Swimming is provided in a clear, spring-fed lake, fishing will land you black bass, blue-gill and rainbow trout.

If you're a fan of rowboats, you can rent them for trips across the lake. During the hunting season, there is ample game in the surrounding vicinity.

Reservations are wise, as everyone and their dog heads for Le Trianon during the summer months. Open the year round.

Enjoy Redwood City's Town House Motel

In downtown Redwood City, at 1090 El Camino Real and Harrison, stands the Redwood Town House Motel, owned and operated by N. Govindje.

This is an excellent motel facility offering the latest in king size waterbeds. Other units feature kings and queens. All rooms have cable color TV. The pool is heated, so you won't have to worry about getting frozen when you leap in.

Kitty's Longbranch Major Attraction In Virginia City

Kitty's Longbranch, which was originally established in 1868 as the Comstock House Hotel, is one of the major attractions for tourists in Virginia City, Nevada, a historic town that still clings to the colorful history of the gold rush. Kitty's, one of the town's many flourishing establishments, seems to bustle on a year-round basis. Besides gaming and dancing, the Longbranch features what is probably the best live entertainment to be found in that area. The Longbranch Trio consists of Don Forbes (who, besides being a versatile musician, is also the resident manager of the operation), Bobby Watson, and saxophone genius Clyde Amsler. On weekends, two more horns are usually added, often including the masterful trumpet belonging to Jerry Lane. Besides the Longbranch Trio, bossman Forbes also books other top-notch entertainment. In fact, the Diamond Family Circle just ended a two-week stint here. Forbes and his fellow musicians recently completed their first record album, recorded live at Kitty's. It's due to be released by the middle of July. Charles Palmer, owner of the Longbranch, is especially proud of the fabulous 24-carat gold leaf bar and the prevailing old-time atmosphere, as the saloon-hotel was one of the few survivors of the 1875 fire. Comfortable lodging is also available for overnight guests. For room reservations and further information, call 702-2571.

El Dorado Hotel Newest Reno First Class Casino

Long time Reno residents, the Siri and Carano families have purchased one of Reno's oldest business blocks, the 300 block of North Virginia Street, making way for a new, large, luxury hotel complex. The principals are members of a pioneer Reno family who initially started a bakery business in this area in 1922 and again started the Reno Frozen Food Lockers in 1947.

Joining them in this venture is Mr. H. E. "Mac" McCoskey who in 1938 bought the Crystal Bay Club at North Lake Tahoe. He has 45 years experience and ran the Crystal Bay Club until 1970 when it was sold to the Ohio Real Estate Investment Company. After three years retirement, Mr. McCoskey has returned as partner in this new El Dorado Hotel. Mac is well known to many and will be the general manager of the gaming casino.

In July 1972 the existing buildings in this area were torn down to make way for the $6.5 million, 11 story, 282 room hotel complex. Ground facilities include lobby, coffee shop, cocktail lounge and a gourmet specialty dinner house. The second floor facilities includes convention rooms to accommodate 700 persons, swimming pool and executive suites. Two levels of underground parking will also be available. It will be a recreation oriented hotel with year-round attractions, the most popular undoubtedly, being the gaming casino where one takes their chances with Lady Luck.

The new first class, hotel-convention facility adds a great impact on the Reno area's economy in the future. The El Dorado Hotel is located one block from the downtown easinos.

'Nihonmachi' Phoenix Zoo

San Francisco's Chinatown is world famous, but it also has a Japantown, which is known as "Nihonmachi," reports Trans World Airlines. The Japanese Cultural and Trade Center alone takes up a three-block area. A little Ginza, it's a showcase of Japanese art, customs, shops, teahouses, landscaped malls, restaurants and food. You can even get iced saki!

Kistners Return to Harvey's Lounge

The country and western music of the Kistners return to the Theatre Lounge, Harvey's Resort Hotel, South Lake Tahoe, through June 25.

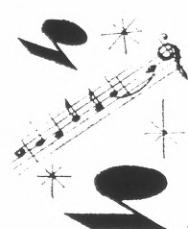

Opening in the Lounge on June 17 is Peggy and the New DeCastros through July 7 and the Esquires returning on June 18 through July 15.

In the Tiki Lounge at the Top of the Wheel the Bill Page Orchestra alternate with Ron Rose and Friend through June 22. Returning to the Tiki Lounge on June 23 will be the Orrin Tucker Orchestra through July 20.

The Kistner family consists of mother, father, daughter and son. They first started in Virginia, appearing at various clubs and country music parks. They have appeared with such stars as Roy Acuff, Bill Anderson, Kitty Wells, Rose Maddox, Bobby Austin, and various other stars from the Grand Ole Opry. They had their own weekly radio show in Warrenton, Virginia and have guested on many TV shows.

Each member in this good looking foursome solos in addition to participating in the group singing, but that fact doesn't limit them to any one style of playing. You'll find an enjoyable assortment of music for your listening pleasure. For the older folks they'll throw in nostalgic favorites like "Sentimental Journey," "Stardust," and tunes of another day. Whatever your age, you'll enjoy entertainment by the Kistners who are always warmly accepted by audiences, young or old.

15th Annual Filipino Fiesta Hawaii This Month

Lucky the visitor to Hawaii who will be on Maui the end of June. One of the colorful events that dot the calendar year in Hawaii is the annual Filipino Fiesta, and this year the Miss Hawaii Filipina Contest Finals, June 29, and Coronation Ball, June 30, will be held for the first time on a Neighbor Island — Maui.

The State Finals for the contest will start at 7:30 p.m. at Baldwin High School in Wailuku.

ku, while the Coronation Ball will start at 7:30 p.m. at the Maui Surf Hotel at Kaanapali.

The annual Fiesta Filipina, or Filipino Fiesta, was conceived by the United Filipino Council of Hawaii to point up the important ethnic segment—more than 61,000 persons—that Filipinos represent in the total population — about 770,000 — of Hawaii, plus their cultural contributions to Hawaii. Various organizations in the Council, such as the Filipino Women's League, contribute time and effort to carry out each year's programs.

The 15th Annual Fiesta Filipina got under way this year in February with the formal Terno Ball sponsored by the Hawaii Filipino Women's Club. "Terno" is the lovely formal gown worn by women of the Philippines.

There followed contests to select a Miss Filipina for the Islands of Maui, Kauai, Oahu, and Hawaii. From those winners Miss Hawaii Filipina will be chosen at the June 29th event.

Las Vegas Hilton Inn Features Liberace

Liberace, one of the world's most colorful and entertaining personalities, is making his first Las Vegas appearance in over a year in a three-week engagement at the Las Vegas Hilton. Appearing with "Mr. Showmanship" is the young singing group, the Mike Curb Congregation.

With his brilliant candelabra, dazzling jewels, beguiling jokes and unmatched piano playing, Liberace has succeeded in earning the love and respect of young and old alike.

The world abounds with Liberace "converts."

Liberace celebrated his 30th year in showbusiness when he made his Hilton debut last year. A product of the depression, he now spends an estimated $100,000 yearly on his sparkling, brocaded, diamond and jeweled costumes alone.

NOW AT HARRAH'S TAHOE—Don Rickles, the master of the put-down artists, is at Harrah's Tahoe now through June 27, appearing twice nightly in the South Shore Room. Appearing with Rickles is Peter Gorden, and Bobby Kroll conducting the Brian Farnon Orchestra. In the Stateline Cabaret: the Checkmates, Ltd., Burgundy Street Singers and Kimberlys appear through June 20, and Lee Meza through June 27.

Connie Stevens At Harrah's Reno

Pert Connie Stevens is continuing to delight audiences in the Headliner Room at Harrah's Reno, with two shows nightly through June 27.

Miss Stevens performs for the dinner-show and cocktail-show each evening at 8:15 p.m. and midnight. Backing the star musically is the John Carleton orchestra.

A multi-media performer, Miss Stevens won the hearts of legions of fans with her bouncy performance of cute Cricket Blake on television's "Hawaiian Eye" program. Additionally she has starred on Broadway, performed in many feature movies, made scores of guest appearances on television talk, variety, and dramatic shows, and turned out praiseworthy recordings.

Petite and eternally youthful, Miss Stevens says her nightclub appearances allow her to display her "real" self after a decade of portraying doll-like screen cuties.

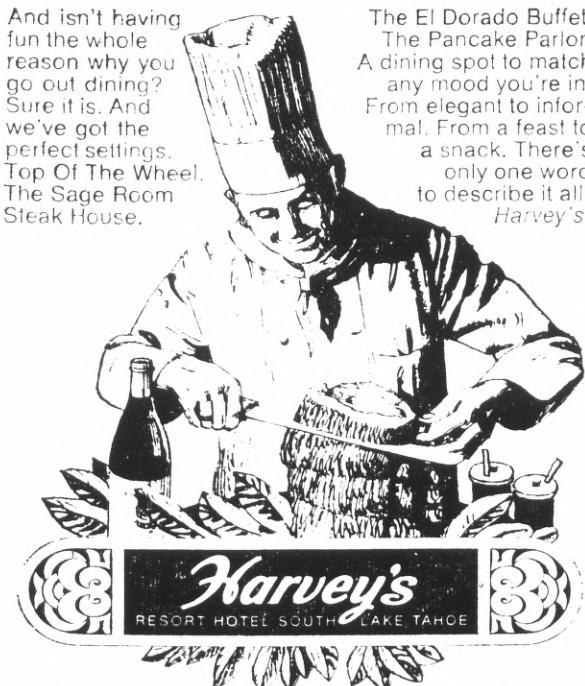

"Nightclubs have brought the public closer to what I'm like," she says. "Before, people would pat me on the back, and squeeze and hug me, and say 'you're adorable!'" she reports. "Now when I'm through, they don't do that. What a relief!"

In the Casino Cabaret at Harrah's Reno, The Amazing Kreskin appears through June 27, plus Larry and Lorrie Collins, though June 30. Burgundy Street Singers appear June 21-July 4. Coming soon to the Headliner Room will be Jerry Lewis (June 28-July 11) and Dionne Warwick (July 12-25).

ROOMY TENTS — Small trailers that unfold into ample living quarters for camping are popular with vacationers.

Recreation Unlimited Barney's El Capitan Lodge, Hawthorne, Nevada

Aurora, Rawhide, Candelaria and Bellville are ghost towns now, but at one time they were thriving mining communities that lived off rich deposits of manganese, iron, lead, barium, copper, gold, mercury, silver and talc.

Those ghost towns still give a colorful glimpse into the past of Mineral County, located in west central Nevada, which in recent years has become a place sought out by many as an escape from smog-bound cities. Hunting is good here, with antelope, deer, cougar and big-horn sheep among the prey, and the trout yielded by picturesque Walker Lake are of the species known as Giant Cutthroat. "This 22-mile-long body of water has produced the largest Cutthroat trout in the nation consecutively for the past ten years," according to "Field And Stream."

But Mineral County is more than a place for hunters and fishermen. In recent years land developers, prospectors and millionaires have given considerable attention to the area as a place that will grow as the state of Nevada grows. The economy of the county is assured by the presence of the world's largest Naval Ammunition Depot with 1500 employees, and it is the opinion of many that Mineral County will one day be "the tranquil land" of recreation. The bracing high-desert air will, these businessmen feel, provide zest for water-skiing, swimming, boating, fishing and even exploring of caves and fossil diggings. The weather is perfect: mild year-round.

The county seat is Hawthorne, which was first introduced to the world by Mark Twain when he wrote of his experiences in "Roughing It," and visitors still find ore samples, petrified wood, turquoise, fireopsals and rare old bottles — not to mention valuable Indian artifacts. They also find a thriving community that features indoor excitement as well — namely in the form of the El Capitan Lodge and Casino.

The El Capitan in the words of one well-seasoned traveler, provides the restful comfort you need as a base for further explorations of Mineral County.

It is one of the most elaborate clubs outside of Las Vegas or the Reno-Lake Tahoe area, and features everything you would expect, from a leisurely dining area (whether it be for a fast breakfast, a snack or a gourmet dinner) to a showroom which has, over the years, highlighted top name talent.

And each year the club offers $500 in cash to the most successful Walker Lake trout fisherman. Which means on any given morning you'll find plenty of comers casting their lines into the beautiful, breathtaking lake.

"This is the place of the future," says a rich oilman who travels all the way from Texas each year just to play golf and relax in this scenic Nevada county. "You're going to see Mineral County grow during the next few years. New communities are going to spring up, and one day, you mark my words, it will become known as the hideaway spot of the world. I just hope it doesn't get too overpopulated and lose its name of 'Tranquil Land.' "

But "tranquil" it remains today, as opposed to the better known and over-crowded Nevada spas of Las Vegas and the Reno-Lake Tahoe area of Northern California. As mentioned above, the high-desert air and wide-open spaces of the Hawthorne area make for a perfect desert playground, offering unlimited opportunities for recreation. This can't be stressed enough, as the area is simply a dream for families that truly enjoy America's great outdoors. Hunting, fishing, golfing, boating or just watching the reflective blue water of Walker Lake change color with the seasons, are all activities avidly enjoyed by visitors to Hawthorne.

Since America is now considered a nation on wheels, you can be sure the citizens of Hawthorne have prepared accordingly. Free public camp grounds are available, with many overnight accommodations directly on the lake. Unlike the other major resort areas of Nevada, Hawthorne is not "hungry" for the tourist dollar. You'll find no "stick-ups" or high-binding when it comes to prices, whether they be for food or lodging. In fact, the other extreme proves to be the case, and most people are absolutely delighted when it comes time to pay the tab for an overnight, weekend or week's stay.

So, for a refreshing and different type of vacation, head for the clean air and vast wilderness of Nevada's high desert. To enjoy a splendid vacation, you don't have to drive numerous hours to end up with the same problems you left at home.

Hawthorne and the surrounding Mineral County area remain one of the few places in the Western United States where you can always find room for a relaxed and leisurely vacation.

For more information about the area, write for Free Coupon Book and Brochure from Barney's El Capitan Lodge and Casino, P.O. Box 1187, Hawthorne, Nevada 89415.

Sahara Tahoe Hotel Neons Tom Jones Now Thru June 21

Tom Jones is on the first leg of his 1973 American Tour now performing in the High Sierra Theatre of the Sahara Tahoe Hotel, through 21. Comedian Norm Crosby is Jones' special guest for the engagement.

Jones' magnetism is apparent by the abundance of enthusiastic fans including numerous women admirers. The lobby is alive with bubbling chatter. Pre-show excitement and summer vacation spirits brew into the reality of the Tom Jones misquique that is internationally magnetic.

Next up will be The Fifth Dimension June 22 through June 28.

Juniper Lounge, popular after-theatre spot, features a complete variety of talents. This week's lineup includes soul singer Lea Roberts, the antics and wild sounds of Jack Ross and Sound of Joy, experiments and search of Bill Medley, rough and ready Dublin Corporation and the baritone interpretation of Don Cherry. The schedule rotates into dawn hours. Late, swinging and popular, Juniper Lounge is a strong part of a complete night out at Lake Tahoe.

For intimate gatherings in a warm atmosphere, the Pine Cone Lounge has made its mark. This week Fire and Rain play the cozy and companionable room.

Harolds Club Ray Malus

Young singer-guitarist Ray Malus is midway through his four-week engagement at Harolds Club Silver Dollar Room and continues to prove his talent as one of the most entertaining and popular names ever to appear at Harolds Club.

The versatile singer, who concludes his current engagement June 25, appears nightly at 10:30 p.m. and 2 a.m. Alternating with Malus to provide continuous entertainment throughout the evening are M & Hari and Hap Kelly.

The singer-guitarist, who wears casual dress for his onstage performances, receives musical backing from his own group. In addition to his vocal talents, Malus also doubles on the guitar.

Beginning their career in their native Hawaii, M & Hari have a repertoire that includes selections made popular by Carole King, Paul Simon, Buffie St. Marie and Laura Nyro. They appear in-stage at 8 p.m., 11 p.m. and 1 a.m.

New to the Reno area, singer-guitarist Hap Kelly provides easy listening during each 45-minute show at 6 p.m., 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Shamrock Inn

For a Real Fun Vacation

You'll experience the luck of the Irish when you decide to stay at The Shamrock Inn, located at the back exit of the Sahara - Tahoe Hotel parking lot at Southshore, Lake Tahoe.

You'll want to kiss the blarney stone when you get involved with a special refund package in which you furnish your own transportation. Upon arrival, you will receive so many refunds and food and beverage certificates that the net cost to you is practically nothing.

A recreation room, meeting facilities and superb sauna bath are featured at the Shamrock Inn. For the youngsters and adults, there are special pool tables.

FAMILY GROUP—The Kistners have a great reputation for music of the Country and Western style, appearing in the Theater Lounge, Harvey's Resort Hotel, South Lake Tahoe, through June 25.

Cal-Neva Club Yarn

The Cal-Neva Lodge at North Lake Tahoe is one of the first of the great hotel-casinos for which Nevada is now famous.

It was the first major resort to schedule big name players and it was Frank Sinatra who designed the gigantic 500-seat theater-restaurant (The Celebrity Room) when he owned the Lodge in the 1960's.

Fifty attractive bungalows cluster at the 200-room tower hotel for those who prefer more rustic accommodations. Convention facilities now permit the Cal-Neva to handle up to 1500 persons.

The Victor Rios Duo is now presenting their music and song at Cal-Neva Lodge. They are an attractive pair who perform with vitality and gusto.

It's an easy drive on four-lane highways and a most attractive vacation is available. There's facilities for golfing, tennis, water sports, fishing and riding.

Park Avenue Tours for Lake Tahoe and Casinos

LAKE TAHOE AND CASINOS
Park Avenue Tours puts you in the driver's seat.

By that we mean the Tours will allow you to drive your own car, or take a scheduled or chartered bus, to the Lake Tahoe area for a few days of fun, gambling and all-round action.

As for the bus deal, there are daily eight-hour turnaround Greyhound schedules from the San Francisco and Oakland terminals.

The main focus of action, of course, is South Lake Tahoe, but Park Avenue Tours is now offering Las Vegas and Reno packages.

For further details on these magnificent tours, there are three offices for your convenience: in San Mateo at 1415 El Camino Real (345-0488); in San Francisco at 606 Mission street (981-2700) and in Oakland at 414 13th street (834-7400).

Big Men Made Things Happen In The Old West Trail Country

It was a big land in a time when things were happening, and big men made them happen. Men like Jim Bridger, Wild Bill Hickok, and Buffalo Bill roamed Trail country then, and the word spread far and wide that these were men to be respected.

Time passed and, today, ghosts of these men stride across the imagination of travelers passing through their stomping grounds. This is Old West Trail Country. It stretches through five states and covers hundreds of thousands of square miles of territory. Its past is a compound of cowboys, Indians, sodbusters, ranchers and cavalry, all of whom left their marks on the area — in the form of national monuments, remains of forts and dugouts, and celebrations which commemorate their deeds. These are the men who tamed the West and today's towns and bridges are their memorials, too.

Merriweather Lewis and William Clark were the first to explore the Louisiana Purchase for the United States government. They were the first to officially view the great bluffs of the mighty Missouri, the Rocky Mountains, and the Yellowstone River.

They began their westward trek from St. Louis in the spring of 1804, but it was already late July when they reached the mouth of the Platte in Nebraska. Near today's Pierre, South Dakota, their passage was temporarily blocked by 200 armed Sioux. They wintered with the Mandan near the present-day Bismarck, North Dakota, after eluding the Sioux, and in spring of 1805 they again started out with Sacagawea and her husband Charbonneau as guides.

They returned to St. Louis in September of 1806 after reaching the Pacific, reporting their magnificent discoveries to an eager nation. But, already other men were shoving off to settle the West.

One of the later pathfinders was Jim Bridger, born in the first year of the Lewis and Clark expedition. Though he came to Trail Country after Lewis and Clark, he roamed the West long before covered wagons started to roll. An authentic mountain man if there ever was one, Bridger made his living trapping beaver. And when he retired, he was rich in experience for he had explored just about every mountain from Canada to Colorado.

He retired from trapping in 1843 and built Fort Bridger near present-day Evanston, Wyoming, where Fort Bridger State Park now reawakens his experience. For the next 10 years he helped others to "discover" shorter, safer routes through the West. Though he signed his name with an "X", Jim Bridger helped write an exciting chapter in Old West history.

the markers get gradually thicker as they approach that last ridge.

The unsung heroes of the Indian Wars are the Indians. Their final rest is seldom marked, yet they were also big men, fighting for a way of life. Crazy Horse was one of the unsung heroes of the Battle of the Little Bighorn.

As a boy he had survived the first battle of the Indian Wars — if it could be called a battle. Lieutenant J. L. Grattan began firing into the undefended Indian tepees when they refused to give up the brave who had killed a Mormon cow. Standing in the dust of that battle, Crazy Horse swore to fight the white man to the end.

And he made good that pledge. As a young warrior he became a decoy for the Indians. He would charge into cavalry fire, then fall back as though in helpless retreat. The cavalry, riding down on him, would be handily ambushed.

Sasha Radjuk, Russian, and Nan Urbano, Scotch. Credit for taking this poolside photo goes to Louis N. Friedland, vice president and director of MCA-TV, New York City. Could be Lou plans to use the bathers in a forthcoming television production?

Wealthy Families Struck Gold And Silver in Virginia City

The sun, reflecting off the huge mounds of gold and silver mine tailings, winks and the gentle wind nudges tumbleweed across the road in front of you and, at any moment there is this feeling that a bearded, booted, dusty miner will clamp a sweaty hand on your shoulder.

In the early morning and in the evening there is a quietness about Virginia City. The past shadows you up the long hill that is "C" Street past places with names like, among others, The Bucket of Blood, The Silver Queen, The Bonanza, The Delta, and The Longbranch Saloon.

In the day the town literally jumps and becomes without a doubt the "liveliest ghost town" in the world as hundreds, and sometimes thousands, arrive to touch the past and for a brief time, live it.

There was a time when Virginia City was the largest city between "St. Louis" and "Frisco," with some 2,200 buildings resting gingly over 750 miles of underground diggings.

Virginia City's shining hour lasted from the moment gold was discovered in 1859 until the late 1890's.

Many of the nation's wealthiest families would spring from those who struck it rich in that period: names like Hearst, Mackay, Roos, Sutri, Fleishacker, Flood, Baldwin, Fair, Sharpen, O'Brien and Fong.

They, and others, retrieved some $1,250,500,000 in gold and silver from the Comstock and other surrounding lodes, the richest body of precious ore in the history of the world.

At its peak in 1873 in the City of Virginia, itself, there were no less than 30,000 residents — with that many more in satellite communities like Gold Hill and Silver City.

Virginia City was named after James Fenimore, better known to be whiskered miners as "Old Virginny," because he came from the state of Virginia. Fenimore, so the story goes, fell and broke a bottle of whiskey on the earth, exclaiming that he was christening the locality "Virginia Town," which later became "Virginia City." The mining town is located 23 miles southeast of Reno.

Two brothers, Ethan Allen and Hosea Ballous Cresson, discovered the Comstock Lode but both died shortly thereafter. Hosea struck his foot with a pick and died a week later from gangrene. Ethan died a few months later in a severe snowstorm. Henry Comstock, a Canadian trapper and adventurer, laid claim to the land, finally driving a bargain so that he and a companion, Emanuel Penrod, had equal shares in the claim.

By 1862 at least forty companies had erected shaft houses, and twelve had installed machinery for pumping water and hoisting rock from the mines. More than $12,000,000 was taken from the area that year.

The Virginia and Truckee Railroad was begun in 1869 and eight months thereafter trains were chugging 21 miles into Carson City. The "Iron Horses" eliminated hundreds of teams composed of 10 to 18 horses and mules. The animal pack trains had been used to transport concentrates and freight across the Sierra Mountains.

In 1875 the booming mining town was literally burned to the ground as 2,000 buildings and homes were destroyed in a $10,000,000 fire. The hearty populace, undaunted, immediately rebuilt the city into even a greater city.

The slow decline of the Comstock began in 1890 until finally by 1940, only about 600 persons remained. Today the population has climbed to over 800.

Sight-seers visiting the town this year will find most of the natives decked out in late 19th century attire — adding color to an already colorful town.

Visitors should not miss the cemetery not far from the village, the many mansions restored in their original condition, St. Mary's in the Mountains Catholic Church, the Opera House, St. Paul Episcopal Church.

Ormsby House Yarn Turns Clock Back

It was a chandeliered saloon and many a cantankerous hombre met his maker there. It also had its colorful moments, such as the time Mark Twain rubbed shoulders with miners and politicians and wrote some of his earlier stories in the convivial atmosphere of the place. It was called the Ormsby House, and it was to go down in history, as colorful as the French champagne and caviar that was served in its gracious dining room.

Today, the Old Ormsby House is still standing in Carson City, Nevada, and it has been transformed into a new 11-story, 237-room, $7.5 million hotel. It features the Crown Terese Ballroom (seating 750), Dominique's, an intimate supper club, the Mark Twain Casino Lounge, the Garden Terrace, and the Old Corner Saloon.

A new twosome, hailing from San Francisco, are Bill and Sharyn, who are performing right now at Ormsby House Hotel. Bill is on guitar, while Sharyn plays the tambourine. They designed their own costumes.

Sparks Nugget Is Vast Complex Of Food and Fun

There are some friendly casino owners, but the friendliest of them all is none other than John Ascuaga, the driving force behind the successful Nugget operation in Sparks, East Reno.

John has been handling the Nugget for a good ten years now and it has a reputation among tourists and gamblers as being one of the most popular in the Reno area.

The Nugget is a vast complex consisting of a main casino, the Circus Room, a motor motel, several restaurants ranging from buffet service to pancake house specialties.

NATIONAL RECOGNITION AWARD

By FREEDOM'S FOUNDATION AT VALLEY FORGE To GEORGE MARDIKIAN

For his deep and abiding love for his adopted America.

For his prodigious efforts to tell America about the blessings of freedom too often taken for granted:

"That July morning when I first saw the Statue of Liberty from the deck of the immigrant steamer, it was like suddenly hearing a hymn of hope.

"The priceless thing America has given me has nothing to do with money or fame . . . I call it the dignity of being American."

"Many fine young Americans have a chance to be something . . . have faith in yourself; faith in your Country, and, third and foremost, faith in almighty God. Back this up with hard work and nothing can stop you."

Haig Mardikian

Omar Khayyam's

O'FARRELL at POWELL — SAN FRANCISCO

It is the home of many new American gastronomical delights. Its colorful owner is George M. Mardikian, famous author of "Song of America," published by McGraw Hill Book Company; "I Found the Happy Land," published by Reader's Digest; many philosophical essays in "This Week Magazine" and, of course, not forgetting his famous cook book "Dinner at Omar Khayyam's" now in its 12th edition.

It was George M. Mardikian who added to the American vocabulary such words as Lavash (Armenian bread), Rose Petal Preserves, Shish Kekab, Pilaff, Kouzou Kzartma Dolma, Paklava, Haigagan Salad, Pallijan and Tchakhokh-belli-Chicken and many more.

Many special articles have been written in such National and International magazines as Reader's Digest, Life, Time, Newsweek, Saturday Evening Post, Look, Collier's, This Week, Parade, Women's Home Companion and twice in the Congressional Record.

Known from one end of the world to the other, it was George M. Mardikian who made the great Persian Poet, Philosopher and Astronomer, Omar Khayyam's name synonymous with good food and good living. Many kings, presidents and world's greats such as athletes, writers, diplomats, journalists, stars of the stage, screen, radio and television, have made their habit of dining at Omar Khayyam's.

The location of Omar Khayyam's is exactly one block away from Union Square, on O'Farrell at Powell Streets. It is considered one of the most beautiful dining rooms in San Francisco with Philippine mahogany walls, original paintings by great artists depicting scenes from the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. So don't fail to have a dinner there where you will find every imaginable type of food to please your palate, from charcoal broiled juicy steaks to Shish Kebab and Pilaff, roast chickens, ducks, turkey, ham, to the most unusual lamb dishes.

Cocktails and California Wines will add to your Evening's Dining Pleasure.
